YOUR APPEARANCE

Your personal appearance largely determines your success in life. Few things, if any, add more to personal appearance than a normal set of teeth. Many people are denied the most attractive positions in the business world on account of abnormal conditions of mouth and teeth.

The greatest dental authorities tell us that nearly everyone could retain their teeth during their life time by following proper instruction in care of mouth at home, thorough periodical cleaning (preventing pyorrhea and most cavities), together with having all cavities that do occur properly filled while small. These same authorities contend that probably more harm than good has resulted from endeavoring to correct dental disorders of long standing except by extracting the teeth.

In the face of these facts a very large per cent of our people are badly disfigured on account of unclean, decayed teeth, loss of teeth, pyorrhea, or by unsightly crowns, fillings, bridges, etc.

As the dental profession sees things today, if diseased teeth are to be retained all traces of decay should be removed and fillings properly inserted before toothache occurs, otherwise decay may continue or recur, resulting in loss of tooth without patient recognizing anything is wrong until too late.

From the standpoint of pain there is a limit to human endurance, and unfortunately, for many, this limit is reached before the decayed tooth is properly prepared for a filling or before the roots have been entirely removed from the jaw.

I do not wish to frighten any one, but I do wish to do good dentistry without subjecting my patients to pain or fear, resulting in neglect and loss of teeth; so in order to accomplish the good and avoid the evil I use modern painless methods in filling and extracting.

Those who have not reported on income tax will now be declared delinquent and perhaps subject to a penalty. There is also a chance that delinquents will not be obliged to pay a penalty for the reason that the internal revenue service was slow in getting out its blanks. In many places, including Salem, blanks ran out or the government could not supply them in the first place. Anyhow, those who are still delinquent should write Milton A.
