On account of the uncertain conditions regarding the influenza, the automobile show scheduled to begin January 15 at the semory has been postponed. Lee Gilbert who has been in active charge of the show, states that it will undoubtedly be held when conditions justify. About all Salem dealers had reserved space and everything pointed to a most successful auto show. The reservation will remain and announcement will be made of the postponed date.

Mrs. F. A. Elliott, in charge of the sewing department of Willamette chapter announces that beginning tomorrow the sewing rooms at the postoffice will be open from 1:30 until 4 o'clock each afternoon. The Red Cross has received several large allotments and as the time is drawing near when they must be sent in, it is asked that women who can and will give the time to this most deserving work, come to the post office building of afternoons to help.

Reports were on the street yesterday afternoon and this morning that O. E. Price of the Price Shoe company had died from influenza, all of which were after a running fight through the streets with the military police, as were the other two holdups.

Henry James a private in company L. 70th infantry, who joined in the fight against the robbers, is in the base hospital in a critical condition. He was wounded in the side.

During the fusillade one of the robbers made his escape into the woods. After a posse of police had surrounded him he gave himself up late this afternoon. He was found to be slightly wounded.

All the money was recovered.
Red Cross memberships for Willamette chapter, now number 9,000 for Marion county alone. As state headquarters have placed a quota of 6,500 for both Marion and Polk counties, those interested in the Red Cross are jubilant over the membership showing in this county. As yet Polk county has not reported its memberships during the last drive.

The body of Mrs. I. H. VanWinkle arrived yesterday evening from Colorado Springs, accompanied by I. H. VanWinkle, assistant attorney general. The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the chapel of the Rigdon company, and will be conducted by the Rev. R. N. Avison, pastor of the First Methodist church, and Dr. Carl Gregg Doney. The services will be private.

'Buy a mule or a horse and give it to a discharged soldier.' This is the slogan suggested by some literature put out from Camp Lewis advertising the sale of 1950 head of government mules. For those who are interested in the proposition it may be said that at Camp Lewis January 10, the government will offer for sale at auction 3000 head of horses and mules. All are in fine condition but the close of the war finds the government not in need of so much livestock.

Within the past year there has been a wonderful awakening of interest in the culture and growing of English walnut, according to R. H. Van Trump county agriculturalist. It was a surprise to many growers that already in Marion county alone there are 1000 acres planted to English walnuts. Many orchards of prunes throughout the county are already planted to walnuts and many tracts of loganberries. The walnuts are planted about 40 by 40 and in rich soil 50 by 50. Growers figure that within ten years a walnut orchard with but few trees will be the best of paying interests.

Tomorrow mornin' the sun will rise at 7:30 o'clock, according to the best of drug store almanacs and after that for three days it will appear above the horizon one minute earlier. Then for another three days it will rise at 7:28 o'clock and then for a while about every other day it will appear one minute earlier, all of which indicates the days are getting longer. The sun will set at 4:44 o'clock tomorrow and thereafter will keep on setting a minute later until on Jan. 31 its time to disappear below the horizon is 5:12 o'clock. The family almanac states that from the 8th to the 12th of January it will be generally fair and mild in the far west.

Notwithstanding all kinds of prophecies regarding the weather, the official thermometer insists on recording a pretty low temperature each night for the Willamette valley. The last seven night of this year the low temperatures have been 20, 22, 23, 21, 21 and 25 while for last night it was again 25 above with a temperature of 31 at 6 o'clock this morning. The river rose about three inches last night and is now one foot above zero.

A sure cure for the influenza is suggested, coming from the east where the informant said he had been most successful and by request is submitted. It is as follows: Cut eight or nine onions into small pieces; cover with water; boil 15 or 20 minutes, stir well, add rice meal or flour to make a poultice; put into 1 1/2 pie tins; apply while hot to one part and then the other while hot to the chest. Our informant says this remedy has been most successfully used in Salem.

The question as to what kind of a memorial should erect for its soldiers who have fallen in battle, and for those who have done such valiant service was brought up at the meeting of the city council last evening. Alderman W. A. Wiest thought something should be done along these lines. Mayor C. E. Albin referred the matter to the parks committee, J. S. Austin chairman and the ways and means committee, W. A. Wiest chairman.

