DUTCH SENTRY HALTS EX-KAISER'S PARTY ON HOLLAND BORDER

Wilhelm Was Angry When Forced To Delay By Sergeant's Orders.

Amsterdam, Nov. 18.—The first ultimatum of a Dutch sentry when the former kaiser and his party threatened to enter Holland without observing any of the international formalities, Sergeant Pinkert, the soldier who issued the ultimatum on November 11, was interviewed by the United Press today.

"I was on duty when I saw the imperial cars approaching as though they were going to cross the frontier," said Pinkert.

"I shouted, 'stop!' immediately the whole procession halted. Some officers came forward and asked to be allowed to pass.

"You may pass without arms," I answered. I recognized a man coming from the second carriage as the kaiser. He said:

"You must allow us to pass without further fuss. The government knows who we are."

"Very good," I said, "but I don't know who you are. I must do my duty and disarm you all."

Kaiser Displeased
"German officers are not going to allow themselves to be disarmed by a common sergeant," the kaiser said angrily.

"Very good," I replied, "but you are going to remain right here until the commandant at Maastricht has been notified. The first one who moves will be shot."

"One of my men telephoned the commandant, who arrived in 20 minutes. In the meantime, the men waited, rifles in hand, while the Germans walked nervously to and fro. When the commandant came up, the kaiser told him of my opposition, saying:

"That is a good soldier; he might have been a German."

"The whole company then gave up their arms. I knew it was the kaiser, but if he had moved, I would have shot my last bullet into him."

The former-crown prince had a similar adventure. Sentries searched his motor cars and seized a number of rifles and quantity of ammunition. The crown prince did not want to give up a handsome sporting rifle which had been presented to him by a lady from India. He finally surrendered it, saying:

"I'll have to backwater for the first time in my life."

Frederick William, in conversation with the Dutch authorities did not mention his father. The Dutch government has taken steps to prevent their meeting on Dutch territory.

and declares that he (or she) is the nearest living relative in the United States of the proposed recipient and that the applicant in the calendar year (1918) has not made or will not make any other Christmas shipment to the above named consignee."

Including next Wednesday, cartons will be issued only on presentation of the regulation label, but after that date beginning next Thursday and ending Saturday Nov. 30, the carton may be secured from the Red Cross and mailed by signing the necessary statement.

This morning business opened with a rush as many who may have received their labels and carton are presenting the carton properly filled with Christmas remembrances, to avoid the rush that is sure to follow the coming two weeks.

Each day the cartons are collected and mailed by the postoffice department and forwarded to Hoboken, N. J., where they are at once placed on board for shipment direct to France.

Court House Notes

Huldah E. Cochrane has been granted a divorce from Thomas E. Cochrane. The decree was signed last Saturday.

In the matter of the case of C. Wolford against Arthur Beardsley, the plaintiff moves the court for an order dismissing the appeal for the reason that the defendant and appellant have failed to file an undertaking on appeal as required by the laws of Oregon regulating appearances in the circuit court.

The estate of W. T. Farrington has been appraised at $745.00. This amount he had in bank. The appraisers were W. L. Cummings, Mrs. H. C. McCammon and Dr. R. Cartwright.

The county court does not approve of the final account of the administratrix of the estate of Sarah J. Pettyjohn. The court does not approve of the payment of $150.00 as commission for a real estate commission, when it is thought that $80.00 would have been reasonable. The objectors to the final account were A. D. Pettyjohn, Lizzie Rowland and Millie Yates and their objections were sustained.

December 10, 1918, has been set by the county court for the final hearing in the matter of the estate of James N. Shantz.

Marneth & Evans whose lumber warehouse with contents were destroyed August 1, 1918, at Waconda, have entered suit against the Royal Insurance company. In their complaint, they allege that they paid $25,000 premium July 8, 1918, for $25,000 insurance for one year. That on July 16, 1918, they paid the same amount for an additional $25,000 insurance. That there was a total loss by fire August 1, 1918. That there was a clause in the insurance contract to the effect that in case of fire and there was a disagreement as to loss, that each side should select one adjuster and that the two selected should choose the third and that the award of any two of the adjusters should be final.

That the plaintiff selected Louis Laehmund and that the insurance company selected Frank M. Brown and that these two choose Otto Hansen.

The plaintiffs further allege that Mr. Laehmund and Mr. Hansen, two of the three adjusters, agreed that the actual loss by fire had been $15,789.00 and this loss was fixed on August 23, 1918.

That there was a clause in the insurance contract that 60 days might elapse before any payment for loss be made. That this time had expired and the insurance company had not paid the loss as agreed on by the adjusters.

The plaintiff asks for $15,789.00 damages and costs of suit. McNary, McNary & Keyes represent Marneth and Evans.

Way To Address Letters To Soldiers

Just to make it clear as to how letters should be addressed to soldiers, the following form is shown. This sample address is sent out by the Washington postal officials and approved by army authorities. Here is the form for the address and also the return address:

From
Mrs. John Doe,
179 Roe Street,
Salem, Oregon.

Sergeant John K. Doe,
Co. D, 93d Infantry,
American Expeditionary Force

Complaints are being received by postal authorities that letters have not been delivered to soldiers. If the writer would place the return address on the upper left hand corner of the envelope, then if the soldier cannot be located, the letter will be returned to the sender.
