CLARK ACCUSED OF DOUBLE CROSSING

Claimed That He Agreed With Board On Budget But Now Attempts To Knife It.

Double-crossing his associates on the school board was the charge made against Director H. L. Clark last evening at a regular session of the board. He denied giving the board a back-handed wallop but it later developed in a discussion that while agreeing with the board on the proposed budget, Mr. Clark was secretly working against it. It rather riled the feelings of several members of the board of education to think that any member should profess to be in accord with its action in submitting and preparing the budget and then to go out and attempt to knife it. The opinion was expressed that if any member was opposed to any action of the board the right time was to bring the matter up before a regular session and not to go out and seek to defeat the proposed budget to be voted on next Saturday.

Said There Was No Opposition

As to whether there was any opposition to the budget, Mr. Clark said he could suggest several who were opposed and he named Dr. Stone, Ray Farmer, D. M. Fisher and Mr. Busey. Clark finally agreed to support the budget. The increase of the proposed levy for the coming year to maintain the city schools is due to the increase in the salaries of teachers, to the loss in the school census by which the district received $8 for each name and to the purchase of the Holman property adjoining the high school building.

Superintendent John A. Todd explained the workings of the Smith-Hughes act by which the government appropriated money to assist in the building of trades schools similar to the one erected adjoining the high school building. To encourage practical machine work, the government is willing to pay half of the teaching expenses of this work and by this means the district will receive this year $1800 and each year with better facilities the government will aid to this, to be applied on the salary of teachers.

A. A. Lee Present

A. A. Lee, who was present as a visitor said that he had carefully examined the budget and that he felt the directors had done the best possible under the circumstances, although the levy had been raised to 7.6 mills. As to the census, in all his 15 years experience on the board, he found, it had never been satisfactory on account of so many people being out of the city at the time the law required the census be made.

As to the present proposed budget, he said he had figured it with schools of other cities and with the budgets of the past 15 years and that he figured the board was running closer on general expenses than ever before.

Mr. Lee said there is always opposition to any proposed measure but that from his personal experience he knew no school board had ever been refused its budget when the people were appealed to. In this instance, he felt the board should have the approval of the people at the election to be held next Saturday. "Taking everything into consideration, the school board has never been so economical as now. I'm stating just plain facts," said Mr. Lee. Among those present at last night's board session and who took part in the general discussion were U. G. Shipley, Joe H. Albert, C. S. Hamilton, William McGilchrist Jr., A. F. Marcus, A. A. Lee and W. D. Evans. All were unanimous in supporting the proposed budget.

Q-ban Hair Color Restorer is a delightful toilet preparation for restoring gray, streaked with gray or faded hair to its youthful color and lustre. It is not a dye. ## Lee Gilbert Moving From Portland To Salem Soon

Lee L. Gilbert, distributor in Oregon for the Elgin Six and the Harroun Four has decided to make his home in Salem and has leased the bungalow of Mrs. M. B. Morris, 1345 Court street. He will bring his family from Portland within a few days and is disposing of all his Portland property. After sizing up the general business situation in Salem and vicinity, Mr. Gilbert is impressed with the future business of this section of the state. He will make Salem the wholesale distributing point in the state for the distribution of Elgin and Harroun cars. He will also secure large warehouse facilities in Salem and will put in a larger stock of parts for Elgin and Harroun cars. The first Elgin Six ever sold in the state was handled by Mr. Gilbert. That was two years ago, and the car was so satisfactory, that Mr. Gilbert accepted the appointment of state distributor. He says that since last April up to date he has sold more Elgin Sixes than for the two years preceding. The Salem headquarters will continue at 135 South Commercial street. Additional storage rooms have been leased of the Rogers estate. Mr. Gilbert now has his shop well equipped with mechanics and has added materially to the stock of Elgin and Harroun parts.

Community Sing At Armory Thanksgiving Afternoon

At 3 o'clock Thanksgiving afternoon at the armory there will be held a community sing. A special effort is being made to have all school children in the city attend and the suggestion has been made that parents interest themselves in having their children take part in the afternoon's exercises. It is thought that between four and five hundred school children will avail themselves of this opportunity for a general sing. Among the patriotic songs there will be America, The Star Spangled Banner, Speed Our Republic, Keep the Home Fires Burning, The Long Long Trail and others well known. The new patriotic song, "Sons of America" will also be introduced. The Girls' Glee club will take part in the program singing several selections. The community sing will be properly directed and the invitation is extended to not only school children but all of the grown ups in the city who love music.

