Introducing The New Tea-Foil Package of Juxedo

This new package renders a double service—it saves tin for the U. S. Government's war needs and saves smokers from the discomfort and inconvenience of the old-style tobacco tins.

The "Tea-Foil" Package has many advantages; it is:— Soft and pliable. Decreases in size as tobacco is used. Tobacco does not cake in this package. No digging it out with the finger. Keeps the tobacco in perfect condition. Costs you less than tin. 10c a package.

Try Tuxedo in the new "Tea-Foil" Package today.

The German command shall also reveal all destructive measures that may have been taken (such as poisoning or polluting of springs, wells, etc.) under penalty of reprisals.

"9.—The right of requisition shall be exercised by the allied and United States armies in all occupied territory. The upkeep of the troops of occupation in the Rhineland (excluding Alsace-Lorraine) shall be charged to the government.

"10.—An immediate repatriation with out reciprocity according to detailed conditions which shall be fixed, of all allied and United States prisoners of war. The allied powers and the United States shall be able to dispose of these prisoners as they wish.

"11.—Sick and wounded who cannot be removed from evacuated territory will be cared for by German personnel who will be left on the spot with the medical material required.

"12.—Disposition relative to the eastern frontiers of Germany: "12.—All German troops at present in any territory which before the war belonged to Russia, Rumania, or Turkey, shall withdraw within the frontiers of Germany as they existed on August 1, 1914.

"13.—Evacuation of German troops to begin at once and all German instructors, prisoners and civilian, as well as military agents, now on the territory of Russia, (as defined before 1914) to be recalled.

"14.—German troops to cease at once all requisitions and seizures and any other undertakings with a view to obtaining supplies intended for Germany in Rumania and Russia (as defined on August 1, 1914).

"15.—Abandonment of the treaties of Bucharest and Brest Litovsk and of the supplementary treaties.

"16.—The allies shall have free access to the territories evacuated by the Germans on their eastern frontier either through Danzig or by the Vistula in order to convey supplies to the populations of those territories or for any other purposes.

"17.—Unconditional capitulation of all German forces operating in East Africa, within one month.

"18.—Reparation without reciprocity, within a maximum period of one month, in accordance with details here after to be fixed, of all civilians interned or deported who may be citizens of other allied or associated states than those mentioned in clause 3, paragraph 19, with the reservation that any future claims and demands of the allies and the United States of America remain unaffected.

"19.—The following financial conditions are required: Reparation for damage done. While such armistice lasts no public securities shall be removed by the enemy which can serve as a pledge to the allies for the recovery or repatriation for war losses. Immediate restitution of the cash deposits, in the national bank of Belgium, and in general immediate return of all documents, specie, stocks, shares, paper money, together with plant for the issue thereof, touching public or private interests in the invaded countries. Restitution of the Russian and Rumanian gold yielded to Germany or taken by that power. This gold to be delivered in trust to the allies until the signature of peace.

"20.—Immediate cessation of all hostilities at sea and definite information to be given as to the location and movements of all German ships. Notification to be given to neutrals that freedom of navigation in all territorial waters is given to the naval and mercantile marines of the allied and associated powers, all questions of neutrality being waived.

"21.—All naval and mercantile marine prisoners of war of the allied and associated powers in German hands to be returned without reciprocity.

"22.—Surrender to the allies and the United States of one hundred and sixty German submarines (including all submarine cruisers and mine laying submarines) with their complete armament and equipment in ports which will be specified by the allies and the United States of America. All other submarines to be paid off and completely dismantled and placed under the supervision of the allied powers and the United States of America.

"23.—The following German surface warships which shall be designated by the allies and the United States of America shall forthwith be dismantled and thereafter, interred in neutral ports, or for the want of them, in allied ports, to be designated by the allies and the United States of America and placed under the surveillance of the allies and the United States of America, only caretakers being left on board, namely: "Six battle cruisers, ten battle ships, eight light cruisers, including two mine layers, fifty destroyers of the most modern type.

"24.—All other surface warships (including river craft) are to be concentrated in German naval bases to be designated by the allies and the United States of America and are to be paid off and completely dismantled under the supervision of the allies and the United States of America. All vessels of the auxiliary fleet, (trawlers, motor vessels, etc.) are to be dismantled.

"25.—The allies and the United States of America shall have the right to sweep up the mine fields and obstructions laid by Germany outside German territorial waters and the positions of these are to be indicated.

