SOCIETY

By CAROL S. DIBBLE

TENTATIVE plans for the homecoming of the returning soldiers were made at the meeting of the local War Mothers unit at the Commerical club rooms yesterday. The event will probably be scheduled for the latter part of March or first of April, dependent upon the return of company M in which so many Marion county boys are enlisted. As yet, the only definite plan made is an all day reception in which speeches by state, county and city officials will be featured. Mayor Albin, T. B. Kay and Frank Chapman of the Commercial club addressed the women yesterday. It is hoped that the Polk county women will cooperate with those of this county, as a number of Polk county boys are members of company M. The committee for the event will be formed of members appointed by the various secret and social orders all over the state.

The greatest need of the unit at present is a financial one first of all, to make the reception a success and ultimately to erect a memorial to the Oregon boys who have taken part in the world struggle. For this purpose it is suggested that various entertainments be given and that social teas and community parties in the form of benefits be held. It is suggested that lodge women hold cooked food sales and bazaars. Another meeting will be held next Saturday and those mothers who have not hitherto attended are most urgently requested to be present and contribute their services. New committees will be formed and additional plans made for the event.

Mrs. C. Leroy Brown and two little daughters returned to Portland this morning after a week's visit with Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. Ida L. Niles, at her home, 425 North Winter street.

Miss Leona Graber arrived from Alaska Saturday evening to enjoy a visit with Salem friends and relatives. She was the guest of her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Emile Grober, over the week end, going on to Ashland Monday for a short stay with her sister. Miss Graber has held an office position with a telephone company in Alaska the past three years and plans to go north again in the early summer. She will also return to Salem for a longer sojourn a little later.

Influenza Ban Still In Effect In Monmouth

(Capital Journal Special Service)

Monmouth, Or., Jan. 29.—The ban is still on in Monmouth though there have been no new cases for the last ten days, and all except one or two cases which developed from the high school exposure have been very light. However, the health authorities are taking extra precautions and have decided to keep the lid on for another week, or until sufficient time has elapsed since the return of the normal students to be certain no more cases will develop from that source. Just why the Normal school is allowed to operate where bodies of students and faculty congregate at chapel, classes, literary society, at meals in the dormitory, etc., is a question being discussed by parents and citizens, many of whom prefer that school should open, even though it be necessary to keep the student-teachers away from the children in the training school. The three students who were quarantined in the senior cottage are convalescent now. Dean Todd who had been caring for them was relieved by a trained nurse Thursday evening and immediately took up her duties again at the dormitory.

Don't Let Catarrh Drag You into Consumption

Avoid Its Dangerous Stage

There is a more serious stage of Catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped up air passages, and the hawking and spitting and other distasteful features.

The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then dreaded consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, atomizers, jellies and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh because it goes direct to its source, and removes the germs of the disease from the blood. Get a bottle from your druggist today, and begin the only logical treatment that gives real results. You can obtain special medical advice without charge by writing to Medical Director, 27 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

COMMITTEE ON WAYS

wise senator remarked that there was no use in cutting anything out of the educational stuff as the senate and house would rise in its oratory and give Mr. Churchill anything he wanted.

When it come to saving money, the ways and means committee decided it was safer not to do their pruning along the lines of education and the little red school house. Hence Mr. Churchill had pleasant sledding before the committee.

Butter Declines 23 Cents

Butter in New York, Foy declared, has declined 23 cents during the last seven days, as a result of butter importations. Speculators, he stated, have lost about $1,000,000 on the decline.

Wisconsin cheese, Foy said, dropped nine cents yesterday with an immediate effect here. Milk products will slump at once everywhere, he predicted.

Butter here slid into another decline today when extra creamery dropped 3½ to 4 cents. It is now selling at 46½ to 47 cents, and in the words of Foy, "weak at that."

