PENITENTIARY IS FIRE TRAP SAYS GRAND JURY

The state penitentiary building is in bad with special committees and grand juries. During the recent legislature a committee inspected the buildings and reported conditions pretty bad. This committee thought that $25,000 expended might help conditions a little. But the grand jury now in session thinks otherwise. After making a very careful inspection of the penitentiary, it made the following report to Judge Percy R. Kelly of Department No. 1.

"All roofs and south walls are leaking, making the building most unsanitary. The ceilings are all wood or of other combustible material and the flue to the oven a fire trap. The stove pipe which enters the flue is within 10 inches of the wooden ceiling. This stove pipe should have an asbestos covering immediately."

Escape Would Be Cut Off.
"In case fire started in the chapel or main receiving room, escape would be cut off entirely for the prisoners. The sewer system is entirely inadequate and is a menace to the health of the inmates and employes."

"Money expended on an extensive system of repairs would provide only moderately improved conditions and would be a very questionable investment and even then the state would have a very poor show."

The grand jury report is signed by H. S. Gile, Jas. T. Hall, Arthur A. Schwab, M. M. Magers, Leonard Barwick, George C. Will and W. H. Steusloff.

To the average man it would appear a little late to be extending the time of a partnership to make its report on income tax. Hence it is of but little comfort to the man who is in a partnership to be told that the office of the internal revenue collector, at this late date, has sent out a notice that partnerships may be reported as late as May 15. From remarks heard on all sides, there is an impression that the men who really fixed up the blanks for income tax never lived out west.

Tomorrow is the second Sunday in Lent and April 20 is Easter Sunday. For those who do not buy the spring hat until Easter Sunday there is left five weeks in which to make the selection. Two weeks from tonight the clocks are to be turned forward one hour. But as we are now living on sun time, it may be of interest to know that the sun should rise tomorrow morning at 6:13 o'clock and that it should set at six minutes after six o'clock, according to the almanac. Said almanac also notes that it will be cool and rainy in the northwest between March 13 and March 16.

But one true bill was returned by the grand jury yesterday—that against Roy Green, charged with the delinquency of a minor child on the Oregon Electric. He is now out on bail of $1,000 cash. The grand jury also examined the Marion county court house and returned to Judge Percy Kelly the following: "We, the grand jury, have examined the court house and recommend that the attic be cleared of all rubbish as a precaution against fire and also that a suitable place be procured and the old records which may be of some future value, be placed therein, whereby they will be preserved."

The U. S. Federal employment bureau will be closed in Salem March 21 as the announcement made by James B. Coleman who has been in charge of the office since it has been established here. It is thought that the work will be transferred to the Commercial club especially as the club has been active for several years in placing labor. The bureau was especially active last summer and fall in getting together the man or woman who wanted to work and the job.

A warning has been sent out from the office of Sheriff Needham to notify people to be a little careful in purchasing liberty bonds from unknown parties, as several were stolen from the Mt. Angel bank during the night of March 8. Besides liberty bonds the following were taken: Certificates of deposit to Joseph Heerle for $2000 on First National bank, Linton, N. D.; to M. G. Eades, three for $100 each on Wadena county state bank, Wadena, Minn.; and quite a number of certificates of deposit issued by the Bank of Mt. Angel. Other papers missing included notes and deeds belonging to S. Spaurer; insurance policies and deeds in the name of S. A. Pennington; shares in Mt. Angel bank stock, in name of Joseph Eberle; notes and deeds belonging to Adolph Schumacher; notes and deeds property of John Schwab and papers belonging to Jacob Diehl. Any one happening to run across any of these papers should immediately notify Sheriff W. I. Needham, Salem.

One block in North Salem is feeling the trend of the times and fixing up for the prosperity that is coming to Salem. This is block No. 21, on North Commercial street. E. E. Denison is putting in a large garage and a cement walk has been constructed in front of the homes of A. J. Anderson, E. E. Denison and T. Cooper and in front of the vacant lot owned by Harry Givins.

For the third time, "Officer 606" played to a crowded house at the opera house last evening, breaking the attendance record of any home talent show ever put on in Salem. The funds made from the show are to be used in putting on a big home coming next month.

Thos. Livesley has obtained the agency for Diamond T trucks and is doing business at 246 State street.

Those who wish to enter the French class, which is proposed at the public library are asked to meet on Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock to organize and make arrangements for the regular meetings. Notices will be sent to those who have applied for place in the class. It is not yet too late for others to enter.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the boy scouts, held in the office of Superintendent Churchill last night, a number of matters pertaining to the boy scout movement were brought up for discussion. Among other things it was definitely arranged to have a public meeting of the council on Monday evening, March 24, which will be addressed by H. B. Cross former scout commissioner of San Francisco, and J. E. Brockway of Portland, scout commissioner of that city. The matter of the budget for Salem council was gone over at the conference last night, and Harold Cook, who has been one of the live wires of the organization in Salem was elected as scout executive. One of the first objectives of the council will be the building up of a fifth troop in this city, to be composed of the older class of boys.

I. L. McAdams, Salem's local astronomer, says that he has just received word of airplanes that were being as at Brest waiting for a ship to come home. Louis McAdams was an aviator in the 351st squadron, stationed at Bordeaux. In the letter received, the statement is made that the government, before the American aviators left Bordeaux, burned about $70,000 worth of airplanes that were being assembled there. The main parts of the machinery were taken out, but the wood work and wings and seats were ordered burned. Mr. McAdams has received the aviator's cap, gloves, clock and goggles of his son and expects to see him here in Salem within a month.

Sergeant Russell M. Brooks writes his mother, Mrs. Mildred M. Brooks, from Aix-les-Bains, France, as follows: "I am planning on a return trip to the United States, probably within four months and I am already sending you some of my luggage. During the time I have been here I have been taken for a Norwegian, Swede, Dane but rarely for a Frenchman. My color makes me an American, though my camouflage moustache helps my disguise some. I have again enjoyed (or rather managed) the eating of snails last night at a whole lot of them, and I believe with a more or less air of bravado, I think I shall learn to like them with but little difficulty for they are not half bad after one conquers the sensations of his stomach to rebel."

A newer handsome automobile has been added to the galaxy of cars on the Salem market. J. W. Jones, who recently opened up an agency for the Velie, has just taken over the Durt—a light four, which has a reputation for economy in tires and gas, and is easy to look at. He expects a shipment of several styles next week.

The oratorical contest of Willamette university, which was to have been held in Waller hall on Monday evening, has been changed to Tuesday evening, at 7:45, on account of the People's chorus which meets on Monday evening. This contest promises to be of great interest.

A basket ball game that was none the less exciting because it was of the feminine persuasion, was staged in the Willamette gymnasium last night, the contestants being the girls' teams of the freshman and sophomore classes. The game was fast and furious from beginning to end. Keen rivalry exists between the two and it was very much in evidence. The first half ended with the freshmen leading with a score of 10 to 5. Close guarding featured the second half, and neither team scored with any consistency. Miss Austin and Miss Ruby starred for the freshmen, who won with a score of 17 to 7. Miss Goodin and Miss Smith made the best plays for the sophomores.
