Railroad Employes Will Face Bootlegging Charges

The capital issues committee has authorized the sale of $200,000 in bonds for reclamation work at Astona.

Bootlegging business took a chance at Salem last evening resulting in the arrest of F. G. Balter, a brakeman on one of the through S. P. trains, F. B. Cowles, conductor on the Falls City S. P. line, and the usual colored porter who figures so frequently in transfer-ring California booze to the thirsty of deputy sheriff Bert Smith.

From the evidence, it seems that the negro porter and the brakeman assisted in the transfer of the boose to the conductor of the Falls City line.

The brakeman put up $250 bond for his appearance for a preliminary trial while the Falls City conductor will return this afternoon and make his appearance. turn this afternoon and make his apacific had reached offseborg, Sheriff Needham had enough evidence to ask the authorities to hold the porter. He is now riding back to Salem instead of continuing his trip to San Francisco.

The trainmen claim they were just accommodating some friends in handling the unlawful stuff. This is the first become the same property to light in boollegging case brought to light in Marion county for several months. Sheriff Needham has the booze.
