Nevertheless, the delays have not been proved to have been deliberately reated by the Grmans for th purpos of interfering with the allies and gain-ing an advantage for Germany. The continuance of the armistice period, therefore, is inevitable. The German army is no wat the mercy of Marshal Foch and is wholly unable to renew the war. The most it could do would be to engage in extensive rioting or in dess gurilla fighting. There is no evidence that the Germans are seriously conspiring to bring about any such sporadic protest, Coun-
