ALHOREN—At the Willamette Sanatorium, Dec. 10, 1918, after an illness of 24 hours, John Frederick Ahlgren, at the age of 20 years.

The funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the chapel of the Rigdon company. Services will be conducted by the Rev. John D. Woodfin and burial will be in the City View cemetery.

Mr. Ahlgren, whose home was at Waconda, had been working in a ship yard at Portland. Suffering from a severe attack of the influenza, and almost delirious, he left for his home and later was brought to the sanatorium.

It was on Oct. 25 of this year that a brother, Wilhelm E. Ahlgren, died of the influenza at Camp Lewis and was brought here for burial.

The Ahlgren family consisted of two brothers and two sisters who came to this country but a few years ago from Finland. They were all living on the W. A. Jones ranch near Waconda until a few weeks ago one of the brothers was inducted into the service and sent to Camp Lewis. The two surviving sisters, Tilda and Hilma Ahlgren now live at Waconda. The father and mother and a brother of the Ahlgren boys live in Finland.

SMITH—At the Salem hospital Monday Dec. 9, 1918, James Smith. But little is known of him as he was a recluse, living on the North Santiam. He is said to be a brother of Captain Baz Smith, the first man to run a steamer on the Willamette. He is supposed to have a sister living in Portland but as yet she has not been found and no funeral arrangements have been made.

The Cherry City bakery has an annual pay roll of $30,000, has an annual expense of $3500 for up keep of automobiles and pays $665 taxes each year. This information was given last evening at the Commercial club when the question as to whether the people should patronize home made bread or buy Portland bread through the wagon and peddler system. As to whether merchants of a city can and will stand together on any home industry problem, Mr. Wise, superintendent of the Cherry City bakery said it was impossible for any outside firm to sell bread in Corvallis, Eugene, Marshfield, North Bend or Roseburg. These towns patronized their own bakeries and grocers refused as a body to handle outside products.

A genuine bomb throwing contest will be put on at the armory Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock and the general public who may not be thoroughly posted as to the ins and outs of this war time exercise, is most cordially invited. The assurance is given that while the bombs are of the correct size, they are really dummies. This exhibition of throwing skill was brought about because the boys of company P, Captain J. H. Arnold, challenged company H, Capt. B. W. Simeral, to a contest. At the armory, instead of digging a trench chalk lines will be drawn on the armory floor to indicate a trench about three feet wide. Then every member of each company will be required to throw a bomb and scores will be made according to how many light in the imaginary trench.

It is not tonight but one week from tonight that citizens who have some ideas as to how the state should be run are invited to attend a meeting of representatives and senators from Marion county at room 478, Masonic Temple.

Information from counties of the state is wanted by the state highway commission as to whether the counties wish to cooperate with the commission in building roads and also at what points the counties would like to have them constructed. In a letter to the Marion county court, addressed to Judge W. M. Bushey, the commission states that in a general way it is familiar with the situation in the state but wants to know the exact condition of the individual county roads. The information is also given that the state highway commission will be unable to give any definite information at this time in regard to the road building plans for 1919.

In the suit brought by the city of Salem against J. H. Albert for foreclosure of certificate of delinquency for street improvement Judge G. G. Bingham yesterday entered judgment against the property for $495.15 with interest and costs. Mr. Albert did not contest the suit. The judgment is to be a lien on lots 1 and 2 of block 21 of University addition to Salem on South Winter street. The court ordered that the lien and judgment be foreclosed and proceeds of sale be applied on amount of judgment. Also that the city of Salem should have the right of purchase. An order was issued to the city marshal to proceed at once and advertise the sale according to law. It is understood that Mr. Albert will have the legal right to redeem or to begin suit to quiet title or to secure an injunction against the city marshal against the sale or he may let the city have the property. In such suits, the judgment is against the property only and not personally against the party involved.
