West Still Cut Off From Communication With East

Denver, Colo., Feb. 14.—The Pacific coast and Rocky mountain regions today faced another day of interrupted wire communication with the east. Officials of telephone and telegraph companies declared conditions have grown worse since sleet and snowstorms in Nebraska and Kansas Wednesday night carried down miles of trunk lines. In order to get repair crews to the scene, owing to stalled trains increased the difficulty in reopening direct communication. Re-routing via Canada or along the southern route offered prospects of limited news wire service, although a tremendously heavy file of messages is reported from all relay points.
