Expensive Business To Settle Things In Court

It is rather expensive settling troubles by way of the circuit court, according to the cost bills now being filed. It is the loser that of course pays the costs of the trial, besides the costs of his own witnesses.

F. B. LaPoint and the Southern Pacific for criminal negligence in the upkeep of a bridge near Turner. As he lost the case, he will be called upon his witnesses 120 miles and piled up to not only pay his own costs, but of $15 incurred by the railroad.

The City of Turner will also have some costs to pay, in the case it lost when sued for attorney's fees by S. M. Endicott and Walter Winslow. Besides the expenses the city incurred with its own witnesses, it will be taxed with $25.30 costs incurred by the winning side which happens to be the two attorneys in this case.

Jas. K. Sears who sued his tenant C. W. Dancer, will have some costs to pay besides his own. In defending himself, Mr. Dancer brought one of a total cost of $43.95. As Mr. Sears lost his case, he will be assessed these costs besides his own.

Warner F. Cropp, administrator of the estate of C. F. Cropp, will have $15.20 court costs to pay besides his own costs. The jury decided against him and this means that he pays all costs.

 STATE HOUSE NEWS *****

Governor Olcott today reappointed C. H. Kelley of Portland, Oregon, a member of the state board of labor examiners, for a term ending March 2, 1924. The other members of the board are S. H. Howard, Portland, and Lee Canfield, Salem.

John McCourt, of the law firm of Venable, McCourt & Venable of Portland, was today appointed by Governor Olcott as a member of the soldiers' and sailors' commission to succeed John H. Burgard, who has resigned. Mr. Burgard, resigning, stated that he was unable longer to give the time necessary to the affairs of the commission. Mr. McCourt has been very active in training camp affairs, and was also formerly United States attorney. The others members of the commission are: F. W. Mulkey, Portland; Harry Anderson, Portland; James A. Cranston, Portland; John H. Stevenson, Portland.

CHERRIANS TO TAKE TRIP THIS SUMMER

Military Drill Begins At Once Under Direction Of Fred Mangis.

The Cherrians feel that the scouting organization should do something this summer to call attention to the fact that Salem is the comingest city in the northwest with the finest country in the world back of it.

At the meeting held last evening at the Commercial club the traveling or junketing spirit was in the air. The Cherrians want to go somewhere this summer. Not having received any great amount of reciprocity from Portland, members are inclined to take a trip somewhere on the Sound. Seattle is preferred. King Bing Fullerton will appoint a committee to investigate traveling conditions.

Having decided that the Cherrians should do some visiting, it was then voted that military drill should begin at once to line up the new members as well as to brush up the old ones in keeping step. Fred Mangis, who just recently received his discharge from the officers training camp at Camp Dix, Ark., was appointed drillmaster and will arrange for regular weekly drills. Captain Mangis was authorized to appoint his lieutenants.

As to dropping from membership those who had apparently lost their interest in the Cherrians, Secretary W. I. Stanley said that the committee appointed to handle this delicate problem had not reported. However, there is a growing feeling that members who are not active should be dropped from the rolls. With an attendance of more than 100 at the banquet and initiations last evening, there is a renewed interest in the Cherrian organization and what the Cherrians stand for. Now that the war is over and the flu had its run, the members are getting ready to take an active part in affairs and arrange for the usual annual trip.

The initiations partook of the regulation old time initiations wherein there was fine entertainment with just enough real work to properly impress the novice who will be entitled to wear the Cherrian uniform. Among those who were given all degrees in one evening were Dr. E. E. Fisher, Dr. D. C. Burton, Stanley Hansen, Chas. Robinson and Arthur Montgomery.

COTTAGE HOTEL SOLD TO CLAUDE A. JOHNSON

Property Had Belonged To Same Estate For Over Thirty Years.

The Cottage hotel on Court and Front streets, for so many years owned by the Staiger estate, was sold a few days ago to Claude A. Johnson and wife, for a cash consideration of $1800.

The property has changed hands but a few times since the day when Chloa A. Wilson was given settler's title by the surveyor general of Oregon along in the early '70's.

Chloa A. Wilson deeded the lot on which the Cottage hotel stands to Joseph Watt on Oct. 11, 1894, and three days later he deeded it to B. F. Drake. A few transfers brought the ownership of the lot to J. F. Staiger in December of 1884 and since that time until this week, the property has belonged to the Staiger estate.

Susan Staiger, the widow of J. F. Staiger, died Nov. 25, 1916, and by will George W. Whitney was appointed executor. He sold or disposed of all the Staiger holdings excepting this one lot before he died in December of 1918.

After his death Charles Whitney became administrator de bonis non. In his report to the court he states there is a wooden building of two stories on the lot and that on account of the section of town in which it is located, rapidly being occupied by lumber yards and business of like character, the property would hardly increase in value. That while it had originally been inventoried at a value of $1800, he felt justified in selling it for $1600 cash, asking the court for an order confirm-

Iowa Governor Admits He May Have Made Mistake

Des Moines Iowa, Mar. 27.—"I may have made a mistake," said Governor H. W. Bryan, counsel for the house judiciary committee, probing the pardon of Ernest Rathbun, Ida county social criminal.

The legislative investigating body had the state executive on the grill for more than four hours during a late afternoon and night session yesterday.

The governor's testimony brought an admission that he had broken a precedent in pardoning Rathbun without referring the application to the parole board.

He did not concede that the application for pardon to his knowledge did not comply with the law.

When hearing resumes late this afternoon he will be asked to produce his personal bank accounts for the last

REORGANIZING SUFFRAGE CLUB

St. Louis, Mo., March 27.—The National Woman Suffrage association became the League of Women Voters shortly before noon today.

The action resulted from a rejuvenating plan adopted by the jubilee convention in session here yesterday. The executive committee today recommended the new name.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, national president of the old organization, proposed the name change, declaring the other did not represent both women of voting and non-voting states. Mrs. J. A. Nathan of New York suggested the new name.
