Although there has been a precipitation every day this month excepting the first three, the total is only six and one quarter inches. But with one more week to run and the prospects favorable for local rains, the month is likely to make a record for rainfall.

February is not usually such a rainy month as we are now having and the official records of the local weather observer will prove it. For the past eight years the February rainfall as officially recorded, is as follows: 1918, 5.08 inches; 1917, 2.83 inches; 1916, 6.31 inches; 1915, 3.83 inches; 1914, 4.12 inches; 1913, 1.20 inches; 1912, 3.94 inches and for 1911, 1.72 inches.

Company M Dance Was Brilliant Success

As predicted, the dance given by Company M in the armory last Saturday night was a brilliant, dashing success from the first crash of the grand march to the last terrific whirl on the floor. The decorations, though simple were imposing, the masses of national and allied colors being given a background of evergreens which lent a sylvan air to the scene. A bit of thrill introduced the animation of the evening when the building was thrown into total darkness and a spot light was thrown upon the balconies. As accompanying the spot light was a succession of pistol shots, followed by the blare of a bugle—a touch of military color that brought a roar of applause from the throng. In point of attendance it was one of the largest affairs of recent years, there being several hundred couples on the floor.

The net receipts of the event are not stated but it is understood that Co M will have a very nice sum with which to meet obligations and provide for future wants. They express the highest appreciation of the manner in which the Cherran organization took hold of the affair and promise some day to reciprocate.

AMERICA'S ANSWER COMING SOON

Second United States Official War Picture Shows Vivid Scenes of American Activities in France.

"America's Answer," the second United States official war picture, will be seen at Liberty theater March 2d, 3d and 4th.

The picture is assembled from 30,000 feet of film taken by the U. S. signal corps, A. E. F., by order of General Pershing and under direction of the general staff. It is exhibited by the division of films of the committee on public information through the World Film Corporation.

Beginning in flaming words symbolizing the spirit of the nation at war, the picture shows in intimate detail the physical forces of men, munitions and vast constructions that make America's response the practical, powerful thing it is on the fields of France. The purpose of the picture is to set before Americans "over here" what Americans "over there" are doing, and to bring the war as a living, familiar fact home to those who are fighting it on this side of the Atlantic, so that they may more actively realize their part in it. For accomplishing this purpose "America's Answer" is competent. Not a man or woman who views the picture can fail to feel the pull of the war, the urging of its influence and the sense of participation in it.

The success of "America's Answer" and its popularity as an exhibition is due to its vivid pictures of Americans at their war work in France. The picture takes Americans across the ocean and shows what is being done over there, not only by the men who fight, but by those who build bridges and railroads and big plants, by those who cut down trees and assemble locomotives and send supplies to those at the front, and by those who minister to the needs of the fighting men.

OUR GREAT COUNTRY

it being reckoned in with others." The president spoke of the appeals of down-trodden nations; that America, first of all seems to be appealed to by these.

"There is no nation in Europe that suspects the motives of the United States," he said.

Trust America. "While nations believe that men now have come into a different view, they do not seem to resort to each other, but to the nation which has come to be known as the friend of mankind."

The president was cheered when he said: "The confidence we have established throughout the world imposes a burden upon us. Any man who opposes the tide will find himself thrown upon barren ground."

"If America were now to fail the world, what would become of it? America is the hope of the world and if she does not justify that hope the results will be unthinkable."

"Suppose we sign the treaty of peace," he said, "and do no more, we will have nothing but a modern scrap of paper."

"No assurances would be given to a down-trodden people that they would be safe."

"We set this nation up to make men free and now we will make men free." The president said he was ready to fight for this.

The president finished his speech at 3:42.

LANDED AT ALMOST NOON.
Boston Feb. 24.—President Wilson landed at Commonwealth pier at 11:53 o'clock this morning.

Ranks of troops presented arms as the nation's chief executive arrived home after his history-making trip to Europe. From the revenue cutter Ospeep which brought him ashore from the transport George Washington to the elevator in the pier building, the president walked over a velvet carpet beneath a canopy of flags.

As the revenue cutter came up the harbor with its escort of naval vessels, salutes were fired and steamers in the bay greeted the president with a boom of tooting whistles and sirens.

The president left the George Washington and went aboard the cutter at 11:05 a. m. There was a strong north-west wind making the sea choppy. As the president boarded the Ospeep his ensign was broken out at the masthead.

When the president left the cutter at the pier, he passed through the ranks of a welcoming committee, composed of high naval officials, and officers of the army, department of the north-west.

INDIGESTION, GAS UPSET STOMACH

Hurry! Just Eat One Tablet Of Pape's Diapepsin For Instant Relief.

No waiting! When meals don't fit and you belch gas, acids and undigested food. When you feel indigestion pain, lumps of distress in stomach, heartburn or headache. Here is instant relief.

Just as soon as you eat a tablet of Pape's Diapepsin all the dyspepsia, indigestion and stomach distress ends. Those pleasant, harmless tablets of Pape's Diapepsin always make sick, upset stomachs feel fine at once and they cost so little at drug stores.

Three airplanes which had been circling about the transport early in the morning, maneuvered over the pier as the president landed.

There was much cheering as the Ospeep approached the wharf and President Wilson was seen standing on the bridge of the cutter.

There were no spectators, other than officials, anywhere near the landing place. A great demonstration began as soon as the long line of motor cars was sighted by the crowd, approaching from the direction of the pier.

Leaving the pier, the parade headed for the downtown district of Boston. Through streets that were banked on both sides with cheering thousands, held back by ropes and by police and troops. The route was past the state house and Boston Common. A police automobile filled with officers preceded the president's car.

Boston strove to outdo the greetings extended the president in London, Paris and Rome. The president bowed and waved his hat again and again in response to the continuous yell of welcome. Every window had its crowd, waving flags and shouting. But on the roofs were soldiers with rifles, watching the throngs in the streets and people in the windows opposite.

As the procession approached Boston Common a salute of 21 guns was fired by two 3-pounders, manned by coast artillerymen from the harbor forts, stationed in the common. The concussion rattled windows for blocks around. The cheering reached its highest point when the president passed the state house, a great crescendo of voices, punctuated by the jarring reports of guns.

The hotel was reached at 12:50 p. m.