"26.—Freedom of access to and from the Baltic to be given to the naval and mercantile marines of the allied and associated powers. To secure this, the allies and the United States of America shall be empowered to occupy all German forts, fortifications, batteries and defense works of all kinds in the entrances from the Cattogat into the Baltic, and to sweep up all mines and obstructions within and without German territorial waters without any question of neutrality being raised, and the positions of all such mines and obstructions are to be indicated.

"27.—The existing blockade conditions set up by the allies and associated powers are to remain unchanged and all German merchant ships found at sea are to remain liable to capture.

"28.—In evacuating the Belgian coast and ports Germany shall abandon all merchant ships, tugs, lighters, cranes and all other harbor materials, all materials for inland navigation, all aircraft and all materials and stores, all arms and armaments, and all stores and apparatus of all kinds.

"29.—All Black sea ports are to be evacuated by Germany; all Russian war vessels of all description seized by Germany in the Black sea are to be handed over to the allies and the United States of America; all neutral merchant vessels seized are to be released; all warlike and other materials of all kinds seized in those ports are to be returned and German materials as specified in clause 28 are to be abandoned.

"30.—All merchant vessels in German hands belonging to the allied and associated powers are to be restored in ports to be specified by the allies and the United States of America without reciprocity.

"31.—No destruction of ships or materials to be permitted before evacuation, surrender or restoration.

"32.—The Germans shall formally notify the neutral governments of the world and particularly the governments of Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland, that all restrictions placed on the trading of their vessels with the allies and associated countries whether by the German government or by private German interests and whether in return for specific concessions such as the export of shipbuilding materials or not, are immediately cancelled.

"33.—No transfers of German merchant shipping of any description to any neutral flag are to take place after signature of the armistice.

"34.—Duration of armistice: "34.—Duration of the armistice is to be thirty days with option to extend. During this period, on failure of execution of any of the above clauses, the armistice may be denounced by one of the contracting parties, on forty eight hours previous notice.

"35.—This armistice to be accepted or refused by Germany within 72 hours of notification.

President's Conclusions "The war thus comes to an end, for, having accepted these terms of armistice, it will be impossible for the German command to renew.

"It is not possible yet to assess the consequences of this great consummation. We know only that this great war, whose consuming flames swept from one nation to another until all the world was on fire, is at an end and that it was the privilege of our own people to enter it at its most critical juncture in such a fashion and in such force as to contribute in a way of which we are all deeply proud of the great result.

"We know, too, that the object of the war is attained; the object upon which all free men had set their hearts and attained with a sweeping completeness which even now we do not realize. Armed imperialism, such as the men conceived who were but yesterday the masters of Germany is at an end, its illicit ambitions engulfed in black disaster. Who will now seek to revive it? The arbitrary power of the military caste of Germany which once could, secretly and of its own single choice disturb the peace of the world is discredited and destroyed. And, more than that, much more than that, has been accomplished. The great nations which associated themselves to destroy it have now definitely united in the common purpose to set up such a peace as will satisfy the longing of the whole world for disinterested justice, embodied in settlements, which are based upon something much better and much more lasting than the selfish competitive interests of powerful states. There is no longer conjecture as to the objects the victors have in mind. They have a mind in the matter, not only, but a heart also. Their avowed and concerted purpose is to satisfy and protect the weak as well as to accord their just rights to the strong.

Humane in Victory "The humane temper and intention of the victorious governments has already been manifested in a very practical way. Their representatives in the supreme war council at Versailles have by unanimous resolution assured the peoples of the central empires that everything that is possible in the circumstances will be done to supply them with food and relieve the distressing want that is in so many places threatening their very lives, and steps are to be taken immediately to organize these efforts at relief in the same systematic manner that they were organized in the case of Belgium. By the use of the idle tonnage of these central empires it ought presently to be possible to lift the fear of utter misery from their oppressed population and set their minds and energies free for the great and hazardous task of political reconstruction which now face them on every hand. Hunger does not breed reform, it breeds madness and all the ugly distempers that make an orderly life impossible.

"For, with the fall of the ancient governments which rested like an infinity upon the peoples of the central empires, has come political change not merely, but revolution and revolution which seems as yet to assume no financial and ordered form but to run from one fluid change to another, until thoughtful men are forced to ask themselves, with what governments and of what sort are we about to deal in the making of the covenants of peace. With what authority will they meet us and with what assurance that they will abide and sustain secure the international arrangements into which we are to enter?

