STATE HOUSE NEWS

Another group of legal lights has been turned upon the dark spots of Oregon by the supreme court. Six attorneys, who have been practicing under temporary certificates during the past year, were admitted to the bar yesterday. The group consists of R. C. Gianville, of Hood River; W. C. Van Emmon, of Klamath Falls; W. H. Hallam, George F. Felts, Henry M. Isaacs and Jas. P. Stapleton, all of Portland.

The state highway commission will in the near future be settled in one of the finest suites of offices in the capitol building. A group of workmen are rapidly completing the remodeling of the entire south wing on the third floor which will give a large number of commodious offices to this department.

The patriotic lessons taught in the public schools of Klamath Falls are having a permanent effect, as shown by a report from the city superintendent of that place, R. H. Dunbar, to the state superintendent of public instruction. Every grade from the first to the eighth inclusive, of each of the schools of Klamath Falls has made a liberal subscription to the Armenian Relief fund. This report shows only the contributions of the first-eight grades, as the high school is under county management, being a central high school for the entire county and not under Mr. Dunbar's jurisdiction. Total contributed by pupils and teachers, $199.05.

The governor today appointed on the finance committee of the Northwest Tourist Association, Phil. Metschan, Jr.

LATEST RELIEF DRIVE GOING VERY SLOW

The bad weather of the past few weeks has greatly impeded the progress of County Chairman Roy B. Hewitt and City Manager H. N. Aldrich and their corps of workers in raising the quota of funds assigned Marion county for the relief of the starving women and children in Armenia and other countries in that locality who have been the victims of the Turkish and other rapacious people during the war. The arms of the allies won for them temporary succor from death by the sword and outrage, but their oppressors

Summary Of Librarian's Report, February, 1919

February has been a busy month in the library; only in 1916 has there been a larger circulation in a February. 5473 books have been loaned, of which 1943 were children's books. The children's use of the library has increased with the renewal of the story hour. The additions of the month bring the total number of books in the library to 114,355. There is now a registration of patrons numbering 8100, of whom more than 200 enrolled during the month.

The three lectures of the month have had a total attendance of 500. Though the numbers have been miscellaneous in subject, each has been a success in offering to the people of Salem an interesting hour and an opportunity for a broader outlook on subjects of common interest. During the month of March, two lectures on France are to be given. Dr. Doney spoke on the Spirit and life of France, on March 12 and Dr. Franklin, also of Willamette, has the subject "What is a Frenchman?" scheduled for March 26.

Engineer John Dubuis, of Grants Pass, was in conference at the state engineer's office this morning with regard to the work on the Rogue River irrigation project. He reports satisfactory progress on that work.

and W. J. Hoffmann, both of Portland.

The hearing which was to have been held yesterday before Commissioner Wells of the insurance department regarding the insurance of vessels, which was to have been presented by Portland parties, was postponed for one week on account of lack of direct evidence.

Engineer John Dubuis, of Grants Pass, was in conference at the state engineer's office this morning with regard to the work on the Rogue River irrigation project. He reports satisfactory progress on that work.

deprived them of all means of support and food, and the military authorities of their deliveries have been unable to cope with the situation which now threatens hundreds of thousands of Christians with starvation, if relief is not extended within the next few weeks. The local committee is urged to bend every effort to conclude its campaign within the next few days that such funds as are available here may be dispatched at once to the point of greatest need.
