

Healthy Mothers Healthy Babies

Every true mother realizes the fact that her baby's health depends upon her own, that the very vitality of her child is influenced by her own physical condition. How important it is, therefore, to guard against any derangement of the female organs, which induce general weakness, nervousness, constant fatigue and utter inability to properly care for her child. Please remember, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and strength to thousands of such mothers.

Mitchell, Ind.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me so much during the time I was looking forward to the coming of my little one that I am recommending it to other expectant mothers. Before taking it, some days I suffered with neuralgia so badly that I thought I could not live, but after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was entirely relieved of neuralgia, I had gained in strength and was able to go around and do all my housework. My baby when 7 months old weighed 19 pounds and I feel better than I have for a long time. I never had any medicine do me so much good."—Mrs. PEARS MONTGOMERY, Mitchell, Ind.

Good health during and after maternity is a most important factor to both mother and child, and many letters have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., telling of health restored during this trying period by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

FRENCH MINISTER

Clémenceau, refusing offers of assistance, walked back into his home.

A few minutes later a telephone call was sent to Colonel House announcing that the premier's wound would prevent him from keeping an engagement which he had at the Crillon hotel this morning with House and Foreign Secretary Balfour.

Hubert Clémenceau, the premier's brother and secretary, told the United Press that the wound was not serious at present and that the only danger would be from possible infection.

The first foreign officials to call at the premier's residence to inquire about his condition were Premier Venizelos of Greece and Ambassador De Leon of Spain.

In Well Known Anarchist.

Cotin was later said to be a well known anarchist. Clémenceau was reported to attach no political significance to the attack.

Captain Andre Tardieu, commissioner of Franco-American relations, said that before the bullet lodged in Clémenceau's shoulder it passed through the fleshy part of his neck but did not sever any arteries.

News of the attack on Clémenceau was flashed to President Wilson by wireless.

All the American peace delegates expressed keen regret and appreciation of the premier's qualities. They called at the residence during the day.

All conferences were cancelled.

General anxiety was expressed, despite the statement that the wound was not serious.

Clémenceau, as permanent chairman of the peace congress, is the biggest figure in Europe at present. He became premier November 16, 1917 and, despite his seventy seven years, has survived several bitter political battles since that time. By many critics he is given equal credit with Marshal Foch for the allied victory. He is popularly known as "the tiger" and has lived up to that name during the peace conference.

"The Tiger" was born in 1841 during the reign of Louis Philippe. He became a fighting republican during Napoleon III's reign.

As a boy he preached republicanism to the peasants about his birthplace of Vendoe, southwestern France, which was then a royalist center. He was often greeted with pitchforks.

After studying medicine, Clémenceau went to England and later to the United States, where he visited many cities of importance and studied American institutions. He speaks English fluently.

Clémenceau, returning to France, was mayor of Montmarie at 30. Then he was elected to the chamber of deputies. An anti-imperialist, he there fought France's participation in the British-Egyptian campaign. He was accused of taking British gold for letting England have a free hand, and lost his seat in the chamber.

Prepared For Re-Entry.

For ten years Clémenceau's adversaries thought him politically dead, but he was merely preparing for re-entry into the arena. He founded two or three newspapers, wrote several books and then quite suddenly "came back." This time he was elected to the senate.

Clémenceau was premier at the time of the Casa Bianca affair between France and Germany, when, for a time war appeared to be inevitable. Germany had insisted upon an apology from France and the latter, as Germany and everybody knew, was in no position for war. But Clémenceau sent back this message:

"Tell them there will be no apology." And there was none.

After the peace preliminaries got under way, Clémenceau created an apparently embarrassing situation by telling the chamber of deputies he was in favor of retention of the "balance of power" system, at precisely the same time President Wilson was telling the British in Manchester that the "balance of power" must give way to the league of nations. It has since developed that Clémenceau merely was seeking to obtain guarantees for France's future security against aggression.

Official Statement.

Paris, Feb. 18.—The following official statement regarding the attempted assassination of the premier was issued today:

"Premier Clémenceau was in his automobile in the Boulevard De Lesseps when a man fired seven shots at him. The premier was struck in the shoulder. Several bullets entered the clothing of the two drivers but they were not wounded.

