The Pacific Telephone company is asking the Public service commission for the privilege of raising local telephone rates about 25 per cent and a hearing was held in Portland today. B. W. Macy city attorney, represented the city opposing the proposed raise and R. O. Snelling the Salem Commercial club, opposed to the increase. The hearing was held in the Multnomah court house.

The guess now is that the legislature will adjourn Wednesday unless the reconstruction measures turn loose all the oratorical talent of the house and again delay matters. There is also the bill taxing oleomargarine, to protect the butter interests of the state that may liberate a flood of oratory. The senate has caught up with its work but the house is far behind.

JOURNAL WANT ADS PAY

George W. Weeks, representative from Marion county is having trouble with the women folks. His troubles are all due, he claims, to the fact that he was incorrectly reported as voting against the bill providing that women should sit as jurors, or at least should have that privilege. He says that he is in favor of women sitting on all and any kind of juries. Also that he so expressed himself when called on to vote and that the official records will show that he lined up on the right side, even if the bill was lost and so many men were so ungallant as to vote against women serving as jurors.