JASON LEE GIVEN CREDIT FOR OREGON

C. B. Moores Declares That It Is To His Efforts That The Northwest Is American

It is to Jason Lee and to the Methodist church that credit should be given for the fact that at the famous Champeong meeting May 2, 1843, by a vote of 50 to 32, the pioneers of Oregon voted a provisional form of government under the jurisdiction of the United States. Hon. Charles B. Moores of Portland in an address last evening before the Six O'clock club of the First Methodist church gave Jason Lee and his Methodist friends all credit for the development of Oregon and the formation of the provisional government by which this great northwest came under the jurisdiction of the United States instead of England.

These facts were established, Mr. Moores said, not by Methodist church historians but by histories of the northwest written entirely independent of church influence. He described Jason Lee as the man who was most effective in the development of the northwest, ever more so than Dr. McLaughlin, who was a British subject. Although Jason Lee was born just across the New Hampshire boundary line in Canada, he was selected as the proper man to lead the great missionary movement into Oregon. With a few missionaries he arrived at Vancouver Sept. 11, 1834, and in the following month preached the first sermon ever delivered in the Willamette valley. In 1837 he was reinforced by David Leslie and others.

Through the influence of Jason Lee, a bill was introduced in congress in March of 1840, looking to American occupancy of the northwest. Lee came in contact with the leading legislators of the day including the president and members of his cabinet, at all times urging that something be done to secure the great northwest for this country. His campaign was carried into the central states and people in Illinois especially became interested in the Willamette valley, Mr. Moores said. For 20 years, those who came to the northwest had become interested thru the addresses of Jason Lee.

The charter of the Hudson Bay company gave its members unlimited administrative powers in this country. When Jason Lee was here, Americans had no legal rights nor jurisdiction until Lee appointed David Leslie a justice of the peace. Then law was established that was recognized. At the famous Champeong meeting of May 2, 1843, when the test vote was taken as to whether this country should be under the laws of England or the United States, the Americans won by a majority of two in the 102 votes cast. Mr. Moores said that among the 52 Americans who voted, there were seven Methodist ministers, four members of the Methodist church and 17 others who came to the country thru the efforts of the Methodist church. In fact, Mr. Moores was inclined to believe that the Champeong meeting was pretty much of a Methodist affair, as the 50 who voted against the United States were traders under the influence of the Hudson Bay company and at that time exerted scarcely any real influence in the valley. While no single man or element saved Oregon, Mr. Moores said that the chief glory was due to the Methodist church as it was Methodists who had the courage to come into the field and were the advance guard of civilization. Willamette university was the greatest contribution of Jason Lee, and Mr. Moores noted the fact that only 60 Methodist institutions in the country antedate Willamette. He also mentioned the fact that the university now is nearing the $1,000,000 endowment fund from which it draws its income.

Mr. Moores gave Willamette university credit for being the educational center of the early northwest stating that its graduates included leading men in all activities of life in the northwest and especially in the holding of higher political offices.

Walter A. Denton Talks To Astoria Chamber Commerce

Walter A. Denton is home from Astoria where he delivered an address before the Astoria Chamber of Commerce by special invitation. He says the Astoria men are up and a coming and that it is their intention to build a strong commercial club. The Morning Astorian says: "Mr. Denton is secretary of the Oregon Retail Merchants association and is a real live wire in the technique of up to date business methods, and his talk last night will result in putting such drive into our business organization as is certain to result in a better community spirit. He showed clearly that a live organization of the business men of any city was the dynamic force in that city." "He advised the retail merchants to organize a Business Men's league. Mr. Denton outlined the details showing conclusively that the league would operate as a protection for every merchant against unfair practices of advertising agents and fake solicitors. After an hour's talk, the 50 or more business men who were so fortunate as to hear him were so enthusiastic that steps were taken to organize a Business Men's League before adjournment. A vote of thanks were given Mr. Denton for his helpful and timely address."

(If the amount to be raised by special tax is more by 6 per cent than the amount raised the year immediately preceding, fill out the following blank; otherwise cross out this part.) The amount of money to be raised by this special tax is more than the amount raised by special school district tax in the year immediately preceding this, plus 6 per cent. It is necessary to raise this additional amount by special levy for the following reasons. (Here give reasons in not to exceed 100 words.)

The income in taxes is due to four items: (1) Increase in salaries, 45-971.50; (2) Decrease in money coming from the state and county funds because there is a decrease of number of pupils on the census, which decrease lowers the incomes from state and county funds by $500,000; (3) A shrink age of $573.75 at least on uncollected taxes of last year is certain and (4) the purchase of the Holman property, which is an addition to the high school grounds and buildings costing $3350. The first three items are directly caused by war conditions: (1) The teachers' salaries had to be raised to maintain our force; (2) parents with large families moved to localities where employment is more profitable and (3) it is not safe to figure all the income from taxes. The Holman property is a good buy at the figure mentioned. Dated this 27th day of November, 1918.
