PROVED SPIRIT OF DEMOCRACY

Voluntary Basis of Food Saving Showed Heart of America Beat True for Freedom.

To the voluntary service and sacrifice of the American people must be attributed the continued health, strength and morale of the Allied armies and the civil populace. Upon this spirit of service and sacrifice will depend Europe's fate in the months to come. In the past year we have carried out an export program, the magnitude of which is almost beyond comprehension. But with the new demands that have come, with the liberation of nations freed from German oppression, our exports must be almost doubled. Instead of 11,820,000 tons, we must ship twenty million tons of food to Europe in the coming year—as much as can be pushed through our ports.

If the Allies had not been fed by America, it would have been impossible for them to maintain their defense against Germany. Meeting this world need on a purely voluntary basis, the American people have conclusively proved that democracy is a success and that in time of need it will rise to its own defense.

If there were no other accomplishment to its credit the very fact that it has shown the strength of democracy has in itself more than justified the existence of the Food Administration in the eyes of the world.

Less than four months after the United States declared war the United States Food Administrator expressed his determination to meet America's food problem on a basis of voluntary action and reiterated his confidence that awakened democracy would prove irresistible.

"Many thinking Americans," said Mr. Hoover, "and the whole world have been watching anxiously the last four months in the fear that democratic America could not organize to meet autocratic Germany. Germany has been confident that it could not be done. Contrary proof is immediately at our door, and our people have already demonstrated their ability to mobilize, organize, endure and prepare voluntarily and efficiently in many directions and upon the mere word of inspiration aside from the remarkable assemblage of our Army and finances." The history of the Food Administration has clearly shown that the trust of those who put their faith in democracy has not been misplaced.

In no other nation is there so willing a sense of voluntary self-sacrifice as in America—that was shown in the absence from wheat.

Find more wheat, it came; more pork, it came; save sugar, it was done. So Americans answered the challenge of German starvation.

Good will rules the new world as fear governed the old world. Through sharing food America helps make the whole world kin.

Food control made sufficiency from shortage, kept the rein on food prices, gave the nation's full strength exercise.

Starvation by Germany, challenged all the world; food conservation in America answered the challenge.

Food conservation in America has been the triumph of individual devotion to the national cause.

SAVE 16,000,000 BUSHELS OF WHEAT THAT FORMERLY WAS LOST IN THRESHING

Farmers, Urged by Food Administration, Provide Seven Extra Loaves of Bread for Every American.

By adopting cleaner threshing methods and by literally combing harvest fields to gather grain formerly wasted, threshermen and farmers of the United States this year saved fully 16,000,000 bushels of wheat, estimated as equivalent to about seven one-pound loaves of bread for every person in the country. This result, accompanied by corresponding savings of barley, oats, rye and other grains, is shown by reports from 33 grain states to the U. S. Food Administration. Other states, although not prepared to furnish definite figures of conservation in the grain fields, report greatly reduced harvest losses.

This rural food-saving achievement, accomplished in scarcely six months' time, was in direct response to requests by the Food Administration, which asked farmers and threshermen to reduce harvest losses from about 3 1/2 per cent.—the estimated average in normal times—to the lowest possible minimum. Country grain threshing committees carried into every grain growing community the official recommendations for accomplishing the results desired.

In numerous instances drivers of racks with leaky bottoms were sent from the fields to repair their equipment and frequently bad order threshing machines were stopped until the cause of waste was removed. But in proportion to the number of persons engaged in gathering the nation's grain crop, cases of compulsion were comparatively rare. The Food Administration freely attributes the success of the grain threshing campaign to patriotic service by farmers, threshermen and their crews. Incidentally grain growers of the United States are many millions of dollars "in pocket" as a result of the grain saved.

NO ONE SUFFERED HERE.

The marvel of our voluntary food-saving, now that we are "getting results," is that no one ever actually suffered any hardship from it; that we all are better in health and spirit and better satisfied with ourselves because of our friendly self-denial.

Food control in America held the price of breadstuffs steady, prevented vicious speculation and extortion and preserved tranquillity at home.

In no other nation is there so willing a sense of voluntary self-sacrifice as in America—that was shown in the absence from wheat.

Find more wheat, it came; more pork, it came; save sugar, it was done. So Americans answered the challenge of German starvation.

Good will rules the new world as fear governed the old world. Through sharing food America helps make the whole world kin.

GOLF LINKS, ET CET.

(Corvallis Gazette-Times)

Editor Ingalls must be looking hopefully toward the goal that comes with autocratic retirement. He is advocating the laying out of a golf links at Corvallis—Salem Journal.

