HORN OF PLENTY FULL FOR ELKS' BANQUET

Elaborate Preparations To Greet "Bills" At Annual Home-Coming.

Two hundred and twenty-five pounds of turkey.
 One hundred pounds of veal.
 Seventy pounds of tongue.
 Forty pounds of ham.
 Six hundred oranges.
 Four gallons olives.
 Twenty pounds butter.
 Forty gallons Loju.
 One hundred and twenty loaves bread.
 One thousand five hundred cakes.
 Eight boxes raisins.
 Seven dozen crabs.
 Forty gallons coffee.
 Thirty-two gallons ice cream.

According to Johnny Jones, who is preparing the banquet for the annual home coming of the men to be held this evening at the armory, the above is a correct list of what has been ordered and prepared for the 700 Elks who will assemble this evening.

There are 13 long tables, at which may be seated 62 each. The armory has been artistically decorated with flags and patriotic emblems. The platform has been arranged for the officers of the lodge and the speakers. Also for the special music, including the Hawaiian dancers and singers.

Johnny Jones went to Portland a few days ago and made arrangements for 16 colored waiters to be on hand to properly care for the banqueters and to hurry things along. The official menu is as follows:

 Q. Please send me your booklet on Salem, Oregon. I wrote to the Salem Commercial Club and for further information they referred me to you.—A. C. B., North Brookfield, Mass.
 A. We have no booklet on Salem, Oregon, and we would not send it out if we had one. Isn't it possible that you are mistaken in the address? We cannot conceive of a commercial club which would refer a request for information concerning its own city to a publication located a thousand miles distant.

STATE HOUSE NEWS

There are now just 24 possible candidates lined up for the position of judge of the municipal court of Multnomah county, as provided for in the last legislature. The complete list follows: Martin Hawkins, J. A. Brownbridge, J. A. Meers, Fred L. Olson, J. J. Johnson, John E. Owen, W. L. Brewster, A. G. Thompson, Marion B. Meacham, William A. Williams, John B. Easter, B. A. Nielsen, James E. Brockway, Thomas W. Gillard, Lida M. O'Brien, Frederick M. Dempsey, Richard Sleight, Hugh J. Boyd, Thomas J. Cleeton, Arthur I. Moulton, Oak Nolan, H. M. White, C. H. Piggott and W. M. Gregory. The selection of three final candidates from this group will be made early in May by a committee of Oregon judges, and from those three Governor Olcott will be called upon to make his selection. If this procedure does not sift out a good man there is no virtue in elimination. Regarding the selection Judge Stapleton of Portland recently said: "I wish in view of recent publicity given campaigns to state that pledges have been made to candidates by the judges and that the selection is not pre-ordained. We do not intend to know politics, religion, or anything else but the welfare of the children to guide us in making our selections. A wise choice means too much to the future generation to risk snap judgment based on anything but consideration of what is best for the community."

There are two other attorneys in Oregon who differ with Attorney General Brown in his opinion as to the status of Governor Olcott in regard to the office and salary of secretary of state. Ralph E. Moody, of Portland, takes the ground in his brief that Mr. Olcott as secretary of state has simply taken upon himself in that capacity the additional duties of the governor's office, but is not in his person actually governor of Oregon. Hence he is not entitled to the double salary, nor is he entitled to cast two votes in matters coming before the board of control. W. H. Holmes, of Portland, also got in a brief before the time limit expired yesterday. He holds that the only way in which a man may become the de facto governor of Oregon is through the vote of the people. He assumes further that Mr. Olcott is only authorized to perform the functions of that office during the time of his incumbency as secretary. At the end of that time he automatically ceases to be secretary of state and to perform the duties of governor.

Major General William H. Johnston, commanding officer of the 91st division writes a commendatory letter to Governor Olcott in which he congratulates him on the return of such men as Oregon has furnished, predicting that they will carry with them through civil life the courage and manly traits they have acquired in war. He goes on to say: "It has been a pleasure to command such men as composed this division. They have demonstrated that no better soldiers exist than can be made of young American citizens. They will return to their civil pursuits not only with the experience gained as soldiers because of their service during this war. They have learned how to command and to obey, how to bear with fortitude the unavoidable inconveniences and even suffering of the campaign. They have not only seen their comrades die for the cause but have themselves offered their lives for the same cause."

COURT HOUSE.

A case on record in the office of the county clerk is entitled, H. B. Latham versus All Whom It May Concern. Some time ago Mr. Latham brought suit to clear his title to lots 11, 12 and 13 in Mill addition, Silverton, and to complete the matter and make all records according to law, the circuit court appointed M. J. Van Valkenburg as examiner of title and referee to examine title and make report.

In the suit entitled Fred J. Miller versus B. T. Douglas, the court ordered that as the defendant had failed to comply with a certain order or decree dated July 17, 1918, whereby the defendant was to pay $600, it should be decreed that the plaintiff should be the owner of the land involved in the suit.

The defendants are forever barred and restrained from claiming any title to the land involved in the suit entitled

George W. Wolfe versus Ephraim Jacob, of Henry L. Place, the report is made that the tract contains 20.36 acres in T. 9 S., to the county court that after the sale of real estate and payment of debts, there is still on hand $678.12, and that this sum is to be equally divided between the two sons, F. L. Place and Everett Place. They both live at Pasco, Washington.

The final report of the administrator of the estate of Ada Duyton Robertson shows a balance on hand of $991.96. Floyd B. Duyton served as administrator, and no administrator's fees were in the final accounting of the estate charged.
