The funeral of the late Mrs. Webb & Clough Co.

The best is all you can do when death comes. Call Webb & Clough Co. Phone 120.

M. J. Bauer, who has resided in Fruitland, has disposed of his property there and today left for Mouse, Washington, to make his home.

Dr. C. Hartley, dentist, Moore building, 407 Court St. Painless filling and extractions. Pyorrhea.

Dr. Schenk has now returned from his vacation and he extends a cordial invitation to his patrons and friends to visit his institution.

There are fewer cases of Spanish influenza in the city than a few days ago and from reports received today at the office of Dr. O. B. Miles, none are regarded as violent. In general it may be said that the situation now is becoming more favorable.

Special meeting of Pacific lodge No. 50, A. F. & A. M., tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. To attend the funeral of our late Bro. Charles A. Guerne, who died at Camp Taylor, Kentucky. Visiting brethren welcome.

An inspector for the U. S. army is here looking over the Drager Fruit Co. plant and it is probably that after his inspection a few car loads of prunes may be shipped to the American army in this country. But a few car loads will not change conditions and the packers here are still waiting for the order to ship their proportion of the 10,000,000 pounds to be shipped to the armies of the allies.

Use your telephone. Call 67 for fresh roasted coffee, new crop tea, cocoa or chocolate. Wm. Galsdorf. 10-24

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Terwilliger, graduate morticians and funeral directors, 770 Chemeketa St. Phone 724.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many kind friends and acquaintances for their love, sympathy and kindness shown the bereaved family during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, the late J. S. H. Walker, also for the many beautiful floral offerings. Mrs. J. S. H. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. R. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Perrine, Mr. and Mrs. Clede Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Monson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Walker.

Any boy or girl in the state who will begin now and sell $50 worth of War Savings Stamps will be enrolled as a member of the Sixth Junior Rainbow regiment and eventually have their names enrolled in the war history of Oregon which is soon to be compiled and kept as a permanent record by the state. Pledge cards may be secured from postmasters or from the office of the county superintendent. Marion county has sold $285,000 this year of its quota of $972,000.

Secretary is wanted—Applications for the position of secretary of Willamette chapter, American Red Cross, will be considered at this time by the executive board of the chapter. This position requires the undivided attention of a capable and experienced office manager, handling a large correspondence, and considerable cash, besides innumerable detail matters relating to Red Cross work. Applicants call at Red Cross headquarters in U. S. National bank building, or phone 1500. 10-24

The state food administration is endeavoring to hold down the price of butter, or at least is announcing that the creamery men must meet with the food administration once a week and discuss matters before there is an additional advance. There is one satisfaction, and that is after a price has been named on Monday of each week there is the assurance the trust will not advance its figures for a whole week. The cartons in which butter is sold cost about one cent each to the customer and as a matter of economy that the state food administration will ask the creamery people to not use cartons after Oct. 31 but let the housekeeper get her butter wrapped just in paper.

A cablegram was received from Dr. R. D. Byrd this morning stating that he was safe and sound. A letter received from him a few days since was dated a month ago, in which he announced that he had been ordered into the front line trenches with a machine gun company to which he was attached. It is customary during the recent hard fighting in France for army physicians to go into the front line trenches and it is understood Dr. Byrd has been in the midst of it for a month. After one month at the front line, physicians are sent to the rear and it is thought he sent the cablegram as soon as he arrived at the hospital back of the lines.

Corporal Frank M. Sinn of Company M seems to be having a pretty good time in France. He is now at the famous health resort in southern France, Aix-les-Bains, and writes his mother, Mrs. F. E. Sinn, as follows: "I expect you will wonder what I am doing here. I am on a seven-day leave of absence and am having a grand time, with mountain trips, boat rides on a beautiful lake, fine cats, good hotel movies and dances. Gee, it's great to be a soldier."

The funeral services of Dr. E. M. Pomeroy who died yesterday of pneumonia in St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Zena church in Portland. The body will be cremated.

The action of Superintendent J. W. Todd in closing the city schools temporarily in accordance with the wish of the state board of health was officially ratified by the board of education at a meeting held last evening. In cases similar to the one in Salem where the schools are closed to comply with the wishes of the state health department it is optional with the school boards as to whether the teachers shall receive their regular pay during the time the schools are closed. The Salem board of education takes the stand that teachers should receive their regular pay during the time the schools are closed and in ratifying the action of the city superintendent, they go on the official school board record as sustaining the superintendent and also in favoring the continuance of pay.

The funeral services of Mrs. Mabel Bradford Purvine who died Monday evening will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Zena church and burial will be in the Zena cemetery. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Scott and Rev. McKinlay. Mrs. Purvine was a member of the Presbyterian church at Zena.

