THE DAILY CAPITAL JOURNAL

Is the only newspaper in Salem whose circulation is guaranteed by the Audit Bureau Of Circulations

IT WORKS BENEFICIALLY.

Probably most people think of the federal employment service as something on a grand scale little fitted for the needs of the everyday citizen. When he hears the name, he has a vision of handsome offices, with long lines of returned soldiers waiting at the door, each in his turn being assigned to the management of a railroad.

It is a big thing, all right enough, and more employers and men ought to make use of it, not on account of its bigness but its practicability.

The foreman of a construction gang out in Texas applied to the bureau for help. His need was dire. The camp cook, true to his kind, had left without a moment's notice. In less than an hour an applicant for just such a job who had listed his name in the bureau files was at the camp. Dinner was served to the minute, and all was well.

It is to be remembered that women thrown out of employment by the suspension of war work are allowed to list their names. It might be just possible that the housewife who took pains to inquire and leave her name would meet with as great success in locating a cook as the Texas contractor.

The federal labor bureau fills a real want in that it brings the jobless worker into touch with the job that is vacant, something that has heretofore not been attempted in an efficient way.

THAT REMARKABLE PEACE CONFERENCE.

From some newspapers one gets the idea that Wilson is fooling the peace conference, and from other papers one gets the idea that the peace conference is fooling Wilson, and from others, that Wilson and the rest of them together are fooling everybody else. "You buy your paper and take your choice."

After awhile, maybe, you may wake up to the fact that nobody is being fooled except the pessimist who refuses to see the honesty, idealism and effective co-operation that are at work in Paris.

The disbelievers are not so much to blame, though. No wonder the situation that prevails at the peace table is incredible. It is quite unprecedented for any assembly of diplomats to go about their work in so fine and genuine a spirit.

The former kaiser is said to be crazy. Had he still remained kaiser nobody would have noticed it, however.

RIPPLING RHYMES

By Walt Mason

THEY STAY AT HOME.

I had no chance to go to France and do some useful fighting; I had to stay from war away and earn my living writing. I offered twice to put up with musketoons and sabers; the sergeant said, "You're too well fed, too fat for martial labor. You're all knocked out, you have the gout—I say it all with kindness—swayed is your back, your feet don't track, and you have color blindness. Your head is bald, your withers galled, your knees are sprung and bandy; I cannot think how such a gink in war could come in handy. Go earn your bread," the sergeant said, "in safety and in quiet; men must be sound—not six yards round—who'd quell that Teuton riot." And so you see, and you'll agree, I'm not to blame for staying far from the fields of swords and shields, where battle steeds were neighing. Yet I could weep, I feel so cheap, now that the boys are coming from scenes of gore on foreign shore, where shot and shell were humming. To think I sat submerged in fat, and punched an old typewriter, when navies wrought and armies fought, and glory hailed the fighter! I was, my friend, until the end, as hramless as a reactor, and wrote wise saws, but never was a Conscienceless Objector!

The bill to authorize the insurance commissioner to open offices in Portland, virtually completes the removal of the department to that city. Already office files, rating and other records and paraphernalia are there and the bill now being put through this session leaves the bureau at the capital one in name only. The argument that two-thirds of the insurance business of the state originates in and around Portland is admitted. The same could be said of every department, since Portland does probably two-thirds of the business of Oregon in all lines, and is aiming to dictate its politics as well. The same argument would justify the location in Portland of every state institution and every state official, and it is just this thing the Capital Journal is fighting—the centering of all the business and political activity of the state in Portland. It is not in Salem's behalf alone that we are trying to arouse the people of Oregon to realize that the centralization of all the commercial, industrial and political power of the state in one city is the greatest obstacle to the development of the state, at the present time, and one that promises to become insurmountable in the future.

Seymour Jones is making a splendid record in his stand against the promiscuous salary-grabbing crowd led by Burdick. Jones is also making a very fair and competent speaker.

Before we get through with the peace wrangle we are liable to forget what the war is about.

THE WIFE

By Jane Phelps

THE END OF THE OLD AND THE BEGINNING OF THE NEW LIFE.

CHAPTER CLVI.
That all things come to them who faithfully work and have patience to wait seemed about to be the case for Brian. Through Mr. Mandel's influence, clients came to him as the days passed—paying clients who helped him have confidence in himself and in his earning power. A feeling he had almost lost when his country called him. Major Williams was a constant visitor. So, very often, was Mollie King, who had not given up her war work with the coming of peace, but who, the Major declared, "worked harder than she did overseas."

Mollie was working in one of the large base hospitals which had been established in New York. She had taken a room in a private family and what ever time she could spare from her work she gave to her fiancée, who grumbled that the most uninteresting private, if he had been gassed or wounded, had first place in Mollie's affections, and first claim on her time. But Mollie only laughed and went quietly on her way, knowing the man she had promised to marry not only understood but approved.

