FLOOD OF ORATORY —BREAKS IN HOUSE

Members Get Scrapping Mad When Senate Proposes Innocent Amendment.

A flood of oratory broke loose this morning in the house when the senate sent in its proposed amendment to the bill appropriating $100,000 for the relief of soldiers and sailors out of job in Portland. The house seemed to feel that the senate was trifling with its feelings and several members just had to have their say about it.

The innocent amendment that caused the house to get into a scrapping mood was to the $100,000 bill and read as follows: "That the commission obtain from soldiers aided, and compile and file with the secretary of state such facts concerning the history and treatment of such soldiers as the commission may deem of public value."

Representative Gordon of Portland said the proposed amendment was an insult to the house. Gallagher then suggested that the senate was overlooking a bet. Then the Smiths came to the bat. Smith of Multnomah county, the labor delegate, suggested that the bill be at once returned to the senate and that there should be nothing doing until the senate had come clean.

Smith of Baker thought the soldiers should not be obliged to answer many questions when getting part of that big money. He said it was the good fellows and spenders that would need part of that $100,000.

Jones of Newport broke into his first oration saying that the sum of $100,000 for the relief of returning soldiers was little enough and that the senate had no business in attempting to fix any strings to it. He referred to the hundreds of thousands of Americans who were sleeping under the sunny soil of France.

Gallagher, one of the scrappers of the house said it was contemptible for the senate to send the bill back with its amendment. As the bill had been a political football Gallagher wasn't sure what would happen if it was kicked about much longer.

Kuhl of Portland said it was the height of personal injury on the part of the senate to send the bill back to the house with such an amendment.

At about this stage of the oratory Gordon of Portland moved that the bill with the amendment be sent back to the senate with the information that the house did not concur. Also that the senate should be informed as to how the house felt about it.

Then Speaker Seymour Jones appointed as a committee three of the best scrappers in the house—Gallagher of Ontario, Gordon of Portland, and Kuhl of Portland.

It is thought that with the entire bill in danger that the Portland interests in the senate will modify or entirely back down on its amendment and that the bill will be finally passed this afternoon.

This bill for the relief of $100,000 for soldiers and sailors in Portland is the one that brought a half dozen leading lights from Portland last week, including Mayor Baker. They came with a proposal to ask $400,000 for the relief of soldiers and sailors coming into Portland. The house cut it to $250,000 and the senate took another slash and made it $100,000. At this figure the bill was passed, but it was found that it was not drawn legally. Then the bill gets out of the way pretty quick. There is just a suspicion that unless the whole bill had to be voted on again it may be cut even more as reports from Portland as to the number of unemployed soldiers and those wanting work are most contradictory.

Hughes Of Marion Proposes Change In Counting Votes

If the bill introduced this morning by Sam T. Hughes of Marion county becomes a law with this session of the legislature, there will be no anxious waiting around for local election news after the polls have closed.

It is a bill regarding the counting of votes on election day and provides that in a voting district where there is more than 150 votes cast and there is appointed two election boards, that both boards go on duty at the opening of the polls.

Board No. 1 will have charge of one election box for the first half hour and at the end of that time, the board shall pass the ballot box to Board No. 2 which shall begin at once counting and tabulating votes.

At the end of every 30 minutes during voting hours, this passing of the ballot box to the counting board shall be continued. Hence, within half an hour after the polls are closed, the result can be announced.

The bill will probably be welcome to the large number of women who, secure appointment on the second or counting board, as heretofore this work could not begin until after the polls had closed and the counting often continued throughout the night.

Another memorial introduced yesterday afternoon by Senator Dimick calls upon the department of justice and the attorney general to deport all residents of the United States, and particularly those of Oregon, who were of draft age and evaded the draft by canceling their first citizenship papers.

This memorial recites the names of approximately 100 residents of Oregon who thus canceled their first papers and thereby claimed exemption from the draft on the grounds they were not citizens of this country.

Senator Dimick, in the memorial, declares that such persons are not fit to live in this country, enjoying the freedom of its institutions and the protection of its laws.

"Rosa Luxemburg's Daughter" Held In Custody In Chicago

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Bonnie Abrahamson, said to have claimed the title of "Rosa Luxemburg's daughter," was in custody here today with 35 persons seized in a raid on an I. W. W. meeting place.

The raids were said to have been based on intercepted letters from Miss Abrahamson to some of the I. W. W. leaders in Lennoxworth prison. Letters of an alleged secondary character, bolshevik propaganda and thousands of pictures of Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg were seized. The prisoners are held on a technical charge of distributing alleged seditious matter.

Trotsky Told Friends To Overthrow U.S. Government

Washington, Jan. 21.—The parting message of Leon Trotsky to his friends in New York was "Keep on organizing until you overthrow the rotten, capitalistic government in this country." Police Inspector John J. Tunney told the Overman committee today.

Tunney said Trotsky gave his advice at a meeting in New York after Ambassador Bernstorff was recalled and shortly before we declared war on Germany. Turning from beer and the plots of German propaganda already dwelt extensively upon, Tunney told of bomb plots and the Hindu-German plans to breed revolution in India.

YANKS NOT INTENDING TO GO BACK TO MARRY

Soldiers Like American Girls Better Than French, Say Returned Officers.