E. L. Matthews, formerly director of physical training for Willamette university, and the man who brought the Willamette "Bear Cats" into prominence as foot ball players, has returned to the university and will take up his work at the beginning of the school term.

The Portland market reports give the cheering news that England is in such need of hops that the price has run as high as 37 1/2 to 40 cents a pound. Also the news not quite so cheering that there are practically no hops now sold in the state. When the bulge came on prices, most of the Oregon men sold out at about 30 cents.

Dr. R. D. Byrd, who is now in Belgium with the American forces, writes his Elk friends here that all the boys over there are anxious to come home. As the doctor is the father of the first Salem Elk war baby, at a meeting of the lodge Nov. 13 Secretary Wiedmer was instructed to offer congratulations to the parents. In a letter dated Dec. 11, 1918, Dr. Byrd writes: "We are all anxiously awaiting the day of departure for home. Our present location is near Ypres. It is sure some desolate country. Our billets are in an old English camp and are constructed of corrugated iron. Not so bad except for mud. It is worse than the famous

PERSONS WHO HAVE HAD FLU MAY BE OBLIGED TO WEAR "FLU BADGE"

The wearing of a badge or button by those who have been afflicted with influenza or any other contagious disease, was included in one of the recommendations of Mayor C. E. Albin, in the emergency ordinance passed last evening.

The principal business transacted at the first meeting of the new council last evening was the passing of the ordinance relative to what should be done to fight influenza. The ordinance provides that the mayor and city council shall be constituted as a board of health, with authority to close all schools, churches, theaters, lodges, public halls and other places where people congregate.

The ordinance also provides that the council shall have authority to limit the time people may linger at stores, depots or at any place. The new slogan in Salem is now "Move On."

While no ordinance has as yet been passed compelling the wearing of a badge or button on a conspicuous place on the clothing by those who have had the flu, the ordinance passed last evening gives the council authority to enforce such a law.

The council will also have authority to promulgate sanitary rules governing confectionery stores, restaurants, hotels and places where soft drinks are sold or the time any patron may linger. The penalty for conviction is a fine of from $5 to $100 or a jail sentence of from three to 30 days.

Flinders mud. I saw Martin Viecko and W. D. Sater. Both are well. Dr. Lewis, formerly of Silverton got hit in the leg the last time we went in and hasn't returned from the hospital.

No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral services of Mrs. G. L. Stainau. Mr. Stainau and the two children are both in the hospital suffering from the influenza.

Since the city was closed Dec. 30, 245 cases of influenza have been reported to Dr. O. B. Hedges, health officer. In some instances several are sick in the same family and in one case the whole family of six are ill from the flu. Many cases have been taken down the past day or so and it is thought that the total number of cases will now number about 300.

As the Salem hospital board must seek new quarters at once, a meeting was called this morning at the Commercial club to discuss locations. John H. Todd, superintendent of the city schools, A. A. Lee, chairman of the executive board of the Salem hospital, Henry M. Meyers, Mayor C. E. Albin and Miss Grace Taylor were among those present talking over the situation. There was some discussion of McKinley school as a desirable building for the hospital but nothing definite was done.

The work of Willamette chapter, Red Cross is now greater than for several months on account of what it is doing to aid in fighting the influenza. Through the efforts of Henry W. Meyers, chairman of Willamette chapter, aided by others interested, the building adjoining the Salem hospital, owned by the city and county, was secured for influenza cases that require special attention. From Seattle were secured three graduate nurses who are in charge with others. The women of the surgical dressings department of the Red Cross have been sewing this week on sheets, pillow cases and mattresses for this emergency hospital. The Red Cross has given from its supply of quilts and pillows.

Several rural schools have closed the past week, just to be on the safe side of the influenza proposition. These include Witzel, Liberty, Salem Heights, Turner, Woodburn, Silverton, Rosedale and Jickey schools.

One of the many good works being done by the Red Cross is that of helping materially in the present emergency when nurses are so badly needed for sickness. Red Cross headquarters has done much in placing nurses through both the head office and through the Social Service section. Seven cases have been placed in the emergency hospital through the Red Cross and within the past week 32 nurses have been supplied to those who were unable to find nurses qualified. Those who are capable of nursing are asked to notify the Red Cross headquarters. Three graduates offering their service will work with the three graduates.

