FOUR COUNTY SALARY BILLS PASS SENATE IN MORNING SESSION

Will Be Opposition To Raising State Officials Pay Check, It Is Thought.

Four county salary bills were passed by the senate this morning without any material opposition. Indications are that all the county salary bills will go through, but the bills raising the salaries of state officials undoubtedly will meet with opposition.

The boys on the state payroll who are looking for the increase, however, are putting in some rapid work on various members, endeavoring to line up a majority in both houses of the legislature who will stand for the complete salary grabbing program.

If that is done this legislature will write a record for salary raising that will exceed anything ever attempted in that line before in this state. Bills are either in or ready to be introduced raising the salary of nearly every official on the state's payroll.

The four county salary bills passed today by the senate relate to Multnomah, Coos, Columbia and Lane.

The Multnomah bill fixes the maximum salaries that may be paid to the deputies and clerks in all the county offices. It standardizes the salaries and leaves it to the county officials to determine the exact amount to be paid the deputies.

The Coos county bill provides that the increases shall not apply to the terms for which the present officials have been elected, while the Columbia county bill raises the salaries of all the officials of that county to take effect as soon as the bill becomes a law. County Judge Gets Increase.

The Lane county bill increases the salaries of the county judge, commissioners and treasurer.

House bill 139, by Mrs. Thompson, was passed by the senate today. It provides that girls who marry before they are 18 years old are still to be considered as minors in connection with labor laws applying to minor children.

Senator Dimmick's resolution, submitting a constitutional amendment to restore the death penalty in Oregon, was tabled today on recommendation of the senate judiciary committee, and a substitute resolution was presented, which provides that the penalty for murder or treason in the first degree shall be either death or life imprisonment.

If the two houses of the legislature pass the resolution, the question of adopting the amendment will be submitted to a vote of the people of the state.

The senate passed house joint resolution 10, by Smith of Multnomah, which provides for the appointment of a legislative committee of three senators and three representatives to investigate and report to the present session the conditions affecting the shipbuilding industry in this state. The committee is to investigate the alleged cancellation of contracts by the federal government and the alleged failure of said government to permit local shipbuilding firms to take other than government contracts.

Other bills passed include the following: S. B. 99—By Smith of Coos—Providing a method whereby counties may surrender to cities and town jurisdiction over county roads within such cities or towns.

Market Had To Contend With Depressing Factors

New York, Feb. 7.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today says:

The stock market again had to contend with a number of depressing factors today. The influences governing price movements were not new, but they were accentuated by reason of their collective presentation. Although some large declines were made here and there by stocks, the cause was not a notable volume of selling, but rather a lack of buying power. Business was on a small scale throughout the list and was largely of professional origin.

The Returned Soldier And The Citizen Of Oregon

The whole program of reconstruction and readjustment is one that revolves around the question of labor.

What can we do to furnish employment to the returned and returning soldier. And at the same time keep those who have employment at work also.

manufacturers and employers to take on more men, if they are already loaded with their full requirements.

If our factories can sell only the goods already being made, and the demand does not increase for their products, how can more people be given work?

It is a question that every citizen can answer and be of practical help. Buy the goods that our Oregon factories are making.

Increase the demand for our products and the demand for men to make them increases at the same time.

Oregon manufacturers employ Oregon citizens and our factories are better in many ways than to be found elsewhere, and to fail to buy the products is to discredit our citizens as being capable of turning out products equal to other places.

It is not a question of sympathy, subs or subsidies, it is simply a practical question that every citizen of Oregon has in his or her hands to answer and adjust.

If you want to really aid the movement to employ more men, then buy the goods that these men manufacture and thus increase the demand.