(By United Press.)

New York, Jan. 22.—Are American men who have been overseas going back to marry French girls? "No," is the answer of 14 out of 15 returned officers, according to a Y. W. C. A. representative here who has been interviewing returning officers on this subject.

The consensus of opinion of those interviewed gives the reason thus: The French girl is not what American men call a pal. She knows how to cook, to sew, to make love. She can be a sweetheart. She is not a pal. Her horizon too often is limited to the home. Her life is lived within doors. She can never replace the American girl for all around intelligence, activities and ambitions. Most of all the American men miss in her the playfellow they have known at home—the girl with the tennis racket, the girl who loves to hike long miles and to swim and ride.

Will the men go back to France? "Absolutely," say returned Americans. "But that is because of the evil of Paris, the carefree life in the cities over there, the thrill and the romance of the atmosphere of France. In fact, most of the men are coming back to marry the girls they left behind, and then they probably will try to return to France and take their American girl wives with them to see the world."

They'd Better Hurry.

But it may not be ill advised for the American girl to say to the returning man, "You'd better hurry." For the Y. W. C. A. is trying to help the French girl "catch up" with her American sister in outdoor activities. This organization is sending women over all the time to teach outdoor sports of every sort, and even now many French girls have discarded the much slandered French heel. In fact there is a whole island in the Loire river given over to outdoor life and physical training.

Over 115 secretaries are in France doing after-war work. The Red Cross nurses' huts were built and equipped by the Red Cross. They were then turned over to the Y. W. C. A. as a co-operating organization, and the latter has furnished the workers for the huts and maintained the upkeep of them. About 50 of the secretaries now across are engaged in this work. With the return to this country of the nurses, the Y. W. C. A. secretaries thus engaged probably will be transferred to work of other kinds.

Highly Trained Women.

None but highly-trained women are being sent over by the Y. W. C. A. Almost all who have gone, or are going over, are college graduates. All have had experience along some particular line of work. Many are industrial experts.

ing colleges. Miss Margaret Morris formerly professor of history at Mt. Holyoke College, Mass., is at the head of the nurses' work. Miss Mary McDowell, known as Aunt Mary of the Stockyards, of Chicago, perhaps more familiar with the twists and kinks in the woman's industrial world than almost any other American woman, is in France, doing a special piece of work for the association.

Miss Mary Diagonal of New York City and Peterson, N. J., who went over when America went into the fray and who supervised building and maintaining of the sixteen foyers, is now in this country and expects to return to France very soon to direct the industrial work. It seems probable that if the Y. W. C. A. is able to complete the program started in France, French women will be able to meet American freedom with a new but intensely real French freedom.

Former Salem Boy Was In All Big Battles Of War

An eastern paper prints on its front page in a recent issue a letter from Private Ned P. Johnson, a former Salem boy, who served with the 5th Marines in five of the great battles in France. Speaking of his trip across the Atlantic with the great squadron, he tells of an exciting battle with several German submarines which lasted for 45 minutes and resulted in sending two of the "iron fish" to the bottom, outside the harbor of St. Nazaire, France. It was his first opportunity to see a part of the U. S. navy in action and the way the boys stood by the five-inch guns and hit targets as small as a wash-tub was well worth seeing. After landing from the transport Henderson they spent about six weeks at the seaport and then were sent to Bordeaux, where his company was kept on police duty for two months. They were then sent to a training camp for some weeks of intensive training, and afterward sent to the Verdun front where everything was quiet except for a little shell fire and a few trench raids. He goes on to say: "Then we were hustled off to Chateau-Thierry to stop the Huns on their way to Paris and the second sub-division did it. It was sure a dandy fight, and it was there I got wounded. Since that we have been on the move all the time, having taken part in the battles of Soissons, St. Mihiel, Champagne and at the Argonne. These are the biggest fights the American expeditionary forces have been in and that's enough for me. Now since the finish of things I am anxious to get home as soon as I can and go to work, but I don't know when it will be. Forget to tell you that I have been in the hospital with bronchitis, but am well now. How is the farm? It will sure seem funny to hike out that old road again."

Organize Council.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 22.—A local council of soldiers, sailors and workmen will be organized at a special strike meeting called for late this afternoon in the labor temple, the shipyard strike committee announced today.

At this meeting action will be taken toward extension of the strike to include all trades and crafts in the city with the announced intention to completely paralyze Tacoma industrially.

At the same time it was learned through official sources here that the government's attitude in the present controversy undoubtedly will be to allow ship construction on Puget Sound to come to an indefinite standstill, rather than assume the increased cost of construction entailed by an increase in wages.

J. Sutton, secretary of the local strike committee, declared that such a position if taken by the government, would be answered not only by a general strike here but by a demand that the government immediately provide employment for all men idle by reason of such walkouts.

The announcement of the proposed formation of a soldiers', sailors' and workmen's council includes the statement of the strike committee that "the demand of the working class will be made as a class," and that "we will put ourselves on record that we demand some of the democracy talked of so glibly during the war, the first principle of which is more money in order to live."

A big meeting of blacksmiths and machinists was addressed by Adam Barth, socialist leader and one time candidate for mayor. He made a revolutionary talk on "government by the workers."
