PEACE DISCUSSIONS BEING CRYSTALLIZED

Russia To Receive Early Consideration—Blockade Question To Be Settled.

By Fred S. Ferguson
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Paris, Jan. 11.—Discussion of the League of nations were getting to a point today where an understanding had been reached on several important phases, particularly between Great Britain and the United States. It was understood that some points were even down in black and white.
Lord Cecil, British under secretary for foreign affairs, and British authority on the League of nations, is a frequent caller at the American offices. Other prominent backers of the league also spend much time at the Hotel Crillon.
Plans for the league of nations, together with the proposal for removing some of the blockade restrictions on the central powers and Russia are expected to furnish the chief topics for discussion at next week's conferences. The arrival of Premier Lloyd-George today brought all representatives of the four big powers together here.
All plans are centered on taking up the actual peace work as soon as possible.
Herbert Hoover is continuing his study of conditions in central Europe. His recommendations doubtless will have an important bearing on the proposition of easing off on the blockade when extension of the armistice is again brought up.
In the meantime Russia also will receive early consideration. The American viewpoint has been expressed by President Wilson who said our treatment of Russia will be the acid test of our good intentions.

New Elgin Six

"They copied all they could follow, but they couldn't copy my mind, And I left 'em sweating and stealing a year and a half behind."
—KIPLING

FOR eighteen months—while our factories were building war trucks—the Designing, Engineering and Executive Staffs of the Elgin Motor Car Corporation were preparing for peace and reconstruction.
They designed, tested, refined and perfected an entirely new automobile—new in design from radiator to tail light—a car that retains the notable sturdiness and light weight which won for the Elgin Six perfect scores and highest honors in every one of the many gruelling endurance and economy contests it entered during the past three years.
New Elgin Six cars have received many thousands of miles of the most strenuous and exacting trials under every conceivable condition, and have more than satisfied our highest expectations.
The car buyer of today is confronted with a choice of three purchases. He can choose a before-the-war model, or a hastily designed and hurriedly constructed car, or the New Elgin Six—a car that looks and acts the Motor Thoroughbred you would expect from an organization of master motor car men—men whose past achievements have given them leadership in the industry.
Write for literature describing and illustrating the 36 improvements and refinements which have placed the New Elgin Six a full year and a half ahead. Ask for Bulletin No. 36, containing Inside Car Information in terms you readily understand.

War Has Made Men Of American Boys

France, Dec. 2, 1918.
My Dear Parents:—I will write you a few lines tonight in answer to your letter which I received today and I was very glad to hear from you. I think I have got every letter that you addressed to the convalescent camp, for I have been getting letters pretty regularly lately, and I want to tell you it has made a different fellow of me, for I was sure glad to know you were all well. I got eleven letters from you one day, and one from the Hubbard Red Cross. We so glad to hear from you, and also the Red Cross. It was very thoughtful of them to think of me, for I had supposed the people of Hubbard were a little down on me, seeing that I was such a tough nut there in Hubbard. Well, they will probably be surprised to find that I am a different fellow when I come back, for I can see now what a big change it has made in me to some over here and battle with the Boche. I can say for myself that it has made a man of me, and I also can say that this war has made a man of many a boy who came over here and went through it without getting hurt very bad. Another thing, it made many a man acquainted with God, for it made very many boys pray if they never did before, on account of those big shells whistling over and bullets of all description coming at him.

Well, you told me of getting a letter from Ben Casto and also from me, and you also told me of the letter coming with photos, one of Mrs. Coe and baby and one from Ben Casto.
Well, it has been raining for two or three days here and never lets up to get a breath; it has just been pouring. This is the funniest climate I ever saw. One day it will be so cold you can hardly go outside and the next day it will be raining very hard.
Well, I suppose I will soon be out of here. The war is over and I can't see what they want with a man that can't work. I am one man that can't do any work, so I can't see what they can do with me here. I won't be any good to them so I think they will soon be sending all convalescent patients home before they send any of the rest. Well I am feeling pretty good, I have not been in for a headache.
Well, will close for tonight.
Your ever loving son,
NORMAN E. OWINGS

Hubbard Creamery Company Prosperous

A 7 per cent dividend was declared at the directors' meeting of the Hubbard Creamery company Wednesday afternoon. At the conclusion of reports it was easy to see that the institution was one of which all had reason to be proud. In the past five years it has successfully gone through all the stages of development to which all business is subjected and at this meeting the evidence was produced showing that by careful treatment of all patrons the business for the year past had been very much larger than any previous year. In addition it was noted that $10,000 worth of butter had been bought from other parties to help fill orders that could not be filled from the Hubbard territory. The average price paid for butter fat for the year was 55 cents, percent quotation 70 cents.
The capital stock was increased from $10,000 to $15,000 to handle the feed business lately acquired from Hersberger Bros.—Enterprise.

HUBBARD SCHOOL OPENS.

At a meeting of the school board on Monday night it was decided to open school next Monday, January 13th. The school building will be warmed, furnished and put in the best possible condition, and to overcome a chill of the building of the past six weeks, fire will be started in the furnace Friday of this week. So far as is known at this time all members of the faculty will be ready to welcome their pupils with the exception of Miss Lois Simms, who has been very sick the past month, and is now slowly recovering. The board recognizes the seriousness of the situation from the standpoint of loss of the school year and of health conditions and will appreciate a hearty co-operation of the parents while passing through this period.—Enterprise.

Hays Has Authority To Begin G.O.P. Campaign

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Will H. Hays today has authority to start the republican campaign of 1920, when, where, and how he chooses. This authority was voted him here by the national republican committee, adjourned today until December.
Hays' authority was voted him in a resolution permitting him to name an executive committee and such other committees as may be necessary. The first step expected is the establishment of headquarters at Chicago.
The national committee listened to a report by Hays, said to deal with democratic party methods of running the war. It was not made public.
Aside from eulogies of Colonel Roosevelt and proposals for a permanent memorial to him, the session was remarkable for:
Seating two women as members; demanding adoption of the federal suffrage amendment.

Captain Elkins was formerly chaplain of the Third Oregon troops. He will begin duties here sometime within the next month.
An annual rental of $53,003.437 is provided in the government contract with the Pennsylvania system.
