CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

JOHN DOE INDICTMENT EXPLAINS FEW POINTS IN INVESTIGATION

Marion County Grand Jury Submits "Presentment" Concerning Parole Selling

What facts are necessary to constitute a crime under the laws of Oregon in connection with parole selling at the state penitentiary?

This presentment stated that John Doe and Richard Doe, two guards at the prison, entered into a conspiracy with John Brown, a convict, to procure a parole or conditional pardon for him for $150.

The convict was sent up from Multnomah county in 1916 for 18 years for highway robbery. Twice he had been given a conditional pardon and each time he had violated the terms of his freedom and was returned to the prison.

The deal to obtain a parole or another pardon for him was made March 10, 1918, and two days later one of the guards wrote a letter to the governor, asking for a parole for the convict.

He declared that the act of using official position to obtain clemency for a convict for a compensation and regardless of merit would be an outrage against public decency and there could be two opinions about it, but the facts stated do not show this to have been done.

The foreman of the grand jury announced that the jury had not yet finished its work and the members returned to the jury room for further deliberations.

How The Office Of Police Matron Happened To Occur

Now that the police matron troubles are temporarily settled, it may be of interest to know how Salem ever happened to have a police matron.

When Dr. B. L. Steeves was mayor a fight came up in the council over the dog catcher. According to the best information, the annual report showed that the dog catcher had managed to capture three dogs during the year.

Some of the councilmen thought $600 a year a pretty high price to pay for a dog catcher that brought in only three dogs and the motion was made to abolish the office.

But there happened to be $600 in the budget for the coming year and the next question was as to how the money should be spent.

Mrs. Myra Shank served for two years when Jack Welsh was chief of police. Mrs. Sarah J. Dorsey succeeded and was matron during the Keyes administration until last October when she

PRIVATE HANSON IS IN CAMP HOSPITAL

Went Over The Top 5 Times Struck In Left Leg By Piece Of Shrapnel.

Private Leon Hanson, whose parents live at 180 Miller street, a well known Salem boy, who was reported in the casualty list as wounded in action, is now at the base hospital, Camp Lewis, Wash., according to information received from Sgt. Ernest Everhart Baker, former Salem attorney, now first sergeant of Motor Ambulance company 55 at Camp Lewis.

Private Hanson arrived at Camp Lewis New Year's eve from the east along with about 30 other convalescents from overseas. Included with the contingent was Sgt. Fred Kirk hill, also well known in Salem, unmarried, however, but a scarlet fever suspect and in temporary quarantine, awaiting the outcome of his case.

Private Hanson was injured on the fourth day of the big drive of the Yanks at Soissons, his injury occurring on his fifth time over the top. For the past four months he has been in a Paris hospital as a result of his injury, which is a compound fracture of the leg, and as a result of being struck by shrapnel.

Hanson enlisted at Seattle, Wash., July 14, 1917, in the 161st infantry. Soon after his enlistment he was assigned to the 41st or Golden West division, and after about six months training was ordered overseas. He was out of the U. S. one day less than one year. He sailed on the President Lincoln which was sunk on the voyage immediately succeeding the one which took him over.

Four months were spent in training in France, and then four months more on guard duty, and intensive training in France, and four months in the hospital.

The biggest story he has to tell is that he was a member of I Co. of the 26th infantry, which with another company captured a dugout containing a thousand living and thoroughly cowed Boches. His address is Ward 83, Base Hospital, Camp Lewis.

WESTERN MEN BACK

round, you know. "And so, explained Colonel Faneuf, "the California field artillery regiment had to come home."

The 143rd had just completed its scheduled course of training, and had been assigned to the first army, the combat army of the United States forces, the week prior to the signing of the armistice. As a motorized 75 millimeter regiment, it was momentarily expecting to go into action when the war ended.

"If these men coming back work one half as well in civilian life as they have worked for me," Colonel Faneuf told the United Press proudly, they may be strictly 100 per cent investments for their employers.

"They are coming back clearer in mind and body." The last unit of the 65th field artillery brigade, of which the 143rd was a part, reached New York today.

The California Grizzlies, the 144th F. A., were not on those trains. They will follow in the course of a week or ten days.

The only Grizzly on the train was Major B. I. Bentley of San Francisco, adjutant of the 65th field artillery brigade. Bentley was one of the officers who got opportunity to go to the front.

weeks. Am now on my way back to my company. "The camp where I am now located feeds about 8,000 a day at the rate of 1000 per hour through one kitchen. There is sure some system to that."

"This country is becoming Americanized fast. They have full American trains now run by Americans. The capacity of a French box car is about 4 to ten tons while the U. S. cars are three times as large."

Returned Heroes Speak Right Up In Australia

Melbourne, Australia, Dec. 1.—(By Mail)—The men who represented Australia in the war are not going to be haphazard about asking for what they consider their rights when they get back.

An indication of what may be expected in this line is contained in demands formulated by the Returned Soldiers' and Sailors' Imperial league. This organization has about 3,500 members. It demands:

That all property and money owned by German-born persons in Australia be confiscated.

That returned men and dependents of fallen men be freed from taxation on income derived from personal exertion for 5 years.

That men from the fighting forces be selected to represent the commonwealth at the peace conference.

That fit men employed at home by the defense department be replaced by returned warriors.

Roy Kelly Tells About French Towns Being Americanized

"I was sick as hell on the boat when I came across the Atlantic, and I feel the fish considerable."

When Private Roy O. Kelly of the hospital center in France is sick, he doesn't mind writing his father in expressive English language just how he felt about it. In telling of his sea voyage he writes in part as follows:

"We were 13 days at sea. While crossing the English channel we sighted two submarines but were well protected by submarine chasers. We stayed two days at Lellavre for rest and then went to a little town called Bény in southern France. We stayed there until late in September, when I was transferred from my old company and went into the Argonne forests with them. There I got a taste of the Boche shell fire which sure was hell on that front."

Had influenza. "I was stricken with influenza while in the lines and then taken to a hospital and then to another hospital where I was for six

THE MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL DISEASES

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Danger is in sight. Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back, wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are given your system.
