Unemployed Problem Becoming More Serious

San Francisco, Feb. 4.—The unemployed problem is getting more serious, according to figures which were released here today by the federal reserve bank. Labor was fully employed, in industrial centers of the Twelfth Federal Reserve district during the latter part of December, but the subsequent rapid demobilization of service men and the abandonment of wooden shipbuilding have resulted in considerable unemployment which threatens to become serious. The unemployment of soldiers and sailors is noticed especially around demobilization camps, being probably due to the fact the men who are discharged lack funds with which to buy tickets to their homes. Besides to 45,000 strikers in Seattle and Tacoma shipyards, there are many others who are unemployed. This number is placed at 8000. The estimated unemployed in Portland is between 7000 and 10,000. The majority of these men are wooden shipbuilders and lumber workers. Little trouble has been met in disposing of the unemployment problem in San Francisco and vicinity. The situation is reported to be more serious in Los Angeles and Salt Lake City. Government reports show that Los Angeles has approximately 6000 unemployed. Three thousand in Salt Lake City's total. The situation is changing hourly, and predicting future industrial chaos or order is a gamble.
