REVENUE TAX FALLS HARD ON NORTH WEST

Loganberry Juice Industry Is Threatened By Tax On Soft Drinks.

Although the loganberry juice industry is but a small part of the fruit juice industry of the country, yet the fight against the proposed internal revenue tax of 20 per cent has fallen upon representatives of the northwest, rather than the vast grape juice industries of the east, according to word recently received from Washington, D. C.

Until a short time ago H. S. Gill was the only man in Washington to protest against the proposed tax on unfermented fruit juices. The big grape juice industries have not as yet presented any memoranda as to what effect the proposed increased revenue would have on their industries, and Mr. Gill has prepared a brief for the grape juice industry as well as for the loganberry.

Under the present internal revenue law, all soft drinks are taxed one cent each gallon. Loganberry and grape juice drinks are classed as soft drinks by a decision of the commissioner of internal revenue. The new internal revenue bill proposes to impose a tax of 20 per cent upon the selling value of all soft drinks. In most portions of the proposed new revenue bill, the new tax just doubles that already in force. But if loganberry juice is made to pay 20 per cent instead of the one cent a gallon, the increased tax would make it 32 times as large as the present revenue.

Mr. Gill shows that the tax would be heavier on the containers than of the juice itself. Out of a total tax of 97 cents that would have to be paid on a gallon of loganberry juice, 52 cents would be on the value of the bottles, cases and transportation and only 45 cents on the contents.

The apple juice industry is also threatened. Mr. Gill has filed an additional brief showing that the apple juice industry furnishes a market annually for from 5000 to 7000 tons of apples, the returns from which would be all lost to the apple growers.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well. My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal. If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.
