PARKEE NEVER QUILTS
J. W. Parkee, proprietor of the Salem Silverton stage, has no knowledge of what the word "quit" means and he has had experiences since establishing the stage line between Salem and Silverton that would put the old time stage coach driver to grief and discouragement, but he is always on the job and nearly always on time.

Tuesday night on the return trip from Salem, he was forced to go by way of the upper road from Central Howell to Silverton on account of water over the road at the Pudding river bridge. When within a few miles of town the car went down deep in the mud. He managed to get out, however, and reached town about two hours late wearing that perpetual smile.—Silverton Tribune.

BILLS THAT HAVE NOT YET ACQUIRED DIGNITY OF LAW

Proposed Bill Would Solve Lime Problem
If the bill introduced by Representative Lafferty of Corvallis becomes a law, the farmer can buy lime of the state lime board in 50 or 100 pound sacks from his county court, instead of buying in car load lots from the state lime plant.

The bill provides that when 50 or more owners of cultivated land present to a county court a petition, the court shall keep on hand an adequate supply of lime from the state lime plant. The lime is to be stored in a convenient place and the court is authorized to sell at actual cost, to include cost of storing and advertising.

Mr. Lafferty feels this will solve the problem for the farmers who do not care to order in car load lots as the present law requires. The law requires that the business be done on a cash basis, payable in advance, sometimes several weeks before the car lot of lime is delivered.

With a supply in each county and the privilege in buying in 50 or 100 pound lots, it is thought that not only will the lime business be largely increased, but that the law will help to solve some of the difficulties now faced by the state lime board plant. A bill may be introduced later to permit the state lime board to do business in a business like way instead of compelling it to sell only in car load lots in advance. The lime board would like the privilege of not only selling to wholesale houses in the state, but even outside the state and the privilege of conducting its affairs in the manner of any plant with $50,000 invested.

May Have Legislation To Rid State Of Noxious Weeds
Should a bill proposed by Representative Wheeler of Lane county become a law, each county court in the state will be authorized to appoint a suitable person to ascertain whether any thistles, cocklebur or silver salt bush is growing before blooming time in the county for which he is appointed.

If such are found, the owner of the land is to be notified in writing inviting him to rid his place of the objectionable and dangerous weed. And if such is not done within ten days after the notice, the court will have authority to go on the land, remove the weed and tax the expense to the land. This expense will serve as a lien against the property.

Joint Committee Will Look Into Dairy Question
To investigate the cost of production of milk and butter the senate adopted a resolution that two members from the senate and three from the house be appointed. The matter came before the attention of the house yesterday and was referred to the committee on resolutions.

The Oregon Agricultural college is greatly concerned over the dairy interests of the state, claiming that it has statistics showing that 50,000 animals had been slaughtered the past year because the price received for milk was unprofitable.

It is alleged that the Portland interests are rather working against the dairy interests of the valley as recently after investigating milk prices and cost of production, the Portland committee refused to recommend that the retail price be raised.

Hence to get at the real cost of producing milk and butterfat, it is probable that the joint committee will soon begin sessions. In this committee, the senate will be represented by Senator Pierce of La Grande and Senator Patterson of Polk county.

Competitive Bidding Bill Passes Representatives
Representative Gallagher, elected to represent Harney and Malheur counties, was not backward yesterday speaking in defense of his bill making it a crime to prevent competitive bidding in wholesale stock markets.

"We ship our stock into Portland where the buyers have a close corporation," Mr. Gallagher said. "They have a system by which the buyers will not bid against each other. First one buyer offers a certain sum for a car load and the others will not bid. Then for the next carload, another buyer offers a price and there is no second offer. It is to prevent just such combinations that the bill is offered."

The stock yard interests were evidently not charmed as to what the bill would do to them, as there was no protest from any interest and the bill was passed unanimously.

House, Without Opposition Passes Language Bill
When Representative Dodd of Umatilla county was doing active work for the several liberty loan drives, he ran up against many things that convinced him it would be best for this country if teachers in both private and public schools were required to do their teaching in the English language.

His information told him that in the United States the German government fostered 190 schools in which only the German language was spoken.

As many new communities would be established in the state within a few years, he felt they should be started right and that the right thing in a school was the English language.

Mr. Dodd did not object to the teaching of German or any foreign language and was willing to grant that foreign languages might be taught in a foreign tongue. But when not teaching a foreign language, the teacher should talk English. The bill passed the house unanimously.

LOUIS E. GRAZER DEAD
Lewis Everett Grazer died at his home here January 15, 1919, at the age of 56 years 6 months 22 days. Burial took place at Canby Friday, January 17, at the Zion cemetery, Rev. Launer of Canby conducting the burial services. He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth Grazer, and three sons, Leslie Grazer of the 216th U. S. engineers at Camp Kearney; Walter Grazer and Guy Grazer, of Aurora; and three daughters, Frances, Lorraine and Eva, of this place; and two brothers, Henry Grazer and Sylvester Grazer, both of whom live in Oregon; and three sisters, Mrs. A. W. Parker of Warsaw, Wisconsin, Mrs. Adeline Wiley of Arizona, Mrs. Henrietta Wilton of Bremerton, Wash.

Mr. Grazer was born June 23, 1862, at North Yamhill, Or. He attended the common schools and the academy at LaFayette, and later the University of Oregon. October 3, 1895, he was married to Miss Elizabeth Roth at Canby and lived in this section until his death last week. He was a member of Nessmuck camp, 661, W. O. W. of this city, which conducted their last rites over the grave of their brother Woodman. The bereaved family have the sincere sympathy of many friends here and at Canby.—Aurora Observer.

CREAMERY NOT PROSPEROUS
The annual meeting of the Canby Co-operative Cheese and Produce Co., now engaged in the creamery business, last week resulted in the election of a practically new set of directors, and officers. Charles Kraxberger presided in the absence of the officers, and the following directors were chosen:

One year term, Franz Kraxberger, William Beason and William Bunker; two year term, Charles Kraxberger and Albin Erickson. Immediately following the stockholders meeting, the directors convened and elected Franz Kraxberger, president of the association; A. Erickson, vice-president; William Beason, secretary-treasurer, and Harry Sherwood, manager.

The new management is a return to office of the officials who made a big success of the enterprise, but who have been out of control for two years. The company is said to have been running behind heavily recently as high as $250 per month, and that the number of patrons has fallen from 140 or 150 to 30. Hence it is seen that new management will have no snap if it succeeds in restoring the business to a paying condition.—Aurora Observer.

New Director Of Air-Craft Production

Colonel James A. Mars, new Director of aircraft production, whose appointment is in line with the plan of appointing regular army officers to such positions.
