COURT SUSTAINS ACT OF INJUNCTION OF I.N.C. FROM PIRATING NEWS

Associated Press Wins Suit Of Long Standing Against Hearst Papers.

Washington, Dec. 23.—In a decision that has far reaching effect on newspaper work, the Associated Press today won its case in the supreme court of the United States against Hearst's International News Service on the charge of pirating news.

The case was decided by a vote of five to three, Justice McKenna, Holmes and Brandeis dissenting and Justice Clarke taking no part in the decision.

The case grew out of alleged "piracy" by the I. N. S. of A. P. dispatches at Cleveland.

In dissenting Justice Holmes argued that the International News Service should be allowed to use A. P. news if due credit were given and if its publication were held up several hours, the number of hours to be decided by the courts.

Justice Brandeis argues that the whole question should be decided by the legislative branches of the government, asserting "there is no adequate law on the subject now."

Lower courts upheld the first two contentions and it was only on those points that the court decided today.

and it is evident that a valuable property interest in the news, as news cannot be maintained by keeping it secret.

"The service thus performed for newspaper readers is not only innocent, but extremely useful, in itself, and indisputably constitutes a legitimate business. The parties are competitors in this field; and on fundamental principles, applicable here as elsewhere, when the rights or privileges of the one liable to conflict of those of the other, each party is under a duty to conduct its own business as not unnecessarily unfairly to injure that of the other.

"Stripped of all disguises, the process amounts to an unauthorized interference with the normal operation of the complainant's legitimate business, precisely at the point where the profit is to be reaped, in order to divert a material portion of the profit from those who have earned it to those who have not; with special advantage to defendant in the competition because of the fact that it is not burdened with any part of the expense of gathering the news. The transaction speaks for itself and a court of equity ought not to hesitate long in characterizing it as unfair competition in business.

"The contention that the news is abandoned to the public for all purposes when published in the first newspaper is untenable.

"It is to be observed that the view we adopt does not result in giving to complainant the right to monopolize either the gathering or the distribution of the news, or without complying with the copyright act to prevent the reproduction of its news articles; but only postpones participation by complainant's competitor in the process of distribution and reproduction of news that it has not gathered.

"The habitual failure to give credit to complainant for that which it is taking is significant. Indeed, the entire system of appropriating complainant's news and transmitting it as commercial product to defendant's clients and patrons amounts to a false representation to them and to their newspaper readers that the news transmitted is the result of defendant's own investigation in the field.

"We are inclined to think a distinction may be drawn between the utilization of tips and bodily appropriation of news matter.

"The proofs as they now stand, recognize such a distinction; but parties avowedly recognize the practice of taking tips and neither party alleges it to be unlawful or to amount to unfair competition in business."

Street Fighting At Essen Is Reported From Zurich

Zurich, Dec. 23.—Bloody street fighting at Essen between the forces of the workmen's and soldiers' council and Spartacus was reported in a dispatch received today. There were many casualties. The Spartacides apparently were defeated.

Rioting started when leaders of a strike at the Bottor mine were arrested by agents of the workmen's and miners' soldiers' council.

The Spartacides obtained reinforcements, attacked the prison, released the comrades and imprisoned the soviet representatives.

Court Martial To Try Colonel Wolven Dec. 30

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 21.—A general court-martial to try Colonel Frank H. Wolven, ranking colonel at Camp Lewis, was ordered today to convene December 30. Colonel Wolven was arrested late yesterday by order of Major General Joseph D. Leitch, accused of collecting commutation for quarters, fuel and light to which he had no right under army regulations.

Colonel Wolven is a dental surgeon and has been in charge of all dental work at camp. Because of his position as a regular army colonel, it was found impossible to obtain sufficient officers of equal or higher rank to try him, and Brigadier General Edward J. McClelland and Peter W. Davison have been ordered here from Camp Kearny, Cal., to sit in the court.

Before coming to Camp Lewis Colonel Wolven was stationed at the Presidio, San Francisco.

Milton Cox Tells About Travels Over In Hawaii

Milton M. Cox, who is on the U. S. S. Monterey, stationed at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu, in a letter to his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cox, 2063 State St., Salem, tells of some of his travels in the Hawaiian Islands. He writes:

"We left Pearl Harbor, and went to Hilo, on the island of Hawaii and we sure had a fine time. It was the first man of war that has visited Hilo for two years and we were well treated by the people.

"They gave a dance and then a special train and all the men given liberty to go on special scenic trips along the coast. Then we went to see the big volcano about 38 miles from Hilo. The roads were very pretty and they made me think of Oregon with the big trees on both sides of the road.

"The extinct volcano of Kealakekua is 770 feet deep. The sides are just as straight as a wall and it sure is an awful feeling to look straight down 770 feet. Then we came to the big crater. At first all we could see was a field of smoke and black lava. We had to walk half a mile to the crater. The bed of the pit was 500 feet below us and it was just a stream of molten red hot rocks boiling like a pot of hot water. Believe me, if hell is as hot as that volcano, I never want to get out close again.

"New places would break out and the rocks from the crater would start down the side and hit the bottom. We stayed there until after dark and all we could see was a living mass of fire running just like water. We scorching ends over some of the hot rocks back away from the crater."

TURNER TO HAVE BIG SAWMILL

A deal of large magnitude was consummated last week wherein C. M. Miller of Aumsville was the purchaser of the large timber holdings of L. A. Turner that lies northwest of this city opposite the S. P. railroad.

Mr. Miller is dismantling his saw mills at Aumsville and Seio, the two to be moved here, constituting one large mill which will be situated about a mile north of town with trackage spur. He expects to begin cutting in about two months and expects to employ from 20 to 30 men. It is estimated that it will require about six years to cut all the timber.—Turner Tribune.
