Dr. Schenk has now returned from his vacation and he extends a cordial invitation to his patrons and friends to visit his institution.

There might be a rush of eastern people to Oregon all anxious to buy prune tracts if it was properly advertised this winter with records that have been made in the prune growing business this year. For instance, C. H. Taylor of the Sunnyside district on his 9 acres sold prunes to the value of $1739.61. His trees are set 24 feet apart. Other growers have done remarkably well this year and it has been suggested that prune growing as a business should be advertised in the central and eastern states where so many want to get away from farming and hard winters and engage in the prune growing business.

Now is the time to place your orders for rosebushes, shrubbery, fruit, walnut and ornamental trees for immediate planting, with the Capital City Nursery Co., 1030 Chem. St. Phone 75. 11-31

CARD OF THANKS
The children and relatives of the late Mrs. Eliza Ann Free hereby express their sincere appreciation for the help and sympathy of friends and neighbors during the sickness and burial of this devoted and dearly beloved mother.

There is a "win-my-chum" campaign on at the Jason Lee Memorial church, corner Winter and Jefferson streets under the auspices of the Epworth League chapter. The campaign will close Sunday evening of this week. Special meetings are now being held each evening at 7:30 o'clock and for each evening there is a different speaker. All are welcome to these meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Terwilliger, graduate morticians and funeral directors, 770 Chemeketa St. Phone 724.

C. M. Lockwood, county food administrator, returned last evening from a trip to Portland to attend a meeting of the county food administrators with the head of the state food administration, W. B. Ayre. He says that all of

"When a fellow needs a friend" is when as in "The Sign Invisible," the special Thanksgiving program at the Liberty, he is staggering through a blinding storm in the mountains--has lost his way and doesn't care where he lands anyhow. About that time the chords of "Lead Kindly Light," floating through pelting weather, would sound mighty good. There is more than one touching bit in this big drama of defiant man vs dominant nature.

Officers attending training school at Camp Pike, near Little Rock, Ark., with the exception of a few who will remain to secure a commission for the reserve, will leave for their homes next Saturday. Fred E. Mangis, is one of the Salem men who will bid good by to that part of cotton land. Before returning Mr. Mangis will go on a possum hunt. Every man who spends any time in the south is supposed to go on a possum hunt and then eat the possum, cooked with sweet potatoes and all swimming in possum gravy.

Lloyd W. Ivis is mentioned in today's casualty list as severely wounded. He is the son of Mrs. Mae Ivey, proprietor of the Capital hotel, State and Commercial streets. He enlisted in the engineers April 2, 1916 and was sent to Vancouver barracks for eight months' training. Then he was ordered to Camp Green, where he remained from April 1917. On Nov. 19 his mother received a cablegram stating that he had been severely wounded on August 5, 1916, saying he was well and that he had been detailed as an escort for German prisoners. After he was wounded, he was sent to the hospital at Nantes, France.

Home Restaurant 223 N. Com'l St. After two months of much needed rest will open doors for business Monday morning, 11:30 a. m., Dec. 2, 1918. Meals served at regular hours. Price 40c. Short orders in morning 6 to 8:30 a. m. We always endeavor to give the public the worth of their money of the best market affords, prepared by the best lady cooks, served in family style. Yours, Home Restaurant. 11-30

The mercury did some dropping last evening and officially managed to touch the 30 notch and there was plenty of ice formed in the quiet pools this morning. Last night was the coldest since the little cold snap on April 2 of this year, when early gardens were nipped when the temperature dropped to 30 degrees.

Tonight masquerade at Chemawa. Train service out, auto service back. Lunch. Cash prizes.

Seymour Jones, representative elect from Marion county and one of the five candidates for speaker of the house, was in Portland yesterday just looking around. With Mr. Jones were the other four candidates who were also looking around, and taking a chance on a little fence building. Mr. Jones feels pretty safe as he feels that the majority has been secured. It also seems that many who were afraid to turn down solicitors for War Savings stamps, are now cashing in the stamps, and making payments on their war bonds.

Relax and rest in the dental chair. Dr. Hartley fills and extracts teeth without pain and corrects diseased gums. Moore bldg. Phone 114.

The Elks' dance to be given on the evening of Tuesday, Dec. 3, will be an informal affair. This information is given for the special benefit of some of the boys who happen to be short on attending, but didn't want to go if the other boys come down in spike tails.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Garrison will have as guests over Thanksgiving their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Hekabay of Portland, accompanied by their children Marjorie and Dorothy. They will come by motor.

A drug store is a pretty difficult proposition to close up but the druggists will break the record tomorrow as they have all agreed to close at 6 o'clock in the evening. This includes
