BERGER FOUND GUILTY OF ESPIONAGE TODAY

Judge Landis In His Instructions, Said Conspiracy Constitutes Guilt.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Victor L. Berger, socialist from Wisconsin, was found guilty of violating the espionage act in the federal court here today.

Four socialist co-defendants with Berger, also were found guilty. The case went to the jury at 11 o'clock this morning. The verdict was reached after five hours and 45 minutes deliberation.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—The case of Victor Berger, congressman-elect from Wisconsin, and four socialist co-defendants, charged with espionage act violations, went to the jury here at 11 a. m. today.

In his instructions to the jury, Judge Landis declared the defendants had a right to entertain, publish, speak and write their views on the war from economic, political, religious standpoints, so long as they did not attempt to conspire to interfere with the military and naval operations of the government.

"If you find these men guilty," he told the jury, "you must find they acted in bad faith and encouraged disloyalty or incited opposition to the operation of laws for the conduct of the war."

There can be no conspiracy unless there is an action taken in carrying out plans against the government. There is no conspiracy unless two or more of the defendants took part and then it must be shown the third acted in carrying out plans of the other two.

The espionage act was passed to prevent hindrances to the successful operation of the war. If the defendants acted with a common purpose of cooperation in hindering the war and the conspiracy is proved by an open action, they must be found guilty. There must be no substantive charges accepted.

American Workers Voted To Go On Strike Tomorrow

New York, Jan. 8.—Delegates of the American workers affiliation here today voted to go on a strike at six a. m. following announcement of the war labor board that the board could make no decision in the controversy effecting workers in this port.

"The affiliation has 15,000 members, a statement said. The strike will tie up every ferry boat on other tide water craft." Serious consequences are feared.

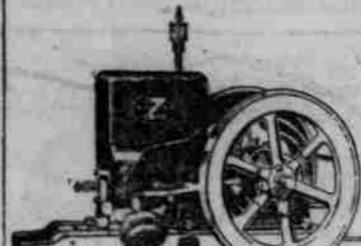

Incoming and outgoing shipments of grain, coal, and other supplies here will stop, the statement continued. "This includes livestock and perishable beef coming in here from the west. It will practically congeal and paralyze all the railroad terminals in this port. Ocean liners will be unable to leave or dock at the port. The shipment of needed supplies overseas will halt." The strike order exempted boats owned by the government which carry sick and wounded from transports to base hospitals. The order probably will halt incoming transports with thousands of men aboard.

COUNCIL DETERMINED THAT FLU SITUATION BE QUICKLY IMPROVED

Health Committee Now Has Authority To Enforce All Closing Rules.

At an emergency meeting of the city council called today noon by Mayor C. E. Albin, a resolution was passed giving the health committee authority to handle the influenza situation.

The resolution passed gives the committee on health, authority to close all schools, churches, lodges, or places of public gatherings and to also call on the police to enforce the law regarding loitering or the assembling of people at any one place.

There was some discussion as to whether the Capital business college should be exempted from the general rule and whether the resolution should read schools or private schools. On a unanimous vote the council decided no business college should be exempted from the order and that the word "school" meant schools of all kinds, and none should be exempted.

City Physician Pemberton said that the influenza was about stationary. That while 42 new quarantine cards had been issued this morning about that number were entitled to be removed. In all, it is estimated that about 350 houses are under modified quarantine.

Mayor Albin expressed himself in favor of taking all necessary means to fight the influenza and in his efforts he is seconded by the city council.

Dr. F. L. Utter, chairman of the health committee, said that the ordinance regarding health would be strictly enforced and that no one will be allowed out on the streets who has had the flu until ten days after temperature.

The council showed a determined effort to take every precaution necessary and if conditions do not improve within the next week or ten days, there is a feeling that a stricter quarantine should be enforced and that the town be closed down tight to everything excepting banks, post office, drug stores, markets and groceries.

J. E. Hutchinson, a traveling man from New York was taken suddenly ill yesterday at the Marion hotel, suffering from heart trouble. Through the efforts of Henry W. Meyers, a friend, he was admitted to the Salem hospital. This morning he died, having failed to recover from his first attack. Mr. Meyers telegraphed his home in New York city and is endeavoring to do all that can be done under the circumstances.

DEMONSTRATIONS BY ENGLISH TROOPS HAVE A SINGULAR MEANING

Are Expected To Have Important Effect On Peace Conference.

By Lowell Mellett (United Press staff correspondent)

London, Jan. 8.—The motive behind the demonstration by British soldiers and sailors in favor of speedy demobilization is the determination to have actual peace as soon as possible.

These demonstrations, which were continuing in some parts of England today are expected to have an important effect on the peace conference. If there is any imperialistic attempt in the face of the peoples' desire to exceed the terms of the armistice—particularly in the amount of indemnity—it appears to be destined to failure.

Authoritative announcements that the government has no intention of dispatching a large force to Russia were expected to allay in some degree the widespread impatience against delay in demobilization.

Military authorities declared that the speed of demobilization is increasing steadily.

Demonstrations against delayed demobilization have spread to the British navy, the Pall Mall Gazette declared today.

A Royal dispatch to the newspaper said that a number of crews of the sweepers refused to put to sea Friday, demanding increased wages or immediate demobilization.

City Attorney B. W. Macy today received official notice that the city had lost in its case before the U. S. circuit court of appeals at San Francisco but has not as yet received a transcript of the opinion handed down. It is the case of the Salem Water Light and Power Co. against the city of Salem over a hydrant rate in which there is about $12,000 due the water company. When the public service commission raised the hydrant rate from $1.82 to $2.50 the city refused to pay, but did tender the $1.82 per hydrant. The water company refused to accept and later sued the city. The case has been dragging along several years. It was first tried in the United States court for the district of Oregon, in Portland, and the city lost. On appeal it was taken to the U. S. circuit court of appeals, where the city lost the second time. The city may petition for a rehearing or it may appeal to the supreme court of the United States at Washington, D. C. The judges who decided the case against the city are Judge William B. Gilbert of Portland;

Judge William H. Hunt of Helena, Montana, and Judge M. Ross of Los Angeles.
