President Adheres To 3-Year Navy Building Program

Washington, Feb. 4.—The president still adheres to his desire for a large navy and is "insistent and earnest" that a new three year building program be authorized, Chairman Padgett of the house naval committee, told the house today at the opening of debate on the new navy bill.

This, Padgett said, was the sense of a cable from the president to secretary of the Navy Daniels and was the chief factor in causing the house naval committee to submit a unanimous report.

He refused to give the text of the president's cablegram to the house but denied the words "fatal to my negotiations" had been used in the way made public today.

"Don't you think the house ought to know the reasons that caused members of the naval committee to change their minds," Representative Mann of Illinois asked.

Representative Longworth, Ohio, read from the speech of the president, in which he said that congress will "know all that I know."

Padgett said that any story that he or any other committee member had a message from the president was inaccurate.

Progressive Senators Plan Speaking Tours

Washington, Feb. 5.—Progressive senators today planned speaking tours after March 4 to advocate a number of measures intended to make the people more satisfied and render it more difficult for bolshevik propagandists to find hearers.

Senators Borah, Hiram Johnson, Kenyon and Poindexter are the ones who will probably do the campaigning. Borah outlined his message to the people as follows:

"You can do whatever you want to do with your government, without inaugurating a reign of bloodshed, wholesale assassination and destruction of property. You have the ballot."

The measures these progressives advocate include: Return of American soldiers, elimination of militarism, and complete removal of repressive measures upon speech and the press.

FOOD FOR GERMANS

Berlin, Feb. 4.—Four British and American cruisers have entered the Elbe, en route to Hamburg to protect steamers loaded with foodstuffs, it was reported here today.

Several large steamers have left Koenigsberg bound for London.

Hamburg is expected to be the central distributing point for food supplies to Germany by the allies.

McAdoo Attorney For United Artists Company

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 5.—William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, has accepted appointment as attorney for the United Artists company, the organization of motion picture stars recently formed here to prevent formation of an alleged movie trust.

The announcement was made today from the Fairbanks studios, following a meeting with McAdoo, Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford, William S. Hart, Charlie Chaplin and D. W. Griffith are the organizers of the new company.

PRIZE HORSE FOR FOCH

Paris, Jan. 13.—(By mail.)—Marshall Foch has a new horse.

Puritan, a 3 year old bay mare, selected by experts as the best horse in France for a marshal of France to ride, is a present to Foch from the Horse Breeders' association of the Lower Pyrenees. Hundreds of candidates for the honor of being the great warrior's pence stood were examined by representatives of the association before the selection was made. Puritan's price was $5000.

Puritan, from the stables of Henri Berthet, near Othez, won first prize in the Pau horse show last year.

and possibly later in public speeches in various parts of the country. The first difficulties in formation of the league have been overcome through general acquiescence in its broad principles but the real test of its success will be in the reports of the committees which are handling actual formation and application of these principles. Despite recent indications that Wilson might not find it necessary to make a second trip to Paris, it was learned today that there is a possibility he will desire to return and personally see that there is no miscarriage of his ideas, particularly as regards the league of nations.

School teachers and their devious way of signing up for a school and then going out on a hunt for a better job came in for some strong remarks this morning. The present law provides that a teacher may break a contract within 30 days of the time his or her school is to begin, but the school district is tied as soon as the contract is signed. As a result, many districts find the teacher that had signed up had got a better job and at the last moment, the district was taking any teacher in sight.

To remedy this one sided affair, Mr. Dudd introduced a bill wherein the school teacher could not break a contract within 90 days of the date set for the beginning of school. It was intimated that Mr. Churchill was opposed to the 90-day limit and that on his recommendation, the committee in charge of the bill recommended that the bill providing for the 90 day be not passed. It just happens that in the house are a dozen men who are serving on school boards and have all suffered from the one sided contract. Hence the report of the committee as opposed to the 90 day limit met with no favor. The bill was referred and will come out of the committee with the recommendation that teachers be not allowed to break their contracts within 90 days of the beginning of their school.

An untimely end and an early grave was in store for the bill proposing a poll tax of $5 on every voter in Oregon. It is "indefinitely postponed" and when this happens to a bill it means a funeral.

Horne's bill proposing a super tax on arable land not in cultivation was also buried this morning. Mr. Horne was sorry the men did not see things his way, as he felt there was much good to be accomplished by placing a super tax on big farms that should be in cultivation, yet were left remaining idle by the owners.

Speaker Jones was authorized to sign a certain telegram and send to the Oregon representatives in congress supporting the proposed bill wherein all discharged soldiers are to be given six months' pay, the usual allowances and a new suit of clothes. The house thus goes on record as favoring such a bill by the national congress.

All taxes not paid on or before Oct. 5 of each year are declared to become delinquent and if not paid by Nov. 5 following, a five per cent penalty is placed. The bill provides a change in the law to the effect that penalties hereafter, instead of going into the county fund, shall revert to the taxing district where the penalties are paid.

Drastic Measures To Enforce Food Regulations

By Webb Miller

(United Press state correspondent)
Cable, Feb. 4.—The civil affairs section of the Third army notified German authorities in the occupied area today that drastic measures must be taken to enforce food regulations. The Germans were warned that the Americans are not satisfied with the activities of the German food ministry and that hereafter the Third army will take no further action toward conservation of the food supply, the responsibility resting solely with the German officials.

The German authorities recently issued a proclamation that hereafter paper money—of which there are millions of marks in circulation in the Rhine provinces—will not be accepted as legal tender. American army officials notified the Germans today that such paper money tendered by Americans must be accepted, because of the large amount in the hands of American soldiers.
