"D---n the Expense! Stop the River!"

That's what the Overland Pacific said to Rickard, the engineer. So the girl hated him because he supplanted her brother. And the man did not take to her at first. But Cupid smiled and took a hand.

The River

By EDNAH AIKEN

tells well how the man stopped the Colorado and saved the Imperial Valley. The girl saw him do it and forgot her hate in love.

"The Uboat hunters' life on the destroyers," by James Connolly. "Manual of military maps" simple explanation of the making and reading of military maps, by Hutchinson and MacElroy. "Non-commissioned officers' manual" practical things for the inexperienced officer to know, prepared by Col. Moss. "Experience of God in modern life," discussed under three phases, the development of personality, social life, and cosmic evolution, including comment on the teachings of H. G. Wells, by Dr. E. W. Lyman. "Evolution of Christian doctrine," some attempt to interpret the scriptures to appeal to the intellect, a defense of modernism, by Percy Gardner. "The enrichment of prayer," suggestions on the possibility of prayer, and selected prayers and devotional quotations, compiled by David R. Porter. "The twentieth century New Testament."

"Miracle of Saint Anthony" a new play by Maeterlinck. "American poetry" a collection from our poets from colonial to modern, edited by Percy Bysshe. "A Princetonian," a story of undergraduate life at the college of New Jersey, by James Barnes. "Manfield Park" by Jane Austen. "The shadow Line", a new novel by Joseph Conrad. "Elizabeth's campaign," a novel of developing patriotism, by Mrs. Ward. Children's Books: "Uncle Abner's legacy," the story of a farm, by Hyatt Verrill. "The story of the United States" a large, specially illustrated history for children, by Marie Herdman. "Caroline Jane" tales in verse with good morals, quaintly illustrated, by Katharine Pyle. "Three sides of Paradise Green" a girl's story by the author of "The sapphire signet," Augusta Seacaman. "Granma of the fifth" another story of St. Timothy's, by Arthur Stanwood Pier.

NORTH HOWELL ITEMS

(Capital Journal Special Service) North Howell, Ore., Feb. 3, 1919. Dwight Schapp brought the measles home with him from Camp Lewis. His brothers, Dean and Marlinus, also have taken them, Dean being quite sick. All are recovering nicely now, however. Ed. Hynes joined the snarles some time ago and is now at Bremerton. Miss Edna Stevens, who has been home a fortnight recovering from the flu, has returned to her office duties in the Bank of Commerce building, Salem. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Manning and children were Sunday visitors at the Thos. Bump home. A few potatoes are being sold at this time, the price is $1.25 per ewt., delivered at Mt. Angel. The mules belonging to the Hertley & Craig farm escaped from the pasture one day last week and made their way to the 15 field feed barn at Salem (about 15 miles) before they were recovered by Walter Smith. William Fitzke was operated on at the Salem hospital last week. He is getting along nicely. The people of North Howell were reminded of olden times last week, the recent rains having flooded the Parkersville Bottom so the mail carrier did not cover his route for five days.

OPERATED UPON FOR GALLSTONES

Thomas Coleman, a prominent citizen of St. Paul, Or., was taken to the Willamette sanatorium in Salem, Tuesday, where he was operated upon by Dr. H. O. Hickman of Gervais, and 50 gallstones were removed, varying in size from 3/4 of an inch thru to the size of a nut. The patient is recovering nicely. Mr. Coleman has been ill for the past two years and has been taking treatment from several different doctors, none of whom diagnosed his case as gallstones. Star.
