THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force. Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health. CAUTION - Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

REAL WORK IS DONE AT TRADES SCHOOL

E. E. Bergman In Charge Of Trades Metal School Tells Of Its Great Merit.

"Buy 1000 bricks, one barrel of lime and three-fourths of a yard of sand and teach the boy in the manual training school how to lay brick when he is 15 or 16 years of age. He cannot learn to handle the trowel properly after he is 22 years old. Bricklayers are getting $81 an hour. The work of the trades school of Salem is splendid but it should go further and teach the actual use of the trowel."

It was thus that Fred A. Erixon expressed himself last evening at the six o'clock club meeting of the First Methodist church in a general discussion of manual training following an address by E. E. Bergman who is in charge of the shop at the high school and Superintendent John H. Todd. As a contractor and builder Mr. Erixon uses and practices of experience. E. E. Bergman, in discussing the work of the trades metal school of Salem, said that one of the great values of such work is that about the time of life when the boy becomes unsteady, especially if he is not of a bookish mind, that the manual trades department takes him in hand and directs him in practical work. If a boy is to become a high class tradesman, he must begin his work when young and the only way to get this experience in school life is in the trades schools, said Mr. Bergman. Also that the shop at the high school was doing work up to its capacity and on

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Brush This Through Faded, Streaked Locks And They Become Dark, Glossy, Youthful.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound", you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost. Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this thru your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

business lines with from six to eight machines in operation. Heretofore the boys in the manual training department had been busy mostly in making knickknacks, he declared, such as tables, rockers, dressers, but now they were making parts of actual machinery that were sold to the Salem Iron works. As the boys know he is doing actual work, he becomes more interested in his work, he claimed.

Superintendent Todd said that some pupils were book minded and others were hand minded and that now the schools were able to care for the latter. The school system was originally laid out that the pupil might attend college, Mr. Todd said, but educators had found that the vast majority of pupils were not headed that way. Educators now acknowledge that a child with a mechanical turn is just as high minded as one of a bookish disposition.

There are very few schools in the United States that have trades schools actually making money and conducting its business as a business concern like that of the Salem trades school, said Mr. Todd. He thought Salem was fortunate in having a situation in the city that permitted the boys to do actual shop work and the shop be paid for whatever is turned out.

In regard to the domestic science course for girls, Mr. Todd felt that since the school owns the Holman property and house, that the girls would get practical work not only in cooking in large amounts for the school cafeteria, but in the practical cooking for the home. The Holman property cost the district $3250, but due to the Smith-Hughes act, the district will receive $1000 from the government for part of the teacher's salary in this work and about $300 this year for rent of rooms in the house. As the Smith-Hughes act requires that the work of girls be done in a separate house, the district would have been obliged to rent a home had not the Holman property been purchased.

As to the practical work of the girls, Mr. Todd said that formerly they just made samples of cooking and that the mothers were not inclined to think the students were getting much practical benefit. Now, with the Holman property and cafeteria, all this is changed, as the girls cook in amounts as large or larger than for an ordinary family, and if anything is not up to standard they are criticised.

In the remodeling of the Holman property, most of the work will be done by the students of the trades school and all of the interior decorations will be in charge of the girls of the domestic science department. In addition to cooking and serving meals, Mr. Todd said the girls were obliged to do all their own marketing and paying of bills and that in all the schools last year the income from all school cafeterias in the city amounted to $2200 while the outlay was $2020.

Linn county furnished 775 men for enlistment in the great war.

Nearly 200 members have been added to the Yakima Commercial club during the past few days.

Soldiers Adapted To Road Building Says Uhler

Chicago, Dec. 11.—The man who blazed a trail to the Rhine can build a road to the American farmer, highway construction makes an ideal vocation for the returned American soldier. Lieutenant Colonel W. E. Uhler, U. S. A., president of the American Association of State Highway Officials, today expressed this view. He is here for the fourth annual meeting of the association. "We will need men of fighting spirit. They will face a big job," Uhler said. "Engineers will be particularly useful. Army engineers know how to make real roads."

TROOPS ARRANGE TO CROSS RHINE FRIDAY

American And German Bridge-head Commissioners Are Holding Conferences.

(United Press staff correspondent) With the Americans on the Rhine, Dec. 10.—(By courier from Coblenz to Nancy).—While doughboys are patrolling Coblenz, the advance guards of the main force of the American army are nearing the Rhine on a front of fifty five miles. A cavalry detachment already has reached the river near Sinzig (twenty miles northwest of Coblenz.) The Thirty Second division (Michigan and Wisconsin national guard) is only a few miles away.

The American and German bridge-head commissions are holding conferences, in which details for crossing the Rhine on Friday are being arranged. German automobiles, bearing white flags and containing German officers with white arm bands, hurry about the city as the enemy prepares for the event. The bridgehead will be occupied by the First, Second, Third (all regular army) and Thirty Second divisions. The Fourth (regular army); Forty Second (Rainbow) and Ninetieth (Texas and Oklahoma national army) divisions, are marching toward the Rhine on Friday. The Second army is following thru Luxembourg.

The Germans have left such an enormous amount of material behind that it has not yet been inventoried. Townspeople in Coblenz are being treated to the unusual sight of both American and German soldiers guarding arsenals and storerooms, completely ignoring each other. The German civil guard began its withdrawal today, leaving the Americans in complete possession of the city. Doughboys off duty spend considerable time strolling in front of the former kaiser's summer home.

TO DEMAND LIMBURG

London, Dec. 11.—Belgian newspapers quote S. De-Hymans, member of the Belgian atrocity commission, as indicating Belgium will claim portions of Limburg and Luxembourg, lost in 1839, and will demand Holland's renunciation of monopoly of the Scheldt river at the peace conference.

TO DISCHARGE 100,000 SAILORS

Washington, Dec. 11.—The 100,000 navy men designated for discharge should be out of the service by the end of the year, according to the hope Secretary Daniels expressed today. Seventy four thousand more should be out by July next, he said, leaving the navy then on an enlisted strength of 350,000.

John Densmore Will Not Return To San Francisco

San Francisco, Dec. 11.—John B. Densmore believes the cards would be stacked against him by "professional convicts" if he returned to testify before the San Francisco grand jury. This was the statement John A. Mears, Portland attorney, made to District Attorney Flecker, principal figure in the ditaphone Densmore murder case on the Mooney case.

Mears, who is a life time friend of Densmore, said the latter never would return.

All the men in the naval unit at University of Oregon will apply for discharge and enter the University in January.
