TWENTY MILES ADDED TO HIGHWAY PROGRAM

Voters To Ballot On Paving 150 Miles in County Instead Of 130.

To the 130 miles already planned as the last surfaced roads for Marion county, to be voted on at the special election June 3, the road location committee, at its session today at the Commercial club added 20 miles.

This will make a total of 150 miles as part of the Marion county program of good roads and the period of construction was extended to include seven years.

When the road program was presented to the county court today, it was pointed out by Judge Bushey and commissioners that the roads had not entirely been selected with reference to the taxable property of the county. Also that the road program would need to be revised before it should be submitted to the people.

Acting on the suggestion of the county court, the committee added 20 miles to the plans as already submitted. The location of this 20 miles is as follows: Stayton to Mehama, 7 miles; Stayton to West Stayton, 3 miles; Sidney to the Pacific highway, 3 miles; Salem to Pratum, 4 miles; Salem to Wheatland, 1 mile, and St. Louis to Gervais, 2 miles.

Mehama presented a petition to the road location committee signed by 230, asking for the additional mileage. Even without the road as first planned, Mehama was in for good roads with 150 miles to the petition.

The petition to the county court asking that the good roads bonds proposition be put on the ballot June 3, has received 1738 signatures and it is understood that about 500 more are to be turned in by mail, as those handling several petitions did not attend the session today. As already about 300 more than the necessary legal number have signed the petition, it was officially presented to the county court today. This is the first step in the good roads program for Marion county.

With the addition of the 20 miles to the program, it is thought that every part of the county has received due consideration in proportion to taxable property and that at the coming special election, the good roads program will go through with but little opposition.

ODD FELLOWS AT TURNER

At the meeting of the Odd Fellows last Saturday night, the lodge was honored by a visit from District Past Grand Wm. A. Weddle of Stayton, who gave a talk. One new candidate was initiated. There was a good attendance and at the close of the meeting, the Rebekahs' and families, having previously been invited, gathered with the Odd Fellows, where a program was given. Mr. Weddle gave an interesting and instructive talk. A quartet composed of Mesdames Mable Martin, Emma H. Giddings and Messrs. J. B. Whitehead and B. E. Robertson, also a duet by Mildred Martin and Avorn Hamster, comprised the vocal part of the program. A very fine piece was delivered by the talented Robert Gray. As the closing number, Mrs. A. L. Hardesty gave a talk which included an invitation to the Odd Fellows to become members of the Rebekah lodge. A splendid banquet, consisting of steak, sandwiches, pickles, cake, coffee and plenty of good vanilla and maple nut ice cream, was served in the dining room by the ladies. The long table was beautifully decorated with spring and wild flowers. Over a hundred were entertained and not before 2 o'clock in the morning did the enjoyable time cease.—Tribune.
