Word was received yesterday of the death of Miss Ora E. Cavitt at Camp Lewis Wednesday. Miss Cavitt was widely known in Salem. She was graduated from the Salem high school in 1913 and at once took up a course of training as a nurse at the Willamette Sanatorium from which she was graduated in 1916. Miss Cavitt answered the call for graduate nurses and went to Camp Lewis October 1. Her death was due to pneumonia brought on by an attack of influenza.

Bert Yates, the man who attempted to abduct his wife about 3 o'clock one morning about three months ago is now minus one wife. In the circuit court yesterday, Judge Bingham granted Mrs. Yates an absolute divorce. After languishing in the county jail for several weeks the charge was withdrawn on the condition that Yates keep away from Silverton and Salem.

On the police blotter, the report of the officer reads: "Both parents of the boys went to Portland today and they were having one hell of a time."

Mr. Rocco Falisco, wherever he lives will not receive the letter mailed to him at Salem. The writer gave the address as 595 2nd street, but that was rather too indefinite as now-a-days it is the custom to include the city and state address. Mr. Jno. Kelly has a letter addressed to him at Woodman. That also was rather indefinite as no state address was given. Of course on both letters there was no return address given in the upper left hand corner.

Through the generosity of the U. S. National bank, Red Cross headquarters for Willamette chapter will remain in the U. S. National bank building. A few days ago it was found that certain tenants in the building wished to enlarge their head office and this would require the rooms used by the Red Cross. At first it was thought that headquarters would be established elsewhere and that it would be necessary to pay for suitable rooms. The bank again came to the rescue and offered room 204 on the second floor of the building for office use and rooms 316 and 317 on the third floor as the supply, packing and merchandise rooms. Since Willamette chapter organized, the U. S. National bank has been giving free rent and this included heat, lights and janitor service. This gift continues, only in different rooms.
