There was a time not far distant when it was an even race with divorces for a trifle ahead. The records for February show that 15 marriage licenses were granted in Marion county, and that only eight divorce cases were filed.

George Nelson, who served 22 months in the navy and nine months with the heavy artillery near Verdun, is now with the Capital Drug store as a registered pharmacist. He has just recently received his discharge.

Although he was 80 years and two months old, S. J. Comstock, of Silverton applied for and was issued a marriage license last Saturday. He is a farmer living near Silverton. He was married to Jennie B. MacDevney, age 64, also of Silverton.

When a German citizen wishes to become an American, he does not renounce allegiance to Wilhelm II as there is no such person any more, or at least not officially. Hence when John P. Peterson filed last Saturday his declaration of intention to become an American citizen, he renounced his allegiance to the present government of Germany and didn't even mention the name of Wilhelm II. Mr. Peterson is 36 years old and was born in Pellworm, German. He arrived in the United States on Feb. 10, 1905, at Galveston. After living in this country 14 years he has taken out his first citizenship papers.

The Pleasant Point district school No. 89, just west of the reform school, is one of the county schools that is not living up to the law in regard to flying the American flag. The law says that all school districts must not only have an American flag but that it must be displayed during school hours on a flag pole. The Pleasant Point school has a flag but no flag pole. The directors are E. S. Cones, chairman; T. E. Herren and L. Larsen.

OREGON TODAY

"THE GREATEST THING IN LIFE"

Dance at Moose hall Tuesday night.

The Oregon Packing Co. is offering attractive contracts for green string beans for canning purposes this season.

Dance at Moose hall Tuesday night.

There is just a suspicion among the members of the city council that the session this evening may develop along the lines of the legislature when the excited member began saying things about each other. Not that the city fathers will talk back to each other like real excited legislators but there is a suspicion that things will be a little more lively than a debating society. The public is cordially invited to attend. The gavel sounds at 7:30 p. m.

Cleaned, neatly pressed suits always look new. Let us do it for you. Salem Cleaning Works. Phone 703. We call for and deliver.

G. W. Eyre will ship livestock Thursday March 6. Phone 2290M evenings.

The funeral services of Robert L. Oehler were held this afternoon from the chapel of Webb & Clough. The body will be taken to Kansas for burial.

Dance at Moose hall Tuesday night.

Wanted fat hogs, cattle and calves and stock cattle; will ship this week and pay the highest market price. G. W. Emmell. Phone 1425M.

Studebaker owners, as well as many owners of other cars, will be interested to know that Tom Watts has opened a repair shop on S. Liberty, next to Pohl's implement house. His shop will be well equipped with all machinery necessary for efficient and economical service, and this combined with his undoubted skill as a first class auto mechanic will insure full satisfaction to his customers. A call will be appreciated.

Dance at Moose hall Tuesday night.

Royal Neighbors of America, Oregon drapery camp No. 1360, meet every Thursday evening in McCormack hall. Elevator service, Oracle, Mrs. Carrie S. Bunn, 648 Union St.; recorder, Mrs. Melissa Peters, 1415 N. 4th St. Phone 1436M.

Bakery under new management. The Home Bakery at 12th and Chemeketa Sts. has been opened under new management by Hull & Doan.

Two allotment envelopes from the government are at the Salem postoffice addressed to Irene Crawford, but the postal authorities cannot locate her, nor has she called for her mail. The letters were first mailed to her at Grangeville, Idaho, then forwarded to Cottonwood, Idaho, and from that point forwarded to Salem, Oregon. As allotment envelopes mean real money, it might be a favor to Irene Crawford if some friend would either notify her or let the postal authorities know where to find her.

A school teachers' zone meeting will be held next Saturday at Turner in charge of J. W. L. Smith, school supervisor. Another will be held at Woodburn on Saturday, in charge of school supervisor, Mrs. M. L. Fulkerson.

The income tax officials who came to Salem to attend to income tax matters have left the city and have gone elsewhere in the district. They are not at the postoffice and will not be. Those who were a trifle slow in attending to income tax matters are advised to go to their bank and get all the necessary information. All income tax matters must be in the hands of the internal revenue collector at Portland by March 15th.

W. J. Culver, county roadmaster, says that work will begin on the Liberty road as soon as weather conditions will permit. Work on this road will begin about three quarters of a mile outside of the city limits and extend to about half a mile south of Liberty. The first work will be in scarifying and grading and preparing the roadbed for asphaltic concrete paving along in June. This surface work will be three inches thick.

In the race between matrimony and divorces, the records of the county clerk for the month of February show that the divorces are running a poor second.

Monday Morning Message

We take this opportunity to extend our thanks and good will to the many people that made our opening day a remarkable one. We regret (although our clerks worked hard until 9 p. m.) that some had to be turned away without obtaining some of our REAL BARGAINS, and for the benefit of those who were unable to attend and consequently had to be turned away disappointed, we will repeat the sale next Saturday.

We Believe in the Policy of Large

Sales and small profits instead of small sales and large profits. While we emphasize quality in every department of our store, we also protect your interests in the matter of price. Trading at our store will prove a real economy as well as a pleasure.

S. B. Best, of Fruitland, for a year and a half the efficient head of the Information section, Spruce Production Division, of the U. S. army, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Lisle, of 1041 South 13th street. Mr. Best was recently given the unanimous vote of the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen as their choice to continue the Monthly Bulletin of the Loyal Legion and the Spruce Production Division, when the Loyal Legion voted to perpetuate their organization as a peace instead of a war measure. The Bulletin achieved the greatest magazine circulation west of Chicago, during the war time propaganda period, reaching a circulation of close to 100,000 copies a month. The magazine, however, was only one of the many valuable activities of the Information Section. Mr. Lisle was associated with the department.