"Dr. Grausset, after an examination, stated that the premier was not seriously wounded."

The physicians will conduct a more thorough examination of the premier's wounds this afternoon, it was announced.

President Poincaré, members of the cabinet, foreign diplomats and Marshal Foch, who hurried to the premier's residence, remained in a room near the one in which Clémenceau was resting.

King George Confides.

Paris, Feb. 19.—King George today sent the following message to Premier Clémenceau:

"I am shocked to hear of the dastardly attack. I earnestly trust that your injuries are not serious and that, thanks to your splendid energy and courage, you will soon be restored to health and will renew your great and valued efforts for France and her allies."

"About three hundred Marion county citizens interested in good roads in Marion county, met at the Grand opera house, Salem, Oregon, Saturday February 15, 1919.

"The advisability of hard surfacing the principal market roads between the principal cities and towns of the county was discussed, and it was the unanimous opinion of those who spoke that these roads should be thus improved.

"At the conclusion of the discussion a motion was made, seconded and carried, that the chairman of the meeting be instructed to call a meeting of one representative from each of the principal cities and towns in Marion county, such representatives to constitute what shall be known as the 'Marion county market roads committee'.

"This committee to take such action as is deemed expedient in their judgment, to raise the necessary funds required to build such roads.

"You were unanimously designated by those present to represent Silverton and the surrounding community.

"It is assumed that each representative on this Marion county market roads committee will organize a sub-committee in his community consisting of at least one representative from each road district in his community to confer with and advise him as to the wishes and ideas of the citizens in each road district, and through these sub-committees each member of the county committee can communicate to the residents of his community the findings and decisions reached by the county committee.

If by any chance you are unable to be there it is taken for granted that you will send some one to represent you."

Attempt on Premier's Life Cause of Delay

By Fred S. Ferguson (United Press staff correspondent)

Paris, Feb. 18.—The attempt upon the life of Premier Clémenceau yesterday morning caused a temporary halt in the program of the delegates to the peace conference.

Anglo-French, French and Italian delegates had planned to discuss the program for a preliminary peace today with the intention of having the outline completed soon after President Wilson's return to Paris. Belief was expressed that the pact might be ready for final discussion by the middle of April.

The length to which the sessions will continue after the Germans are called in is problematical, though the delegates are hopeful of affecting the peace settlement by June, allowing for delays that possibly may be necessitated by the Germans desiring to refer certain questions to their government.

Sensible Treatment For Rheumatism

Drives Out the Millions of Tiny Pain Demons That Cause the Disease.

There are many ways of treating Rheumatism, but there is only one right way.

If you are beginning to feel the first slight touches of Rheumatism, there is untold pain and suffering ahead of you, if you follow blindly in the same misdirected foot-steps of unintelligent treatment. For remember that thousands of victims of this painful disease have spent countless hours, no doubt, as well as their hard-earned dollars in a vain effort to find a cure.

And your own experience will be just as disappointing as theirs, if you follow the old, worn-out and worthless methods of treatment.

When you realize that you must get rid of the cause of Rheumatism, and that its torturing pains will disappear when their cause is removed, then you will be on the right track, and there is a splendid chance for you to rid yourself of the disease.

The most common form of Rheumatism is caused by millions of tiny disease germs which infest the blood.

The one and only sensible treatment, therefore, is one which cleanses the blood of these germs, and routs them entirely out of the circulation. And everyone knows that this cannot be done by rubbing the surface with liniments.

This is why S. S. S., the greatest known blood purifier, is so successful in the treatment of Rheumatism. It is a powerful cleanser of the blood, it promptly routs all disease germs. S. S. S. has been used for more than half a century, and it will prove beneficial in any case of Rheumatism.

If you are a victim of this disease, why waste further time with the wrong kind of treatment? Go to your druggist to-day and get a bottle of S. S. S., and begin a course of treatment that will delight you with its results. S. S. S. will remove the disease germs that cause your Rheumatism, affording relief that is genuine.

We maintain a medical department in charge of a specialist on Rheumatism, and after beginning treatment with S. S. S. you are invited to write for free medical advice about your own case. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 104 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—(Adv.)

The Journal Job Department will print you anything in the stationery line—do it right and save you real money.
