

DR. DONEY PICTURES VARIOUS PHASES OF FRENCH LIFE IN TALK

Left Pleasant Impression Of Sister Nation With Good Sized Audience.

It only required sixty two and a half minutes for Dr. Doney to meander thru five centuries of French history, stopping here and there to throw up a charcoal sketch of French whimsicalities or to make a pathological analysis of an eruption on the national attitude. Happily he avoided any excursions into the catacombs of French morality where a flashlight would be necessary, and he succeeded in leaving with his hearers a pleasant impression of the nation which he has come to admire with all its shortcomings.

The auditorium of the public library was well filled last night, notwithstanding a large attraction elsewhere, and they enjoyed the discussion of French life the more because it was a ramble rather than a dissertation. He went to France with high anticipations; he was met with surprises, an occasional disappointment and some real discoveries, for the France of today is a land of strange ways and customs, of checkered climatic conditions and peculiar social stratification. Withal it is a land of beauty and of historic romance; a realm whose racial characteristics can be exactly estimated by the kaleidoscopic changes in its form of government.

Don't Know Real France

The average American does not know France at all. He sees Paris and assumes that he has seen all that is worth while in France. Dr. Doney took mental snapshots of every type of Frenchman, from the salon to the hodgepodge, and from the ensemble has discovered why a race that repudiated the Christian sabbath and undertook to dethrone Omnipotence, has survived utter moral decay and disintegration. He has found in the huge bourgeoisie class and in even the plodding, stolid peasantry, staunch, unquenchable qualities and made it a quality in family, social and industrial life. The brilliancy and effervescence and a large share of the immorality of the race is with the two upper classes—the aristocracy and the artist class.

Finds Artistic Trend

One feature of French character was every where evident to the traveler; he found the artistic trend of the French mind cropping out in all conditions; the French pour would sit sketching at the feet almost under their feet; the peasant woman would exchange a vegetable for a flower; the half starved shop girl would scold her hunch for a bit of ribbon; the housewife would brighten a pitiable meal with a touch of daintiness.

While Dr. Doney found the peasant class dull, stolid, overworked, they were no more illiterate than the same class in America and England. The national culture is upheld by sixteen great universities, a hundred high grade normal schools, and innumerable lesser institutions. Taken in the large, he found "La Belle France" very much to be admired and respected, although confessedly suffering from too much indulgence in her own wines.

DESPONDENT WOMEN

A prominent writer claims that "women are naturally despondent," but often mental depression may be attributed to an abnormal condition of the system, which expresses itself in nervousness, backache, headaches, sleeplessness, and consequent despondency. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound goes to the root of this trouble, it gives tone and strength to the system and restores women to a normal, healthy condition.

NO BOLSHEVISM IN OREGON

Portland, Or., Mar. 13.—There will be no spread of bolshevism in Oregon according to Colonel John L. May, because—

"The Third Oregon is home! "The Third Oregon is here and it's on the job," said Colonel May. "We took the oath of allegiance to the United States and pledged to support it against all its enemies and that applies in civil as well as military life."

A Stubborn Cough
Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick, sure and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, whooping cough, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