Only once did Ruth and Mollie refer in any way to what had happened in the days when Brian used to go to the little Greenwich Village studio. They were alone, one evening, waiting for Brian and the Major when something concerning an escapade of some one they knew, caused Mollie to say:

"If married women only knew that half the time they were jealous without reason, there would be fewer divorces, less scandal. Why, half the time when married men go to another woman gives her his time, buys her dinners, it is either because he is piqued or bored at home. In your case, Ruth—Oh, don't look like that, and don't blush, there

DAILY HEALTH TALKS

A Single Remedy Often Cures Many Diseases

(By Valentine Mott, M. D.)
It is almost impossible to give a list of the endless diseases that follow indigestion. Perhaps a whole column in this newspaper would be required to print them all. You eat to keep alive—to supply blood and flesh and bone and muscle and brain. It is easy to see that if your food is not digested and taken up by the delicate organs, a disease of some sort is sure to come. Dyspepsia is a common symptom, and so are liver complaint, loss of flesh, nervousness, bad memory, dizziness, sleeplessness, no appetite. Many times, when neglected, indigestion results in coughs, throat diseases, catarrh, bronchitis and even more dangerous things. And all these disorders arise because the food is not properly digested in the stomach. It is plain even to a child that relief and cure are to be had only by setting up a healthy condition in the stomach. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., many years ago combined a number of vegetable growths into a temperance remedy for indigestion, and called it Golden Medical Discovery. It is probably the most efficacious discovery ever made in medicine, for the list of people all over the world who have had their countless ills overcome by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes an amazing total of thousands.

I know of no advice better than this: Begin a home treatment today with this good vegetable medicine. It will show you better than I can tell you what it will do. When taking Golden Medical Discovery, you can rest assured of one very important thing—it contains neither alcohol nor opiates. There is nothing in it but standard roots and herbs that possess curative properties of a high order. A safe medicine is the only kind you can afford to take.

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART; IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to the kidney trouble. The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters of your blood. If the poisons which are swept from the tissues by the blood are not eliminated through the kidneys, disease of one form or another will claim you as a victim. Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago. All these derangements are nature's signals that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Liver-Oil Capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammation and destroys the germs which have caused it. Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Liver-Oil Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning. After you feel somewhat improved continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep the first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks. Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Three signs. Money refunded if they do not help you.

been spiced to 'make good' at home as well as 'over there,'" said Brian. "We will trust each other, so must you and Mollie," Ruth said quietly. "Only in that way can a husband and wife know true happiness together." "There is Rachel calling us to dinner. Now that we have settled all the future, let's get busy with the present and eat," said Brian brightly, and his arm closed tightly about Ruth's waist as they walked into the dining room. THE END

A new story by Jane Phelps, entitled "The Promoter's Wife," will begin tomorrow. This is a story of a small-town girl who marries a city-bred young man upon slight acquaintance. The young wife's discovery that her husband's business methods are not always honorable and her struggle to save their love, unmarred, from the ruins of a bad start, make a story which every man and woman should read.

CITY NEWS

Harry Scott returned last night from Portland where he attended the North-west Harley-Davidson dealers conference, held in that city on the 4th and 5th. New models in both bicycles and motorcycles were shown, including the new sport model Harley-Davidson motorcycle that will be offered to the public for the first time this season. Mr. Scott, who quit the cycle business to re-enter military service, expects to re-enter the business in Salem in the near future.

The butter and egg market, which has been gravitating toward zero for the past two weeks, has finally got a grip on itself and shows signs of gearing up a cent or two. One reason is

At the armory last night Company M. of the national guards, was formally turned over to the jurisdiction of the U. S. government under the regulations of 1917. Major Halloran, who is connected with the adjutant general's office in Portland, was present and reviewed the company in their maneuvers on the floor, inspected the ranks and signed the necessary papers whereby they become virtually a part of the regular military force of the United States. Under the new regulations the men will receive one fourth of the pay given to privates and officers in the regular army, provided all drills are attended. They will in the near future turn over their present equipment and receive from the government new uniforms, insignia and arms. Drills will be held every Monday evening. The company now enrolls about 110 members, and there were over 90 present last night for the federalization form.

Mrs. Henry Sharp and Mrs. Leff have just returned from Elmira, Oregon, where they were called by the death of their mother.

The war is over. The boys are coming home. Conditions are slowly but surely getting back to normal again—many articles of merchandise that have been too high in price will gradually get back where it ought to be.— But not as low as before the war.

We all know conditions are different. Labor is higher; hours of work are fewer; and naturally prices will be higher for a long time.

The members of our firm did not come to Salem for their health, but to do business, and it is our desire to give those who trade with us the best of merchandise in our line, at the very lowest price. Give good service, extend to you fair treatment, and give notice to the good people of this fair city and vicinity that we are "going after" a fair share of your trade in the Furniture, and Carpet line.

From this date we want any one seeing the name of Chambers & Chambers, anywhere, not to think of prunes loganberries or hogs but of furniture and floor coverings.
