Stocks Under Pressure In Late Trading Today New York, Nov. 23.—The Evening Sun financial review today said: Stocks were under pressure in the late trading but except for a few issues, the declines were not so large, although the buying power was thin. The features were a four point falling off in Baldwin, weakness in all motor issues and many rails; three point decline in American Beet Sugar and two points in Wilson. Brooklyn Rapid Transit was forced down to 36 5/8, the lowest price since the suspension of dividends. The reason as a whole was unimportant.

MASSACRES IN PETROGRAD Washington, Nov. 23.—Terrific bolshevik massacres in Petrograd, in which 500 former officers were murdered, were reported in a Helsingfors newspaper, according to state department advices from Stockholm today. The position of interested foreigners is said to be precarious.

F. W. STEUSLOFF SEES REAL EXCITING TIMES

Was In On The Great Peace Celebration In New York Glad To Get Home.

Fred W. Steusloff, president of the Salem Commercial club is home from a six weeks visit in the east, taken both as a pleasure and business trip. Before going on to New York Mr. Steusloff stopped at his former home, Cheyenne, Wyo., where he found that but a few changes in general had been made in the city during the past thirty years. In Buffalo, New York, he found business conditions not very encouraging excepting in the manufacture of airplanes and munitions. But it was in New York City that he saw the greatest sights of his long trip as he arrived there just the day before the first big peace celebration. In describing the way the New York City folks celebrated the peace news—Mr. Steusloff said: "All day and all night long the city went wild. People were dancing on the streets, surging up and down Fifth Avenue and Broadway in almost a solid mass. Business was suspended. "Soldiers and sailors were being carried on the shoulders of the excited people. Officers and soldiers of the American army as well as those of Canada, England and France who happened to be in the city, stood on street corners, offering everybody a drink. Bottles were in sight everywhere and everybody treating. In many instances there was a general desire for promiscuous kissing when any of the gentler sex appeared willing to take part in the celebration. "From the tops of the sky scrapers floated scraps of paper until Fifth Avenue and Broadway appeared to be in a great snow storm. People stood on corners all night long singing the National anthem and other patriotic songs. "During the second peace celebration Mr. Steusloff was traveling west, but he saw the crowds doing it all over again at Atlantic City, Philadelphia and Washington City where President Wilson and wife headed a parade. In Texas he found great prosperity due to the high price of cotton. In New Orleans he had the pleasure of visiting the Elks' home costing $5,000,000, where they have a membership of 5,600. He found brother Elks most courteous and entertaining at all points of his visit.

BRITISH RED CROSS IN BERLIN Amsterdam, Nov. 23.—British Red Cross officials have arrived in Berlin. END OF THE WAR. Germany has quit and we are glad. The old war is done. Now who should be sad! The fighting is null; that opens for peace. And freedom from strife—the longed-for release. The Kaiser has quit; his job he threw up. Skipped like a coward, went off like a pup. Showing he deserves severe punishment. For what he has done but he won't repent. We gave of our boys; many of them died; Supreme sacrifice. The Kaiser defied; Autocracy's done and freedom, they bought. With their own life-blood. So grandly they fought. We gave of our means to help them along. So that they could sing for us freedom's song. Old Bill's one-man power has gone all to smash.
