Salem, Oregon, July 6, 1918. An open letter to Bishop Matthew Simpson Hughes:

Dear Bishop: Four weeks ago a public letter addressed to you charged the Sunday newspaper with being an abominable nuisance, and the republican party with being "an hypocritical, Godly old liquor party, over forty years behind the times, ruled by liquor and tobacco." I boldly renounced both and irrepressible issues of vast and immediate importance. Are you a doubter? Respectfully, Wm. N. Taft. (Reprinted from Capital Journal, July 6, 1918. (Paid adv.) 11-2

SALMON INDUSTRY SHOULD BE UPHELD

Uphold Gill Bill To Close The River To Commercial Fishing South Of Oswego.

From the standpoint of food supply for our country and state and the world and to preserve and build up a large industry, the most important bill on the ballot this year is the Gill Fish Bill, No. 206, on which the Oregon City Fishermen's Union has taken a referendum. The local selfish interest of a small body of men at one town is arrayed against the interests of the whole state to destroy one of the greatest sources of food supply and strike a blow at an industry that is fundamentally involved with the prosperity of Oregon. Voters should uphold the Gill Fish Bill with an affirmative vote and help increase this food supply that comes into every market fresh and the surplus of which is canned and upholds our armies at the front, to say nothing of giving employment to thousands of laborers.

The state fish commissioners and state authorities in charge of salmon propagation ask the support of the Gill Fish Bill for the following reasons prepared by State Fish Commissioner Clanton:

The spring run of chinook salmon is the most valuable run of fish in the world. This run of salmon enters the Columbia river early in the spring, and from time immemorial a part of these fish pass up the Willamette river to the spawning beds at the head waters of the Willamette and its tributaries. The state depends entirely upon these fish restocking the Columbia river with spring chinooks. In 1917 the state got but six millions spring chinook eggs. The state should have forty or fifty million spring chinook eggs or more to keep the Columbia river stocked. It is impossible to get these eggs if the commercial fishermen at Oregon City harvest the crop and leave nothing for seed.

Immense numbers of spring chinooks are caught with every commercial device from the time the fish come anywhere near the Columbia river bar all the way up a stretch of over one hundred miles. The comparatively few spring chinook salmon that finally reach the Willamette river are needed as a seed supply to restock the waters so that we may have a future run of salmon and a future food supply, as well as a present food supply. It is not generally understood that the value of the salmon, trap to Oregon this year will be about ten million dollars, canned salmon alone running up to three-fourths of that sum.

Then consider what it means to have an abundant supply of this royal fish food the year-around fresh in the local markets, as is now possible with cold storage and transportation facilities. The Gill bill affects especially the supply of chinook salmon that runs in the spring of the year and this bill affects only the Willamette and Columbia rivers but the industry affects a dozen other rivers and all parts of the state.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH BUYS PIPE ORGAN

To Be Made By The Estey Organ Company And Is To Arrive Next Month.

After considering several propositions for a pipe organ, the women of the United Church of the First Christian church finally decided on an Estey to be manufactured by the famous Estey Organ company of Battleboro, Vermont.

The organ is bought on a cash proposition at a price of $3700, delivery to be made next March. It will be in every respect of the latest model put out by the Estey company and the entire action of the organ will be tubular pneumatic.

The case will be of native hard wood with the front of the metal pipes in plain gold bronze. The key desk will be entirely separate from the organ and will be placed in front of the rostrum or pulpit. The pipes will be placed between the two doors in the rear of the pulpit. It will be 17 feet high, 14 feet wide and five feet deep.

The organ will have 305 pipes, the great organ 438 pipes and the pedal 30, making a total of 773. The mechanical accessories include a swell tremulant, crescendo indicator, wind indicator, electric blowing plant and a motor starter. The two manuals will have 61 notes, each while the pedals will have 30 notes.

The specifications for the great organ are as follows: Open diapason stop, with 8 foot wood pipes numbering 61.

The dulciana brings into the combination 61 pipes, each eight feet long and each made of metal. The flute d'amour includes 61 pipes, each four feet in length and all made of metal.

For the swell organ, the specifications are as follows: Bourdon stop, 75 pipes each 16 feet in length and made of wood. Salicional stop, with pipes eight foot in length, made of metal and numbering 73.

Vox Celeste stop will connect with 61 pipes, each eight feet long and made of metal. The stopped diapason calls for 73 pipes made of wood, each eight feet long.

The flute harmonica is a stop calling for the softer flute tones. It has 73

CHIEF OF STAFF THINKS COLLAPSE OF GERMANY IS NEAR

Tells In Weekly Conference Where American Units Are Located.

By Carl D. Grant. (United Press staff correspondent.) Washington, Nov. 2.—The complete debacle of Germany's outlying allies the past week has created a situation which is rapidly compelling concentration of enemy resistance in one nation—Germany.

