GASOLINE OCCUPIES FOREGROUND BRIEFLY

Standard Oil Interests Object To Raising Legal Specific Gravity Of Gas.

Gasoline and specific gravity was under discussion last evening by the judiciary committee and a big delegation from Portland as well as men interested in Salem gasoline were on hand to make their views known.
The rumpus over gasoline started when Representative Martin of Marion county introduced a bill providing that the specific gravity be raised from 56 degrees to 58.
The Standard Oil interests, represented by Mr. Day and Mr. Hamilton of Portland, appeared before the judiciary committee and argued against the passing of a bill raising the standard of gasoline. Their argument was that with four oil companies in Salem competition would adjust matters and that it would be unnecessary to specify exactly what would be legal.
The Standard people not only were opposed to raising the specific gravity of gasoline, but were in favor of repealing the present law requiring a specific gravity of 56 degrees, again basing their argument on the fact that competition would regulate the standard.
The Auto Dealers association sent representatives to Salem yesterday to urge the passing of the bill providing for a specific gravity of 58 degrees, claiming that the better the gasoline, the better it would be for automobiles.
This view was coincided in by Vick Bros., Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Delano, and Portland dealers who appeared before the judiciary committee last evening this committee having charge of the bill.
The Standard Oil people suggested that instead of a flat law making 56 degrees legal that each large tank of gasoline be labeled with its specific gravity and by this means the purchaser would know just what he was buying.
The matter now stands before the committee, the local as well as Portland dealers are urging a higher standard for gasoline.

Captain Claude D. Ranch is among the Salem men of the ninety first division, who will set sail from France for New York tomorrow. Writing from a small town, La Mons Chappelle Souce Oras near his regimental headquarters at La Thiel, Oras, Captain Ranch stated that he had entirely recovered from his flesh wounds, which kept him in the hospital for a matter of five weeks. He had just received a packet of mail from Mrs. Ranch, the first mail he had gotten from the States since September.

Friends of Lieut. Francis W. Mason will be pleased to know that he has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross. Lieut. Mason was formerly an employee of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, gas department, and was with Boston company M at the Mexican border and also with that company when it was called to service in France. The following is a clipping from a paper published in France:
The commander in chief, in the name of the president, has awarded the Distinguished Service Cross to Lieut. Francis W. Mason, 328th infantry for extraordinary heroism in action near St. Georges, France, on October 22, 1918. Lieut. Mason led a patrol of 40 men through the wood in order to envelope the enemy's position. Advancing under heavy shell fire, this officer was severely wounded, but displayed excellent leadership and unusual bravery. He continued the advance after being wounded and succeeded in occupying the wood.

CRIMINAL SYNDICALISM AGAIN COMES TO FRONT

Labor Representatives Have Turned Attack From Red Flag To This Bill.

The criminal syndicalism bill occupied the attention of the house or rather the attention of the two labor representatives from Portland as they spoke all morning on the bill.
The bill defines criminal syndicalism as a doctrine which advocates crime and violence and destruction of property or other unlawful acts as a means of accomplishing industrial or political ends, or as a means of effecting industrial revolution.
It is against the passage of the bill that the two labor representatives are making their biggest fight. Yesterday labor made a fight against the carrying of a red flag or any other emblem indicating disloyalty and today is against the teaching of a doctrine advocating unlawful acts as a means of industrial reforms.
In the red flag bill which passed late yesterday afternoon but 15 votes were lined up with labor.
Representative Kuhl, who associated with Senator Dimick in presenting the bill spoke briefly in favor of the bill, claiming that the I. W. W. element against which criminal syndicalism is directed almost disorganized organized labor in Portland.
The labor representatives, Smith and Horne, claim there is a better way of handling lawlessness than in passing laws against it. Mr. Horne said the bill was a piece of useless and foolish legislation and Mr. Smith claimed that while the legislators were attempting to regulate society and restrict it, no bills had been introduced along the line of industrial and economic problems.

Date For General Strike Will Be Decided Tonight

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 29.—Setting of the date for the proposed walkout of all union men in Seattle in sympathy with the shipyard strikers, is expected to be made when the Central Labor Council meets in the labor temple tonight. Officials of the different unions predicted this morning that practically the entire meeting would be thrown open to a general discussion of the plans to be adopted in carrying out the strike.
Thirteen unions have polled a secret ballot on the walkout and will furnish their returns to the council when it meets tonight.
The Metal Trades Council has passed a resolution declaring that its members will not return to work in the ship yards until the sympathetic strikers are back at work under at least their former conditions.
Several restaurants employing union labor have offered to supply strikers with food if the masses walk out, under the direction of the Metal Trades officers.
