Notes From The House Of Representatives

For the first time in the inauguration of a governor, singing was part of the program. By special request of Governor Withycombe the Star Spangled Banner was sung by Mrs. Hallie Farish Durdall.

The house is in favor of woman suffrage and the motion that a memorial be presented to congress favoring universal suffrage was passed without a dissenting vote.

Senator Ira Smith of Coos county who 24 years ago escorted Governor Pendergast from his office to the house of representatives for inauguration had the honor of leading the committee that escorted Governor Withycombe from his office to the house for the inaugural ceremonies.

Members of the House were today given the privilege of getting two shots in the arm for the flu. It was announced just before the morning adjournment that Dr. Seelye of the state health board had come from Portland for the express purpose of shooting members of the legislature.

The house is working so fast that in the two and one-half days sessions 25 bills have been introduced for the first reading and 15 of them have come up for second reading and assignments to committees.

While Representative Richardson of Portland was making an argument in favor of a committee of three from the house and three from the senate to consider the consolidation of state commissions, he stated that he knew who the members of the house would be.

The resolution had not passed and as no members had been appointed, this statement was too much for Speaker Seymour Jones. He asked Richardson how it happened that he knew who was to be on the house committee, as even the speaker did not know.