The supreme court, in handing down an opinion today confirming the conviction of C. L. Busick, a druggist of Union, for violating the prohibition law by selling "Bitter Herb Tonic," held that a person employed by the district attorney to purchase liquor as a means of gaining evidence, is not an accomplice and his testimony is admissible as evidence.

This interpretation of the prohibition law is considered to be the most important opinion touching upon the liquor question that has been handed down by the Oregon court since the state went dry.

Attorney General Brown was very much elated over the opinion, and declared that he had been working for a long time to gain such an interpretation of the law.

"The crime charged against the defendant is the sale of intoxicating liquor," says Justice Johns, who wrote the opinion, "and the record is conclusive that the prosecuting witness was employed to make the purchase for the purpose of appearing as a witness against the defendant, but there is a very marked difference between the legal status and liabilities of a seller and those of a purchaser. While it is true that a sale cannot be made without a purchaser, it is also true that under the statute the crime is in the sale of intoxicating liquor and not in the purchase. The whole purpose and intent of the prohibition enactment was to prevent and punish the sale of intoxicating liquor, and as it fails to make the purchase of such liquor an indictable offense, we hold that Wolf, as a purchaser, was not an accomplice of the defendant as a seller."

"Having suffered from nervous indigestion for several years, I find after using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin that I am as well as I ever was and can now eat anything without fear of consequences." (From a letter to Dr. Caldwell written by Mrs. John K. Moore, 516 No. 27th St., Richmond, Va.)

Indigestion and constipation are conditions closely related and the cause of much suffering. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild, pleasantly effective laxative; it quickly relieves the intestinal congestion that retards digestion and has been the standard household remedy in countless homes for many years.

HOME MADE TEA FOR CONSTIPATION

Is used by entire families because it is purely vegetable, does the work and costs very little.

Why pay high prices for Liver and Bowel remedies when none are better than Dr. Carter's K. and B. Tea, which is purely vegetable, can be brewed at home, and a small package will last a long time.

Thousands of old people will tell you they have been drinking it for years, and after the liver and bowels have been put in fine condition in a few days by a before bedtime cup, that only an occasional cup is afterwards necessary to keep one feeling fit and fine.

State House Notes

Fred G. Buchtel was elected chairman of the public service commission, at a meeting of the commission held in Portland yesterday afternoon Frank J. Miller, whose term of office expires Monday, had been chairman.

Labor Commissioner C. H. Gram is holding a conference this afternoon with his field deputies. Policies are being outlined and the deputies will be assigned to their respective districts.

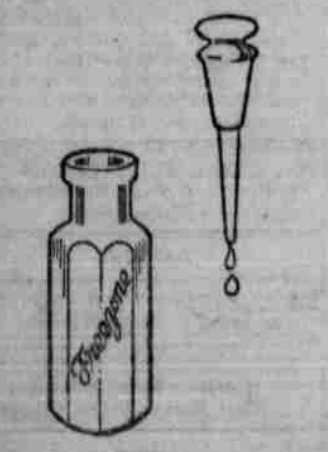

A meeting of the state desert land board is being held this afternoon to consider the contract negotiated between the Central Oregon Irrigation company and the Central Oregon Irrigation district. The contract provides for the district to take over the company's irrigation project in central Oregon for a consideration of $200,000. The district will get about 4000 acres of unsold land and the operating and personal property of the company, besides clearing up a long standing controversy between the company and water users. Attorney Claude C. McCullough of Portland is here representing the district, while Attorney Jesse Hearns, secretary of the company, is here for the company.

The city has lost its case tried a short time ago in the U. S. court of appeals in San Francisco, wherein the city appealed from the U. S. district court in Portland. This is the case in which a public service commission raised the hydrant rate for Salem from $1.82 to $2.50 while for consumers the rate was lowered. The city brought suit against the commission. The news received today means that the city loses definitely. William P. Lord and City Attorney Macy represented the city before the U. S. circuit court of appeals in San Francisco. Mr. Macy has not been officially notified.
