who was chewing and swapping yarns with the men on the Post Office corner. "Have a chew," says he to Jake. Jake doesn't think he's chewing unless his cheek bulges out like he had the mumps. "Call that a chew?" he snorts. "Sure!" says the salesman. "This is Real Gravely. That small chew satisfies, and the longer you chew it the better it tastes. That's why it doesn't cost anything extra to chew this class of tobacco."

It goes further—that's why you can get the good taste of this class of tobacco without extra cost.

MEETING IN PORTLAND FOR RECONSTRUCTION CALLED BY GOVERNOR

Is Statewide Convention To Prevent Industrial Depression After War.

A statewide convention of representatives of those interests which are concerned in formulating a reconstruction program which will prevent industrial depression during the period of changing from a war to a peace basis has been called by Governor Withycombe in a proclamation issued yesterday afternoon. The convention is called to be held in the public auditorium in Portland on January 9, 10 and 11, 1919. The proclamation says:

"Inasmuch as the state of Oregon, in common with other states, is facing the vital problem and sacred responsibility of preventing industrial depression and unemployment during the period of reconstruction and readjustment from a war to a peace basis, and since it appears that only by devotion and the concerted application of the intelligence, experience and endeavors of our most able citizens and definite and desirable stimulus be given to the reclamation of arid swamp and logged over land, the development of water power, highway construction, and the maintenance of productive industry:

"Now, therefore, I, James Withycombe, governor of Oregon, do proclaim January 9, 10 and 11, 1919 as the dates of a reconstruction convention to be held in the public auditorium of the city of Portland, Oregon, and do most earnestly invite the attendance of the representatives of agriculture, manufacturing, labor, shipping and commerce, highway, for and dock commissions, business, civic and professional organizations, the mayors and other authorities of Oregon cities, county commissioners of Oregon, and all others who by their efforts and interest may contribute to the sum of the state's well-being."

DOUGHBOYS MAKERS CONTEND FOR PRIZE

Miss Elizabeth Bass Of New York Makes Strong Bid For Championship.

With the American army in France Dec. 5.—(By Mail.)—Since the great war is about settled, a new conflict threatens to break out over the question of what Y. M. C. A. woman coined the greatest number of doughnuts a day for distribution among the American troops who swept across France into Germany. A strong bid for the championship is made on behalf of Miss Elizabeth Bass, a member of the National Arts club, New York, now a canteen worker for the Red Triangle. Single handed she can mix and fry 5000 doughnuts a day, and with assistants can produce 10,000 in that span.

Miss Bass ought to effect maximum efficiency in the doughnut line with minimum equipment and minimum ingredients, because she ran a cafeteria before coming to France. Consequently her making of the crisp, savory doughnuts for which she is famous in her division, is no hit-or-miss affair, but the result of experience in practicing domestic science and of careful planning.

Scientific Cooking.

In the French village in which she was stationed she was able to find and commandeer an iron vat of mammoth proportions. Then she estimated how great a quantity of dough she needed to keep the vat working at its full capacity, and proceeded to make it. For the first few days she turned out only two or three thousand doughnuts. Later she produced single-handed 5000. . . . she was able to measure assistants, she carefully subdivided the job of assembling the flour, milk, shortening, and sugar, or its substitute, the mixing and popping into the sizzling fat; and together they fried 10,000 a day.

The doughboys are keeping careful records of the production of this doughnut factory. They say they're going to take them up in their kitchens at home. They are wondering if any one of their wives can make 5000 doughnuts a day. When they get home they are going to ask them anyway.

San Francisco Tong In Deadly Warfare

San Francisco, Dec. 25.—A squad of policemen are patrolling Chinatown today to prevent any further outbreaks of the tong war, following the killing last night of Gee Lip Chuck, Sin Suey Yens tongman.

Hing Gee, a Hip Sen tongman has been arrested charged with the crime. The murdered Chinese was standing against a telephone pole when it is alleged that Gee walked up to him, pointed a revolver at his head and pulled the trigger. Five shots were fired. Chuck fell over dead, his hands still thrust in his pockets. Gee was captured by police after a short chase.

The police are unable to account for the new tong outbreak.

BRUSH COLLEGE NEWS

The community was shocked last Tuesday morning over the news that Lillie Meyers had died of influenza at Summit, Or. Lillie spent Thanksgiving at home and was in the best of health. At the time of her death she was employed as telegraph operator at Summit, Or.

She was born in Portland, Or., July 22, 1896--died Oct. 16, 1918.

She came to Brush College district with her parents at the age of 11 years and graduated from Brush College at the age of 12 years. Taught two terms of school and then took a course in telegraphy from this school she graduated with honor after only studying four months. She stood head of her class, in a class of over six hundred students some of them with more than one year's schooling. She competed with and won first prize in the contest of spelling.

Lillie was a bright, ambitious girl. To know her was to love her. She leaves a lovely place in the home and the neighborhood. The sympathy of the neighborhood goes out to the family in the loss of a daughter and sister. And may God bless, sustain and keep them in our wish.

Never more to close in night. We shall hail the early token Of its everlasting light.

On that bright and blissful morn'g, Pilgrims rest, their journey o'er, Hunger, thirst and death and sorrow We shall know and part no more.

The parent-teachers' meeting was combined with the Christmas exercises of the children this month and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all who were able to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Smith and baby from St. Johns are with home folks at present. They were calling on the Wallace rans people Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stanton of Salem were in this vicinity Sunday afternoon hunting mistletoe.

Mrs. W. A. Bailey called on Mrs. Meyers Sunday afternoon.

PRATUM NOTES.

(Capital Journal Special Service.) Pratum, Or., Dec. 24.—Ellis Welty is very ill with pneumonia, following an attack of influenza.

Mrs. Joe Crahan of Mill City is visiting with relatives in this community.

Mrs. August Kufner is very ill at her home having suffered an attack of influenza.

The Misses Bertha Krebbel, Elsie Leisy and Linda Leisy, all pupils of the Salem high school, are home for a week of vacation.

Mrs. Maurer has been very ill during the past week. Her condition seems to grow no better.

Mrs. Worder and son of Salem are staying at the J. W. Welty home for a short time.

The Misses Florence and Lillie Steiner, who have been ill with influenza, are again able to be up and around.

The program planned for Tuesday evening at the Meannite church has been called off on account of the prevalence of influenza.

Mr. Ransdalen and Mr. Baumgartner canvassed to district for the Red Cross Christmas roll membership campaign.

The school will give a short program on Tuesday afternoon for the children and their parents. It was thought wisest not to give much of an entertainment.

Complaints are being received by postal authorities that letters have not been delivered to soldiers. If the writer would place the return address on the upper left hand corner of the envelope, then if the soldier cannot be located, the letter will be returned to the

The Most Joyous Yule-tide of the Ages

The war is over. Death and despair no longer stalk the battlefields of Europe. The sword has been sheathed and peace and good will prevails amongst men and nations. Right and justice have triumphed over brute force. Democracy has found its place in the sun and autocracy is forever discredited. The implements of war are being transformed into plowshares for use in peaceful, productive occupations.

Our boys of the cantonments and battlefields - are returning to their homes. Thousands of them, their work well done, are already here. Proud though they be of their part in the war, they are not nearly so proud as we are of them and of the work they have done so well.

Many of them will enjoy with us this Christmas festival--the most momentous of the ages--and we trust that for each and every one of us it will be not only a day of happiness and good cheer but also a day upon which we will consecrate ourselves to the unfinished task of making the world forever a safe place to live in.
