CANNY DOCTOR PUMPS FRIEND AND PROFITS

San Francisco Physician Lets Patients Pay Him in Bonds Rather Than Cash at Par

This reads or tastes or looks like the foam of a press agent's brow. But it isn't. It actually happened although it is propaganda.

There is a physician and surgeon of high professional standing in San Francisco who, if he wasn't Irish, would be Scotch. He is that canny.

The other day he met a friend of his, a stock and bond expert. "Doc," as his friends call him, is always looking for information. He pumps everybody and they like him for it. So the bond man wasn't a bit surprised when "Doc" shot this at him:

"How about the next Liberty Loan—it is going to get over?"

"It sure will," replied the bondman. "It's going to be the last and the best of the Liberty Loans."

"Advise me to load up?" persisted "Doc."

"I sure do—best security in the world—year from now it will be worth half again as much as you pay."

"Well, I figured it out that way myself," confessed the physician. "Of course I was going to buy anyway, but I think I'll strain everything a bit and really load up."

"Suppose you've got previous issues?" asked the bondman.

"Sure, and what's more I'm still piling those Liberty bonds up. Every time a patient offers them in payment I grab them. They look good to me."

"You're a wise guy—hang onto them, Doc. I've got a few myself. Got a date with the wife—so long."

HALF BILLION SAVED ON AIRCRAFT BILL

Half a billion dollars was saved by the War Department up to April 1st by cancellation of aircraft contracts. These contracts, according to the government statement, are only a small part of the savings which has been made by abandonment of contracts for war material. In spite of these savings, the statement adds, material costing millions of dollars will have to be paid for largely through money to be raised in the Victory Loan.

The city of Haines, Or., will issue $45,000 bonds for the purpose of constructing a new and modern school building.

VICTORY LOAN TEST OF PATRIOTISM—Wood

Major General Leonard Wood, who at Camp Funston trained two divisions of Americans for overseas service, has asked the American people to support the Fifth Loan. He says:

"We have carried the war on successfully so far and we must see it through. The Fifth Loan, coming as it does after the armistice, will be a more severe test than the others, of the patriotism of our people. It is just as important as any loan we have made, and it should be carried through just as vigorously as the others. It is no time now to let up on our efforts. Reorganization is even more difficult and almost as important as the period of preparation. Put it over, and good luck. We must have it."

THE PEOPLE WILL PAY

Regardless of what our feelings may be as to the management of the war, our honor as a nation is pledged to the payment of the bills for the war. No man who holds his own reputation for business integrity above reproach doubts that. He would scrupulously pay his own debts and the debts of his country are a very definite part of his own obligations.

The government has contracted certain debts. It has come to the people for the money with which to satisfy these obligations. Through statements of its highest officials it has repeatedly made clear to all that it expects to secure this money not from the banks or the great financial institutions, but through the whole hearted support of the great majority of its citizens.

It will be a higher type of patriotism that will be called to the test during the coming days than responded to the former appeals of the government. Aside from a few technicalities the war is over. The fifth loan will be raised without the spur of hostilities because the American people are capable of reaching greater heights of patriotism than they have yet climbed.

For the first time in three years the records of the branch weather bureau at Milton show a seasonal excess of moisture.

No Annette Kellermans Among These Monkeys

New Orleans, April 19.—A monkey detests water. There are no Annette Kellermans among the Simians. A monkey refuses to cross a stream. These characteristics have given birth to a new idea in the minds of members of the Audubon Park commission here, with the result that a monkey island will be established in the center of the lake at Audubon Park.

The island will be provided with trees and a jungle, dear to the monkey heart, and the tribe of monks, imported from the Central and South American forests, will be able to swing limb to limb and desport themselves with as much freedom as they did in the days when they were "home" in their native jungles.
