

Good Picking

The youngster's idea of "goodies" made with Kream Krisp is to get his hands on them. Mother's idea is to use nothing but Kream Krisp for shortening and frying. She said so at the last meeting of her cooking club. That the members unanimously adopted her idea is evident by the following endorsements she has received from them:

"Kream Krisp is the most economical shortening on the market."

"In all my recipes I use less Kream Krisp than I ever did butter or lard, and get more satisfactory results."

"I can always depend on my baking being successful because measurements with Kream Krisp are accurate, making the results uniform and sure."

"I am for Kream Krisp because it doesn't smoke up or leave any odor in my kitchen."

"I use my Kream Krisp again and again, because no matter what I fry in it, it doesn't absorb the flavor. And after straining it I can put it back into the can as good as new."

"I don't think I could make creamy, fluffy cakes or rich, flaky pie crust without using Kream Krisp."

Try Kream Krisp today, and your own uses of it will O. K. these endorsements.

CLIMATE IS NOT CHANGING IN VALLEY

Official Weather Records Show No Radical Changes In Past 16 Years.

The oldest inhabitant who sits around and tells folks how the climate is changing in the Willamette valley really has no vital statistics to substantiate his statements, for the plain fact is the climate in this part of the valley has not changed during the past sixteen years.

If the pioneer weather story dates back to the days when the first bridge went out in 1889 or even to a generation earlier, when the river was frozen over for several months, then no one may refute his word as during those days the government had no official observer in Salem. But beginning along in 1900 a few weather records were kept while beginning in 1902 there was a careful record kept in Salem, giving the temperature, both maximum and minimum of each day, the rainfall and stage of the river. These are government records and are on file with the weather observer in Salem, with the state weather recorder in Portland and with the department of agriculture in Washington, D. C.

During the past sixteen years the average maximum temperature for the month of October was 62 and the average minimum temperature for the month of 44. For all these years there has been no radical changes of temperature for the month. For the three years previous to 1918, the maximum temperature was at an average of 66 for October. During two years since 1902 it has averaged less than 60. October of 1913 was the coldest, as that year the average maximum was only 58. It was in the year 1916 that the October nights were coldest, as the average minimum was 38.

The average mean temperature for October during the past 16 years is 53. Last month it was 54. The cloudy days of October of 1918 is about average with the past sixteen years, as there was 15 days, cloudy and on 15 days of the month there was rain. October of 1917 was the only month since the official records have been kept in which there was no rainfall at all. This

KAISER ENDORSES ACTS OF REICHSTAG

Tells Reichstag That All Recent Enactments Meet His Approval.

Amsterdam, Nov. 3.—On the occasion of the constitutional amendment coming into force, says an official telegram from Berlin, Emperor William addressed to Prince Maximilian of Baden, the German imperial chancellor, a decree endorsing the decisions of the reichstag and avowing his firm determination to co-operate in their full development. The emperor's decree reads:

Kaiser Surrenders Rights.
"Your grand ducal highness: I return herewith for immediate publication the bill to amend the imperial constitution and the law of March 17, 1879, relative to the representation of the imperial chancellor, which has been laid before me for signature."

"On the occasion of this step, which is so momentous for the future history of the German people, I have a desire to give expression to my feelings. Prepared for by a series of government acts, a new order comes into being which transfers the fundamental rights of the kaiser's person to the people."

Eventful Period Closed.
"Thus comes to a close a period which will stand in honor before the eyes of future generations. Despite all struggles between invested authority and aspiring forces it has rendered possible to our people that tremendous development which imperishably revealed itself in the wonderful achievements of this war."

"In the terrible storms of the four years of war, however, old forms have been broken up, not to leave their ruins behind, but to make a place for a new vital form."

"After the achievements of these times the German people can claim that no right which may guarantee a free and happy future shall be withheld from them."

Kaiser Offers Co-operation.
"The proposals of the allied governments which are now adopted and extended owe their origin to this conviction. I, however, with my exalted allies, endorse these decisions of parliament in firm determination, so far as I am concerned, to co-operate in their full development, convinced that I am thereby promoting the weal of the German people."

"The kaiser's office is one of service to the people. May, then, the new order release all the good powers which our people need in order to support the trials which are hanging over the empire and with a firm step win a bright future from the gloom of the present."

SERVICE THAT WINS THE SOLDIER HEART

Fred Lockley, Y. M. C. A., Tells of the Gratitude of the Boys at the Front.

"One of the discoveries men are making over here," Fred Lockley, of the Y. M. C. A. and of Portland, Oregon, writes from London, "is that more pleasure can be had out of giving than getting. Many a man who has spent money freely in the old days to buy pleasure is finding that he gets more pleasure over here by the spending of one's self in the service of others."

"A few months ago I went out with a fellow Y. M. C. A. secretary to hunt up out-of-the-way detachments of troops. A stable guard here, a machine gun company there, a platoon somewhere else. We carried our goods in an automobile. We had plenty of writing paper and envelopes for free distribution, and chocolate, cookies, chewing tobacco and smoking tobacco, cigarettes, razor blades, tooth paste and things of that kind for sale. American war service workers were busy everywhere. We found Salvation Army lassies making doughnuts for the boys and K. of C. secretaries giving help. Books furnished by the American Library Association were to be seen on all sides."

"Hearing firing at a distance, we drove down the road and found a score or so of men at machine gun practice. The officer gave the men half an hour recess to buy goods."

"At another place we came in sight of a lieutenant drilling a platoon. I said to the lieutenant: 'How soon before you dismiss the company? We have Y. M. C. A. goods for sale.'"

"He said: 'Right now. Sergeant, dismiss the company!'"

"And ten seconds later the company was in line waiting to buy goods from our traveling 'Y.' Grateful is no name for it. The men can't do enough to show their gratitude."