Woolen goods will not be materially cheaper during the coming season, according to the opinions of those who keep posted on market conditions. But cotton goods are showing some weakness, especially in staples and the market is unsettled. Some time ago cotton dropped to 21 cents a pound but recovered within the past few days and is now quoted at 26 cents. While there is a fair chance of lower quotations in cotton staples, the leather market is apparently in the hands of the leather trust. While hides are lower, the prices of shoes for the coming season may be higher, or at least no lower.

PERSONAL
Ergent Otto Wurm of Vancouver, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A.

BILL LANG TO FORM INTERNATIONAL BASEBALL LEAGUE—Bill Lange the "fence breaker" of the old Chicago Colts, is now in France on about the biggest mission one baseball man ever tackled. The formation of an International Baseball League, for years the dream of players and officials, a combination of England, France, Belgium and possibly Italy, whose pennant winners would meet those of the United States, the series played alternately in this country and Europe, is in Lange's hands to bring to realization.

B. Wurm, of West Salem.
Mrs. D. C. Mook of Port Angeles, Wash., is a visitor in the city, a guest of her sister, Mrs. L. S. Sheldon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lot L. Pearce visited Sunday in Camp Lewis with their son, Mem Pearce.

Mrs. Z. J. Riggs, who is studying in Portland came home for the Oberlin annual banquet, remaining over Sunday. She returned to Portland this morning.

Miss Irma Townsend is visiting friends this week in Portland.

T. A. Magors of Dallas registered at the Bligh yesterday.

B. Wiggs was in the city over Sunday. He is from McCoy.

George A. L. Snyder and wife attend the funeral services Sunday in Dallas of Mrs. John Perry who died December 12. Her husband who has been in France arrived home to attend the services. He has accepted service in the army and has been assigned to duty as master signal electrician at Seattle in charge of the Alaska military station. Mrs. Perry was a cousin of Mr. Snyder.

crowded to the utmost for the French band concert to be given Wednesday evening, the gross proceeds of which are to be given to the War Mothers for the big reception to be given Company M boys. Letters from those who have heard the band are all enthusiastic the assertion being made that it is the greatest organization of the kind that has ever visited the coast. Anyhow, the Salem people will be there to the extent of several thousand.

E. W. Montague, the well known Portland attorney, will deliver an address before the Six O'clock club of the First Methodist church on the evening of Tuesday March 11. The subject of his talk will be "The League of Nations".

The Woman's home missionary society of the First Methodist church will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. N. Avison, 636 State street. The lesson of the day will be given by Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney. Wednesday evening the Sunday school boards of the group of seven Methodist churches will meet for a great centenary rally at the Leslie M. E. church on South Commercial street. Short talks will be made at the meeting and a plan of campaign arranged.

Under the auspices of the local Elk's lodge, the funeral services of James A. Wilson were held this afternoon at the Bigdon chapel. Members of the lodge met in the lodge rooms and marched in a body to the chapel where the services were held according to the Elk's ritual. The pall bearers were Wm. H. Daney, Fred W. Schmidt, Sam T. Koser, Homer H. Smith, Dr. H. H. Olinger, George G. Brown, Kola Neils and Frank Miller. Following the services the body was taken to Portland on the 4 o'clock electric for cremation.

Lloyd Zachary, aged 16, is booked at the police station, charged with helping himself to a valuable quilt from the home of a farmer near Independence. According to the police information, the young man was working on a farm near Independence and when he quit to return home, he carried off the prize quilt of the family. Sheriff Orr of Dallas arrived this morning to take charge of the young man as the alleged thief was committed in Polk county.

Fords are now coming in by the boat load. The assembling plant in Portland is getting back to its regular order and now the cars are all set up there and delivered in Salem via the river route.

The Royal Neighbors are soliciting their numbers for the material that goes into the making of a good dinner such as the R. N.'s of A. know so well how to serve. Dinner at McCormack hall, Thursday, March 6, served home style at 35 cents. Entire proceeds to be given over to those having charge of the soldiers' home coming reception.

Corporal E. H. Mapes, who has been with the 6th Marines in the American army of occupation on the Rhine, returned to his home in this city yesterday, after spending several weeks at the marine camp in Philadelphia. He was with the marines in a number of the great battles which were turned the tide of war, including Chateau-Thierry, the Argonne Forest, and others. In one of these battles he was severely gassed and suffered from shrapnel wounds which put him in the hospital for a long period. He still suffers slightly from the effects of the gas.

He arrived at his home on East Chemeketa street to be greeted not only by an affectionate wife but by a fine young boy whom he had not seen before, the couple having been married but a short time previous to his enlistment about 18 months ago.

One of the sincerest compliments ever paid to the Willamette valley and its climate is the return to this country of settlers who have gone back to their old habitats in the east, and then concluded that Western Oregon was good enough. Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Anderson and two sons, in company with Miss Jennie Lucas, who went back to their former home in Holdrege, Nebraska, after spending several years in this section, have just come back to this city and will once more make their home here.

Returned soldiers who wish to obtain information regarding the $60 bonus to be paid by the government, are invited to call Home Service Division of the Red Cross, in the postoffice.

Ray Atterbury, whose picture appears in the group of returning officers on the front page of today's Capital Journal, was a popular Willamette university student before the war. He carried one of the largest of the Capital Journal routes in the city, and was working his way through school, when the call for volunteers came and he was one of the first to enlist as a private. Young Atterbury is a splendid type of the industrious, trustworthy young men of the country, and would undoubtedly have risen to higher rank had the war continued longer.