Constant piling of products with speeded production, due to increased numbers of workers, will cause a condition, he thought, that may result in a catastrophe for speculators unless they begin geting ready for it by making sales. Prices referred to by Foy are wholesale.

N. Y. Warehouses Full

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 29.—Sixty six public warehouses in New York state are overflowing with accumulated food stuffs today, while retail food prices cling generally to war time levels.

If those stored supplies were placed on the market the cost of living would toboggan

Comparison of the quantity of food in storage January 1, 1918, and January 1, 1919, shows a tremendous increase

Following are the figures, in pounds, as given in reports by warehouse managers to the state department and checked by inspectors. Names of the owners of the goods are not given out:

Commodity	Jan. 1, '18	Jan. 1 '19
Frozen beef	6,604,782	9,061,042
Cured beef	810,466	2,292,211
Frozen pork	850,036	2,292 211
Dry salt pork	289,246	936,273
Pickld sweet pork	399,002	1,492,179
Lard and sub.	94,161	2,445,542
Frozen lamb and mutton	1,152,089	2,901,103
Broilers, chickens	1,976,357	2,373,608
Roasters, chickens	3,309,393	9,516,604
Fowl s	1,655,997	3,778,594
Turkeys	698,625	*4,419,559
Milcel. meats	760,166	1,348,869
Fish	4,661,612	9,120,069
Miscellaneous	53,212	1,378,227

*Turkey prices last Thanksgiving and Christmas were record breakers.

New York is one of the food centers of the United States, so conditions in these warehouses may be regarded as typical of conditions in other storage centers.

Fish prices, it was noted, went up rapidly during the last year, while the quantity of fish in storage doubled.

Pressure may be brought to bear, thru public opinion or legislation, to place these stored commodities on sale and thus break the cost of living.

Fifteen hundred sailors at Mare Island navy yard have been ordered east to help man German ships that will be utilized in bringing home American troops.

CONSOLIDATION BILL

of inspectors of child labor and the secretary of this board, industrial welfare commission and its chairman and the state industrial accident commission and its chairman.

As in the other consolidation bills, that for the department of labor will not go into effect until in January of the year a governor is sworn into office. Also, for this department, the governor appoints all officials with the consent of the senate.

Governor Appoints

The third proposed consolidation of state house jobs is to be known as the department of industries and here again the governor appoints with the consent of the senate. If passed, the law would not become effective until another governor is elected.

The department of industries will have for its head a commissioner of institutions for the department of institutions and with him there shall be appointed a public welfare board of advisers consisting of three persons one of which must be a woman. This advisory and non-official board is to serve without salary but is to have traveling expenses paid.

By the creation of a department of industries, should the bill ever become a law, the following offices will be abolished: Oregon state board of control and secretary of the board, board of public buildings commission, custodian of capital and supreme court buildings now in the hands of the secretary of state, state printing board along with the state printer and secretary of board, secretary of state printing board, and parole board and parole officer.

The term of all officials under this department is four years. The commissioner of each department may with the consent of the governor establish a branch office. The penitentiary would be taken from the control of the governor as well as that of appointing the warden, should the bill become a law.

Oregon Normal Standard Remains Same As Always

(Capital Journal Special Service)

Monmouth, Or., Jan. 29.—The report that the Oregon Normal has lowered its standard is absolutely false, as regards the regular course required for graduation. The normal did offer a war emergency course of 20 weeks which students who were not graduates of standard high schools could enter, the completion of this course allowing them to teach in the grade schools of Oregon for a period of one year. This course was offered for a short time only to relieve the shortage of teachers. No new students are permitted to enroll for this course and it will not be offered again after next term. The Oregon normal ranks among the best in the U. S., the requirements being the same as those of all standard normals, graduation from a standard four-year high school and two years' residence work at the Normal. Country and city superintendents throughout the state are commending the work of teachers who have graduated from this institution, as they invariably give satisfaction.

The registrar reports that from present indications the attendance for the second semester will be much increased.