Miss Helen E. Post, a registered nurse, graduate of the Salem hospital, is now with the army nurse corps in France. In a letter to a friend here she states that she enjoyed every one of the 13 days in which the ship was crossing the Atlantic. There was 300 nurses in her company or unit and when they marched on board the transport, several thousand soldiers and officers sang the army hospital song, "I don't ever want to get well." They were also cheered and given great ovations wherever they appeared in England, always marching in the 300 unit.

Miss Post also wrote another friend that in going over, the meals were wonderful fine, and that she had six every day, three going down and three coming up.

A call has been made to farmers and others who would like to make life more pleasant for the student army training corps of Willamette university to send in boxes of apples and other fruits. During this influenza scare, the young men, all under the age of 21, are not permitted off the campus and to boys of that age those interested in their welfare are inclined to think they would appreciate several boxes of apples. Now instead of just taking the apples and turning them over to the boys for immediate consumption, it is suggested that before delivering to the science hall, that one should telephone Mrs. Carson at 95. No one as yet has volunteered to loan the boys a piano or victrola.

Mr. John Carson received word this morning that her son Allan G. Carson, had been commissioned second lieutenant Oct. 1. For several months he has been attending an officers' school in France. Allan Carson enlisted in the U. S. regular army March 12, 1917, and arrived in France in October of that year. For a time he was instructor in bombing. He was 21 years old last month.

Boys of the age of 18 years and men between the ages of 36 and 46 will soon receive their questionnaires. Beginning Friday, ten per cent of the number will be mailed out every day. As soon as these questionnaires are received, the physical examination will follow and then each man will be given his classification card. Then the old blue registration card will be out of date for every man in the country between the ages of 18 and 46.

On account of the influenza, the meeting scheduled for this afternoon of those interested in Willamette chapter, American Red Cross, was called off. As soon as health conditions permit, and this will depend on the state board of health at Portland, another meeting will be called.

When it comes to the proposition of issuing permits for sugar to be used in canning, the state food administration is like Finnegun. "On again, off again." Without a day's warning, the administration suddenly shut down on the issuing of sugar permits last Monday. But it seems that their sudden action aroused the ire of the women of Portland who were just finishing up their season's canning. Anyhow, after being ordered to cut off canning sugar, he snatched and telegraphed an order to all county food administrators yesterday allowing ten pound sugar permits for canning purposes until Nov. 1. C. M. Lockwood received the wire late yesterday and is now issuing permits for ten pounds.

Two potatoes weighing five pounds each, both of smooth commercial shape, were raised by L. Martin two miles east of the asylum. He says he has a number of extra large ones this year and had the same good luck in growing extra large radishes. Mr. Martin will keep the potatoes and exhibit them during the annual corn show to be held in Salem next December.

The body of L. Desapleau, a soldier who died at Camp Kearney, will arrive in the city Thursday morning. The funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock in the morning at the Catholic church. Burial will be in the Catholic cemetery.

Presents To Soldiers Over There Sent In Small Cartons

The cartons in which Christmas presents may be sent soldiers across the water are now at Red Cross headquarters in the U. S. National bank building. These cartons may also be had from the Red Cross auxiliaries at Dallas, Jefferson, Monmouth, Independence, Stayton, Silverton, Aurora and Woodburn. They are of light pasteboard and are 3x4x9 inches and look pretty small for a Christmas offering. No one will be issued one of these cartons unless a label is presented that has been sent by the soldier boy, giving his name and address. But one label will be issued to each soldier. Hence if several people wish to remember one soldier, all of his presents must be in the one small carton.

After one has received a label, a carton will be given from the several Red Cross auxiliaries, along with printed instructions as to the proper mode of procedure. One of the important restrictions is that no packages will be received at headquarters later than Nov. 15. But the main thing to consider is that unless one has received the label and address from the soldier, there is no use in attempting to get a carton or sending him a present of any kind.

The following articles are barred by the postoffice regulations: Intoxicating liquors of all kinds. All poisons or articles containing poison.

Explosives of all kinds. Inflammable materials including friction matches. Mechanical or chemical devices which may explode or ignite. This will include cigarette lighters.

Liquids or fragile articles and other admissible matter when not packed according to regulations.

All articles which may kill or injure another or injure the mails or other property.

But what will surprise the average person who intends to put something in for the soldier, is the small size of the carton. There is no way of getting around it as the postoffice authorities will receive only the carton for overseas Christmas present mailing.

United War Work Campaign Will Go Ahead

New York, Oct. 23.—Dr. John R. Mott director general of the United War Work Council, announced today that the nationwide drive to raise funds through seven organizations will be conducted from Nov. 11 to 18 in spite of influenza epidemic.

This decision was reached after the conferences with President Wilson and members of the war department.
