DRAGER FRUIT CO. AND ROSENBERGS MERGED

Local Concern and Frisco Firm Consolidate—More Ground Bought.

W. E. Drager of the Drager Fruit company announces having associated his company with the firm of Rosenberg Bros. & Co. of San Francisco. This company is one of the largest dried fruit packers in the United States with headquarters at San Francisco. It is regarded as one of the oldest and most substantial firms in the business.

Mr. Drager states that the business will be continued as the Drager Fruit company and that his financial interests as in the past, will be with the company. He will continue as manager of the Salem and other Oregon plants.

In the business deal, Rosenberg Bros. & Co. purchase the west side of block 19, University addition to Salem, on Cottage street between Trade and Mill, on which the Drager packing plant is located. The transfer for this one plant was made for a consideration of $29,000, according to the deed filed today in the county recorder's office. The deal also include the Drager plants at Myrtle Creek and Roseburg.

Only Oregon labels will be used in putting out Oregon products. Mr. Drager said today. With the connection of the Drager plant and the larger interests of Rosenberg Bros. & Co. the plant here in Salem will be fully equipped to handle a larger business and to push the Oregon product. In many ways, the deal will be for the benefit of the prune growers in this section of the valley, Mr. Drager says.

Attempt to Tax Farm Loan Bonds to Meet Opposition

Washington, April 21.—(United Press)—A new fight on the general farm loan board appears to be developing. Members of the board reported today they had received "samples" of "propaganda" seeking withdrawal of tax exemption privileges for bonds of the farm loan system. The fight against the board promises to come to a climax with the re-convening of congress.

Opponents of the tax exemption for farm loan bonds are advocating the elimination of the privilege on the grounds that "the government is losing thousands of dollars by not taxing the bonds," according to Herbert Quick, board member.

Why Dentistry is Costly "Its Human Costs"

Chapter IV.

We have thought so far of the money-cost of dentistry.

We shall now think of its human costs.

A human cost is a cost of human energy—in work, worry, fatigue, or pain. Dentistry is costly in this sense, both for the dentist and the patient.

The dentist who works alone, works long hours. He can't go as often as he ought to, on vacations. He is always afraid some other dentist might steal his clients. He is his own business manager. To the fatigue of work is added business worry.

He is timid and cautious. He is afraid to make experiments and devise new and better methods of work. The slightest wind may blow down his little tabernacle.

The fear of losing trade is a heavy human cost. It checks the free growth of his character and the expansion of his creative ability.

The dentist who works in a big organization is free from such anxieties. The business he is affiliated with is stable and secure. His income is guaranteed. He works with an undisturbed mind. He gets more rest.

He works in teams with other dentists. Art and science flourish best in congenial company. Dentists working together encourage, instruct, praise and criticize one another.

They compete with one another in excellence of workmanship. But they are free from the pangs of sordid trade jealousy.

I think I have done a service to the profession of dentistry and to the public by showing how to organize dentistry on a nation-wide scale. Under the E. R. Parker System the human cost of dentistry has been reduced through the co-operation of dentists. Up-to-date dentistry is performed for most reasonable prices.

Don't Let Catarrh Drag You into Consumption

Avoid Its Dangerous Stage. There is a more serious stage of Catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped-up air passages, and the hawking and spitting and other distasteful features.

The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then dreaded consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, atomizers, jellies and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh because it goes direct to its source, and removes the germs of the disease from the blood. Get a bottle from your druggist today, and begin the only logical treatment that gives real results. You can obtain special medical advice without charge by writing to Medical Director, 27 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.
