Besting a street car to a crossing ith an automobile is a trick that has eral kinds of thrills attached, but also enries a suggestion of accipital. Clyde Vincent tried it with his car, yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Church and Chemeketa and the rase resulted in a tie, with the odds slightly in favor of the street car. The front end of Vincent's machine was considerably disfigured and the few der of the electric car was badly crumpled. Had the auto been a fraction of a second quicker in reaching the crossing it might have been a very different story. As it was the auto was able to unvigate to a repair shop on its own power and the street car on

The Stars and Stripes, a paper pub-ished in France for the boys over there gives several reasons in a recent of Silverton. The wedding occurs to issue why there is troubles in regard to the delivering of mails. Last December the boys in France wrote 40, 454,700 letters to the folks back home, as this number was received at the forwarding station at Bordeaux. The post office service had 90 experienced elerks at this station alone sorting mail On account of uncertain addresses, 4,-000,000 lotters piled up at the dead letter office in France, All of these were from the folks back home, but wany of the boys in moving about failed to leave forwarding addresses. To this one fact alone is attributed much of the trouble in the slow deliv-ery of mail. An instance is cited of where some one in this country cabled Coloned Smith, American army in France It was quite a task even for the postoffice department to locate the right Colonel Smith.
