that has made its reputation. The instrument I am selling isn't just a beautiful piece of furniture. It is fine all the way through.

After all though Geo. C. Will was only living up to his business. He's selling the finest phonograph on the market today. Moreover he is bringing to his townsmen the greatest happying influence ever discovered and put into useable form by a master genius.

No wonder he can afford to be generous--to be unnecessarily obliging--to go out of his way to help a brother dealer. He is an aristocrat among dealers by virtue of the New Edison. He has to live up to its standards, not only by being a first class dealer, but by being a regular fellow in every way. That's one of the responsibilities of being an Edison dealer. You've got to live up to a Three Million Dollar product and that is what he is doing.

STATE HOUSE NEWS

Today and Sunday are the two remaining days in which arguments for or against the referendum measure can be formulated for inclusion in the election pamphlet for the special election to be held June 3d. The law specifies that Monday, March 24, shall be the last date on which such matter can be filed with the secretary of state for publication. These pamphlets are to be mailed out to the voters not less than ten days prior to the election. For this printing and distribution the legislature appropriated the sum of $15,000.

The state land board goes to Hood River today for the purpose of finally certifying the issue of $165,000 worth of irrigation bonds for re-issue.

The weekly report of the Industrial accident commission for the seven day period ending March 21, shows a total of 487 accidents reported from the state. Of these four resulted fatally. These were as follows: Bozo Kalicas, steel worker, Portland; Geo. W. Lowe, policeman, Ashland; Tom Zubielski, logger, Scappoose; Fred Sheets, ship worker, Portland. Of the total number, 440 were subject to the provisions of the compensation act, 18 were from firms and corporations that have rejected the provisions of the act, and 9 were from public utility corporations not subject to the act.

Immigration Inspector Bonham of Portland, paid a recent visit of inspection to the Oregon state hospital to ascertain whether there were any inmates subject to deportation along with the state's quota of undesirable. Two Norwegians—Bagna Flones and Edwin Skog—were picked out for exit along with three aliens from Portland. The grounds for deportation are degeneracy, anarchistic tendencies and the probability of becoming public charges.

At a recent meeting in southern Oregon, held for the purpose of furthering the interest of highways, Commissioner R. A. Booth was one of the speakers and the guest of honor. While in his address he made no definite statement as to his future plans, he intimated that in spite of the urgent requests that have come to him from all parts of the state, he would retire from the state highway commission at the end of his term.

Miss Marvin, of the state library, states that the counties of the state are making good progress in the gathering of data for the record of Oregon soldiers. The drive for this purpose will begin in Marion county next Monday, when it is hoped there will be ready cooperation in the matter of furnishing data with regard to the military record of all the boys who saw military service either at home or in France. This data is to be filed with the state historian.

District Game Warden Roy Bremer calls attention to the fact that numbers of fishermen are either intentionally or unknowingly violating the statutes in fishing for trout this month. It should be noted that the legislature repealed the 10-inch trout law, so that the state is now under the former fish law which provides for an open trout season to begin April first. Owing to the crush of business in the state printing office the issuance of the new game laws has been delayed. Warden Bremer states that violators of the law will be summarily dealt with if detected, the minimum fine for such violation being $25.

Announcement was made today by Governor Ocott that he has reappointed W. H. Seavage of Corvallis and J. E. Reynolds of La Grande as members of the state fair board. The new appointments will expire March 14, 1920. Other members of the board are A. C. Marsters, Roseburg; J. D. Farrell, Portland and M. L. Jones of Brooks.

Lumber Next To Feel
Price Cutting Knife

Washington, March 22.—Lumber next to steel as a basic building material is to come under the price cutting knife today. Representatives of the lumber industry, together with the industrial board are planning to lower price schedules in much the same fashion as the steel men. The lumber market has shown as much stagnation as the steel, because of the inactivity in building and the representatives have assured the board they are anxious to fix schedules that will put in motion vast building projects now being held up.

The substantial slash in steel prices is taken by trade experts as indicative of the reductions that must come in other lines. With the board insisting that all wage agreements and contracts stand in spite of price reductions, it is clear that prices cannot be sent to pre-war levels at this time.

But steel is regarded as a barometer and it is believed lumber and other prices will be reduced in about the same proportion, which averaged about 22 per cent below the war figures.