"There is here matter for no small anxiety and misgiving. When peace is made, upon whose promises and engagements, besides our own is it to rest?

Great Work Ahead "Let us be perfectly frank with ourselves and admit that these questions cannot be satisfactorily answered now or at once, but the moral is not that there is little hope for an early answer that will suffice. It is only that we must be patient and helpful and mindful above all of the great hope and confidence that lie at heart of what is taking place. Excesses accomplish nothing. Unhappy Russia has furnished abundant recent proof of that. Disorder immediately defeats itself. If excesses should occur, if disorder should for a time raise its head, a sober second thought will follow and a day of constructive action, if we help and do not hinder.

"The present and all that it holds, belongs to the nations and the peoples who preserve their self control and the orderly processes of their governments; the future to those who prove themselves the true friends of mankind. To conquer with armies to make only a temporary conquest, to conquer the world by earning its esteem is to make a permanent conquest. I am confident that nations that have learned the discipline of freedom and that have settled with self possession to its ordered practice are now about to make conquest of the world by sheer power of example and power of friendly helpfulness.

Help Struggling Peoples "The peoples who have just come out from under the yoke of an arbitrary government and who are now coming at last to their freedom will never find the treasures of liberty they are in search of if they look for them by the light of the torch. They will find that every pathway that is stained with the blood of their own brothers leads to the wilderness, not to the seat of their hope. They are now face to face with their initial test. We must hold the light steady until they find themselves. And in the meantime if it be possible we must establish a peace that will justly define their place among the nations, removal of all fear of their neighbors and of their former masters and enable them to live in security and contentment when they have set their affairs in order. If, for one, do not doubt their purpose or their capacity. There are some happy signs that point the way and will show the way of self control and peaceful accomplishments. If they do we shall put our aid at their disposal in every way that we can. If they do we must await with patience and sympathy with the awakening and recovery that will assuredly come at last."

BIG CELEBRATION THIS AFTERNOON

Plenty Of Pep Left In The City For A Second Big Patriotic Affair.

With the dispatches this morning announcing that President Wilson had read to congress details of the expected armistice, Salem once again took on a celebration appearance and those disposed to hold a second jubilation were soon in evidence.

By 10 o'clock all public offices were closed and Judge Bingham adjourned court, after the governor, had officially proclaimed the day as a holiday.

At the Commercial club prominent citizens met and decided that Salem was good for another rousing demonstration and by a unanimous vote, it was decided to close all stores at noon and that all should partake in the afternoon's celebration.

As outlined at the Commercial club, the afternoon's celebration was to begin at 3 o'clock, forming on Perry street at the armory for the parade. Governor Withycombe was given the place of honor in the parade, along with Col. George S. Young, commandant of the S. A. T. C., and who represents officially the United States army.

The parade was led by the Students Army Training Corps, officially a part of the United States regular army, followed by the five companies of the Oregon guard and the Stayton Oregon guard, Company M.

High school cadets in uniform were assigned next in the parade and then the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen, and representatives of other industries of the city.

ORANGES AND LEMONS

The Journal, Salem, Oregon: We have noted the following statement in your issue of October 26 in regard to orange prices and crop prospects:

"Oranges are now quoted at $12.50 a box, the highest known for many a year. There are very few on the market and what is more, the chances are there will be a scarcity all winter as the naval oranges are reported as early about one-fourth of a crop. Lemons are also scarce and higher as none are coming from Italy."

For the past few months, due to the extreme orange shortage and the unprecedented demand caused by the influenza epidemic orange prices have been extremely high. We are very glad to inform you, however, contrary to the statement made in your press notice, that beginning about December oranges will be in more normal supply, and because of that will be more reasonable in price, and although California will not have a bumper crop of oranges this coming year the crop prospects at present are for about three-quarters of the quantity shipped in our largest year.

The crop of lemons is normal and has been practically normal for some time and only the unusual demand occasioned by the influenza epidemic caused the demand to exceed the supply. Importations of foreign lemons during the past year have been fully as great as during previous seasons.

We thought you would be interested in having these facts brought to your attention. Yours very truly, PAUL S. ARMSTRONG, Assistant Advertising Manager.