Nay, nay, Panine, not so. As a strict professional secret we do, not mind telling you, as one newspaper man to another, that the G. T. favors the golf course for purely mercenary reasons. As more and more legislation is designed to hamper the country press in an effort of one big publisher to put it out of business, the G. T. hopes when the sheriff finally nails the sale notice over the door, to be able to retire to the Corvallis Golf Links and caddy for the college professors. Perhaps Sam Jackson and Dr. Chapman may come down to advocate that the course be owned by the state. Before deciding to refer the matter, no doubt they may want to test the course to see if it is worth owning. Then perhaps the G. T. editor may bask in the sunshine of their glory as he caddies for the great men. As the pearls of wisdom drop from the lips of this Lenin-Trotsky duo, among swine as it were, the humble caddy expects to garner them in lieu of a tip, satisfied for the great privilege of so close an association with the Fels Soap Fund and the great idealist who testified that he agrees with Dr. Equi, recently convicted of treason on five counts.

Theatrotic retirement! Perish the thought!

BOOK-KEEPER NOW TELLS OF TROUBLES Smith Had Been Going Down Hill Eight Years—Gains 17 Pounds By Taking Tanlac.

"This Tanlac has put me in shape to where I have gained seventeen pounds," said H. G. Smith, living at the Broad House, Butte, Mont., recently. Mr. Smith has been bookkeeper for the Treasury since for the past twelve years, and also owns a valuable ranch at Jefferson Island and is one of the best known and respected men in Montana.

"My stomach has given me so much trouble for the past eight or nine years," he continued, "that I was all the time trying something trying to get some relief. My food didn't seem to digest at all, and my stomach was in such a bad fix that if I leaned against my desk I would almost cry out with pain. I tried going without meats, and lived on a diet of the very lightest things, but neither that nor anything else helped me. Finally my back got so hurting me so across my kidneys, and I got so tired and worn out that I would have to lay off some days and rest up. I was troubled with constipation, and frequent headaches and lost weight until I got down to only one hundred and twenty eight pounds. I have always been a steady worker, but I had gotten to where I never felt like putting in full time so you may know I was a pretty sick man.

"When I saw about Tanlac in the papers I was feeling so miserable that I was ready to try anything there was a chance of giving me some relief. So I got a bottle and soon started up hill. Tanlac is sold in fishbowl by Hubbard Drug Co., in Mt. Angel by Jen Gooch, in Gervais by John Kelly, in Turner by H. P. Cornelius, in Woodburn by Lyman H. Shorey, in Salem by Dr. S. C. Stone, in Silverton by Geo. A. Steelhammer, in Gates by Mrs. J. P. McQuady and in Stayton by C. A. Beaulkamp, in Aurora by Aurora Drug Store. (Adv.)

NEW ISSUES BROUGHT OUT IN PRELIMINARY PEACE DISCUSSIONS

Proposed To Divide German Navy Among Allies.—United States Not Favorable.

By Fred S. Ferguson (United Press staff correspondent)

Paris, Nov. 30.—The pulse of international politics is visibly quickening as additional issues are cautiously brought out in the formal preliminary peace discussions. The principal new issue is the proposition to divide the German navy among the allies. The United Press is able to state on good authority that this would not be received favorably by the United States, which is not deviating from its course that it wants nothing out of the war. At the same time, the psychological effect on the world of such a division of boche implements of war would be that it was not in keeping with the ideals for which America fought, if the latter accepted a portion of the surrendered fleet.

The obvious object of the suggested division among the allied nations is that such distribution would result in increasing the combined bulk of the European navies to such an extent as veritably to dwarf the fleet of America which is entitled to maintain equal sea power in the League of Nations.

Colonel House will not attend the conference of allied leaders in London. His doctors have ordered him to remain in bed. The United States thus will be unrepresented at the meeting of allied premiers.

Paris Amazed

Paris newspapers are giving prominence to dispatches regarding the political furor which President Wilson's coming trip to France created in his own country. The fact that such an internal squabble could gain so much prominence at present is creating amazement in European circles. Here, the only question resulting from the president's trip is the selection, from the rush for applicants for representatives of all classes to welcome him formally.

The allied delegations will begin arriving next week. The British alone will number between 300 and 400, including experts on all subjects. The resultant shortage in hotel accommodations is acute.

Italy's King to France
King Victor Emmanuel of Italy is expected to reach Paris the middle of December. The crown prince of Serbia will be the next member of royalty to arrive.

Edwin Hurley is negotiating for the use of German and Austrian passenger ships to facilitate the transportation of the American army back home. He also is seeking to obtain enemy cargo ships to aid in providing food for the Czechs-Slovaks and other allied nations, which face a serious food crisis. Food shipments to the central powers will be handled when the blockade is lifted to avoid demands on allied shipping. To Cure a Cold in One Day Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE (Tablets). It stops the Cough and Headache and work off the Cold. Dr. W. GROVE'S signature on each box. 30c.
