Mrs. Russell Catlin Urges Continued Work In Red Cross

Mrs. Russell Catlin who is in Seattle attending a meeting of Red Cross workers, and who is at the head of the knitting department of Willamette chapter, writes as follows from Seattle:

"After meeting and talking with those who have given much thought and all of their time to Red Cross work and hearing them explain the dire need for our best efforts along the line of refugee knitting, we wish to urge everyone who can to come and help with our knitting allotment.

"Under the present arrangement 75 per cent of all materials, yarns included, are to be shipped abroad—knitting factories here in the United States are helping to their full capacities, but 20,000 children in Siberia alone are orphans without clothing. Since it is planned to have the present allotment fully completed by June 1st, and in all probability there will be no further demand on the time of the knitters, we feel that certain of those who have worked so faithfully in the past will respond generously to our call for help, and make a special effort to fill our final quota of knitted garments.

"Knitting headquarters are open Tuesdays and Fridays from 1 to 5 at the post office building."
