Enforcement of the law as to dogs running at large brought tears to a Japanese family yesterday.

The dog catcher in his rounds of picking up stray canines, happened to gather in a dog and pup belonging to a Japanese family. Along towards noon a Japanese boy about eight years old appeared at the office of Judge Busby about the time the judge and commissioners were deep in the affairs of changing a country road. The little Jap told his troubles saying that the dog was a good mother dog and that the pup was a fine dog to play with and that his mother needed both of them to watch the back door.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog, you must help them flush out the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then set fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

COUNCIL SHOULD GO ON JOB JANUARY 1

It is So Provided In Charter Amendment Passed At Election Held May 17, 1918.

While Mayor Walter E. Keyes and the old city council are still supposed to be on the job and caring for the interests of the city until next Monday evening, attention has been called to the fact that the terms of the mayor and old councilmen really expired Jan. 1.

At the election held May 17, 1918, a proposed charter amendment was voted on by the electors of the city and passed. And having passed, became a law.

Section 5 of the proposed charter amendment includes some very plain statements regarding the time when the executive officers of the city as well as aldermen shall assume the duties of their offices after election. The section reads in part as follows: "The aldermen shall be elected for a term of four years, and the other elective officers shall be chosen for a term of two years, beginning January 1 next after their election."

The old city charter relative to when aldermen should take office, which is superseded by the amendment passed May 17, 1918, merely provides that the terms shall be for two years, and does not specify when they shall be sworn in. According to the custom of years, the new council has been organized the first Monday in January.

However, as Mayor Keyes and the old administration is in accord with Mayor C. E. Albin and the new council on the main question of the day—that of the ban on public meetings—the opinion has been expressed that it does not make a radical difference who is running the city's affairs for the next few days, or whether the old council is in or out.

COUNTY GRAND JURY RECOMMENDS LAWS TO COVER PAROLE CASE

Also Would Prohibit Everyone But Wardens From Soliciting Paroles.

As existing laws do not provide for the punishment of the reprehensible conduct of some of those connected with the penitentiary that has come to the attention of the Marion county grand jury, which investigated that institution, the jury today, in a final report, recommends that laws be passed to reach such offenses.

The jury also would break the influence which it found that Parole Officer Joseph Keller wields over Governor Withycombe by having a law passed which would prohibit anyone connected with the prison, except the warden and deputy warden, from soliciting paroles or pardons from the governor or the parole board.

Another recommendation is that a law be passed prohibiting all officers and employees from receiving or agreeing to receive money, gratuities, etc., from prisoners, including those on parole, or from anyone else in their behalf.

Two indictments were returned by the jury, but as the persons indicted are not yet under arrest no information would be given out as to the nature of the charges.

The grand jury reaffirms the charges it made in its first report, which placed the blame for the turmoil and trouble and unbusinesslike management of the prison upon the governor and Parole Officer Keller. It says those who have made newspaper denials of the findings of the grand jury have made statements contrary to their sworn testimony before the jury. The jury's report says:

"Your grand jury would respectfully report that since filing our previous report, several matters therein have been called to our attention by interested parties, through statements in the public press and otherwise. All of these matters have again been given careful consideration. The evidence previously submitted by various state officers, public employes, expert accountants and a number of private citizens, as well as some prisoners, has been carefully considered, and fully warrants the findings herein. Several of those concerned have made statements credited to them by the press at variance with their sworn testimony before us, and we are constrained to confirm our report on their sworn testimony before us rather than on their unsworn newspaper statements.

Steps Already Taken by the parties concerned to remedy some of the matters called to their attention by the report, particularly as the same pertains to the money belonging to the prisoners' loan fund and to the establishment of a more comprehensive system of cost accounting, as well as some other matters.

Your grand jury recommends legislation prohibiting all officers and employes from receiving or agreeing to receive money, gratuities, etc., from prisoners, including those on parole, from prisoners, including those on parole, from anyone else in their behalf, or from anyone else on their behalf, and prohibiting anyone connected with the penitentiary, other than the warden or deputy warden, from soliciting paroles or pardons from the governor, or the parole board, for the reason that existing laws do not provide for the punishment of the reprehensible conduct of some of those connected with the penitentiary that has come to the attention of this grand jury."
