BELLANS FOR INDIGESTION

USE COCOANUT OIL FOR WASHING HAIR
If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.
Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain multi-fied coconut oil (which is pure and entirely grassless) is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonsful will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.
You can get multi-fied coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Liberty Neighborhood May Have Electric Lights

The people at Liberty and the Liberty neighborhood are on a fair way to have electric service. At a meeting held last evening $2050 was subscribed to be used in the erection of poles and wires and other service. It will require a total of $2600 and it is expected that this will be subscribed within a few days and the work of putting up the service begin at once.

Last night 20 men signed up for the service and this includes a number who are interested in the large prune dryers in the Liberty neighborhood where electric service is wanted for lighting prune dryers, running fans, pumping as well as for domestic service.

While the expense of putting in the line is at first paid for by the Liberty people the contract provides that there will be refunded by the Portland Railway Light & Power company to the consumer, in annual installments, a sum equivalent to that amount by which the revenue derived from the services to the additional consumers exceeds the standard tariff minimum charges applicable to such services.
All of which is merely a tangled up legal way of saying that the Portland Railway Light & Power company will gradually pay back to the consumers the money they first subscribed until at the end of five years, all money will have been refunded.

EDUCATED HORSE DRAWS PACKED HOUSE

Big Special Act At The Bligh Theatre.

For the little people and the grown-ups, too, there is a feature which is already causing many parents to plan parties for their little ones and their friends for the remainder of the week. This is Don Fulano, the wonder horse, the most amusing animal who has been here in years. This is a magnificent black horse and every movement betokens unusual intelligence. He adds, subtracts, shines shoes, brushes coats, raises curtains, and does innumerable other things supposedly outside of the knowledge of any animal, and does them all without more than a simple request from his master.
And the evident love of the master for horse and horse for master is one of the best features of the act. Everybody, whether they are animal lovers or not will want to see this wonderful horse. He will be here for two more days, today and tomorrow at the Bligh theatre.

ITALY PROMOTES FLYING

The government is planning to promote civilian flying by offering prizes for non-stop flights from Rome to Paris, London and Constantinople. The air department is arranging many competitions to test machines best suited for civilian pilots.

For the present all flying will remain under military control, although private companies are now being formed for the purpose of leasing government stations and building huge airbases and supply depots in convenient centers.

MUSIC IN SCHOOLS IS ABLY ORGANIZED

Professor Todd Has-Made Musical Department Efficient And Enjoyable.

The builders of empires and institutions have always been men of dreams. The man at the head of the Salem public school system has had a vision of Salem as one of the great (if not the greatest) musical centers of Oregon. He is laying the foundation for its realization by organizing the musical element in the public schools until it has risen from the position of a mere chest-developer to a stabilized cultural factor in the curriculum.

Time was when fifty-odd teachers in as many departments took a traction of a period each day, turned musical instructor to the best of her ability and gave the young idea a round of vocal instruction. This served to break into the monotony of regular study and it expanded the lungs; but it was rough on the laws of acoustics and the young idea didn't get anywhere in musical development.

Recently the reporter interrupted the orbit of Superintendent Todd, put a few leading questions and extraneous some interesting information. It went to show that during the three years of his administration the musical work has undergone a metamorphosis, expanded its scope and become a fascination to the pupils. In former years the work was carried on under the direction of one supervisor and one special teacher—a situation that suggested a setting of fifteen Brahma eggs under a Leghorn pullet. Today there is one supervisor—past master in the art—and nine special teachers of music—one in the High School and one in each of the elementary schools. In the High School and Junior High School the pupils are given forty-five minutes of instruction each day, and in the grade schools they are given twenty minutes a day, the time being divided between voice culture, note reading and musical literature.

Music Rooms Provided. Several music rooms are provided, equipped with pianos, violas and a collection of standard works on music. A certain amount of time is allotted to each class each week to be spent in the music room where the pupils may either absorb musical bibliography or listen to the world's masterpieces from the violin. It need not be stated that these rooms are popular resorts, and that the periods of instruction are among the brightest spots in the day's round.

Regarded superficially, the immediate conclusion is that all this must make a tremendous addition to the cost of maintenance. It sounded like a demonstration of the fourth dimension of space, but Superintendent Todd has the figures to show that while there has been a grand increase of scope and efficiency, there has been no appreciable increase in expense, over the old order, since by the system of organization in the elementary schools it has been possible to put in a musical instructor without increasing the number of elementary teachers. Thus, from the third grade through the eighth grade the pupils have the services of a music teacher, and are not only learning vocalizing but the fundamentals of music. The results of this modern plan are plainly visible, not only in the arena interest but in the development of latent ability. One has only to visit one of the buildings during the training period, or to hear a number from the girls' chorus to note the effect of exact training. There is more or less real talent among the pupils and it is safe to predict that in many instances the training they receive will lay the foundation for future musical careers. Added to this is the actual cultural effects which cannot be estimated by results.

From a general survey of the situation it is easy to credit the statement that the Salem schools, in musical training, are on a par with, if not superior to, any institutions in the state.

Trading in Market Today Was Somewhat Lighter

New York, March 19. The New York Evening Sun financial review today says:

Trading today was again somewhat lighter and prices, while they did not recede in any degree from the Tuesday closing level, were highly irregular, giving a spotty appearance to the list as a whole. Bullish sentiment still outweighed bearish sentiment. There was little positive character to price movements today. Some of the steels were well bought and there was a good advance made by the shipping and kindred stocks.

As usual there was no little strength among the specialties. The sugar, oil and chemical groups made a good showing. There were one or two strong spots among the rails, particularly Reading and Texas Pacific, but there was no great initiative interest manifest in that department.

APPOINT 200 POSTMASTERS

Washington, March 19.—President Wilson today ordered the recess appointment of nearly 200 postmasters. This is necessary because the senate in its filibuster failed to approve the nomination of these officials and it was necessary to fill vacancies.

JUGO-SLAVS APOLOGIZE
Spalato, March 18.—As a result of incident of March 8, when the Jugo-Slavs compelled an Italian warship to haul down its flag, British and American destroyers arrived here today and required the Jugo-Slavs to apologize to the Italian commander. The apologies were made aboard an Italian destroyer, in the presence of allied officers.

SERBIAN TROOPS FIGHT
Rome, March 17.—Serbian and Montenegrin troops engaged in a battle near Danilograd, it was reported in dispatches received here today. The Serbians had been sent there to punish the Montenegrins who are alleged to have attacked a Serbian convoy.
Many were killed on both sides, including a Serbian general.