Chief-of-Staff March made this general comment today in his weekly conference with correspondents, but refrained from any hint as to anti-recession proceedings.

As he pointed out when Bulgaria collapsed, Turkey was separated from direct communication with Germany; this compelled her surrender.

Reverting to the tactical situation, March said the American drive in the Argonne started yesterday is making "good progress." The Americans have carried a pocket which threaten to compel the retirement of the boche at that point. He is, however, making strong resistance, March said. Thirty-six hundred prisoners were reported captured in the last department reports.

As for the Italian offensive, March characterized the situation between the Brenna and Adriatic as a rout of the Austrians.

Steady progress is being made in American troop shipments, he added, which recently passed the 2,000,000 mark, and there have been practically no casualties on route from influenza.

Units located by March follow: Eighty-ninth division is in action between the Argonne and the Meuse; 25th division, not reported in the line since September 1; 92d division, east of the Moselle; 351st field artillery in training; 37th division has been on the line in the Vosges, but not reported since September 11. (Its headquarters early in October were in the Woevre.) Eighty-eighth division in the Helfort section; 26th division in action east of the Meuse; 314th field artillery (80th division) not yet reported in action; 301st battalion heavy tanks, headquarters north France; 49th infantry of the 83d division headquarters at Lemans, October 10; 312th engineers of the 90th division reported in action with the first army October 23; 312th machine gun battalion of the 79th division, no official report (press dispatches and letters show the 79th has been in action); 30th division in Picardy with the British; 80th division, west of the Meuse; 40th division, west of the Meuse; 76th division, depot organization; 104th field artillery of the 27th division, was in the recent British drive; 114th engineers of the first army, west of the Meuse; 52d pioneer infantry, west of the Meuse.

There are 50 girls in the school. Sixty-nine were received during the present biennium. Forty one were released and 27 were paroled. The ages range from 12 to 21 years, the greatest number being 15 and 16 years old.

In the biennial report for the state school for the blind, Mrs. May Moores, superintendent, points out that less than half of the counties in the state are represented in the school, and she declares it is to be regretted that the parents of blind children of school age do not take advantage of the opportunity offered by the state to educate them.

There are 35 pupils in the school. In the last two years nine pupils were received, eight left school and two were graduated.

STATE INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT COMMISSION FILES BUDGET

The sum of $208,876 is asked from the legislature by the state industrial accident commission, to cover salaries and maintenance of the commission for the next two years, according to the budget filed by the commission with Secretary of State Abbott.

The commission announces that it will ask the legislature to amend the law to relieve the state from paying one-seventh of the total contributions made to the industrial accident fund, otherwise the state's share of the contribution would be $680,000. Receipts of the commission, from employers and employees, during the next two years will amount to $4,800,000, according to the commission's estimates.

Budgets have been filed by the Baby Home in Portland, which asks for $48,000, and the Christie Home for Orphan Girls, which asks for $23,040.

Smoking Cars Will Be Kept On Railways

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Smoking cars will not be taken off American-controlled railroads if William G. McAdoo, who runs them, has anything to say about it.

"I believe one can contract influenza as quickly in a parlor car as in a smoker," he said here today. "I am a friend of the smoking car, where a man may enjoy his ride in comfort." Suburban and "L" train smokers were discarded here during the influenza epidemic.

member 4, 1829. She had lived at Falls City for the last eight years. Mrs. Graham is survived by three children—Ida, a teacher in Falls City schools; W. A. Graham, a business man of Falls City; and Mrs. Rene Tidrick of Iowa. There is also a sister living in Iowa. Funeral services were held Sunday and were conducted by P. Claude Stephens, pastor of the local Christian church.

To the Citizens of Salem, Greeting: In the midst of the great struggle to establish international peace and safety, most every home has one or more loved ones at the front and every heart and mind is taken up with the great work. I take the present opportunity to remind you, for home protection, that I am a candidate for the office of city marshal. I also wish to again thank you for your hearty support in placing me in nomination at the primaries. As a resident and taxpayer of Salem since 1904, I have a special interest in the welfare of Salem. My experience as an officer, entrusted with public safety, embraces about four years government service. I quote extracts from endorsements of such service: "From personal observation of Sergt. Wright, while on duty as chief of regimental scouts during the recent campaign in the north, his services with the scouts was excellent indeed, showing that he possesses ability which qualifies him for a higher position, character excellent. I recommend him for a commission.—E. M. Hayes, Lieut. Col. 4th Cav. Comdg."

I wish to assure you that if elected to the office of city marshal, I will discharge the duties of the office, in the same courteous, efficient and faithful manner, that has characterized my life work, as a citizen, a veteran soldier and peace officer of the Salem department. I will, without undue authority, or notoriety, seek in an unselfish manner, to aid and protect the public in every lawful way, and to cooperate with every move to guard and preserve the peace and dignity of our city, state and country. I respectfully ask your support.
